CONFESSIONS: SATURDAY EVENING: 5PM - 5:40PM

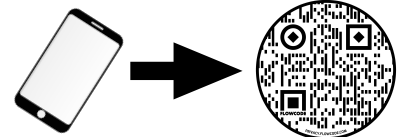

We pray for Pat Bateson who died recently and all whose anniversaries occur around this time: John McNamee, Teresa Murphy, Sandra Orsi, Rudolph Hourigan, John Holman, Winston Delgado, Helen Mencattelli, Ophelia Nazareth, Charles Marriage, Eileen Carden, Eileen Tucker and Sana Armstrong. May their souls rest in peace. Amen.

On this Day For Life throughout the Church we benefit from the teaching of Pope Leo to members of the Spanish Parliament on 8th June: “Progress offers admirable possibilities, and today we see this in a unique way in the development of artificial intelligence and new technologies... technology in itself is not neutral because it takes on the face of those who conceive, finance, regulate and use it ... therefore, in the face of the transformations of our time, our discernment must focus on the place of the human person in our decision making and on how the dignity of work, solidarity, social policy and the common good are today being addressed in new ways. This discernment begins with a fundamental affirmation: every truly just society is built upon the recognition of the inviolable dignity of the human person. Such dignity precedes any concession by the State and cannot be subordinated to shifting social consensus or the whims of the majority at any given moment (cf. Benedict XVI, Address to the German Federal Parliament, 22 September 2011). It belongs to every human being by the very fact of their existence, and for this reason, it must guide every positive legal system. The Christian faith proclaims it on the basis of Revelation; human reason can recognise it as a requirement inscribed in the truth of man (cf. ibid.). When this conviction remains alive, the law becomes a safeguard for all and a guarantee against the imposition of particular interests and agendas. On this basis, it falls to me today to speak a calm and firm word to those who bear the grave responsibility of legally ordering social coexistence. This coexistence can be threatened by the throwaway culture, as Pope Francis so often warned. In this sense, if life ceases to be recognised as a fundamental value, what future can our societies have? Can a community that casts into the shadows the unborn child, the elderly, the sick, those who suffer in silence, or those who depend entirely on the care of others be called fully just? The defence of human life is neither a partisan issue nor a confessional interest: it is a goal of civilisation. Every human life must be recognised and safeguarded from conception to its natural end, in every circumstance of its existence. When this certainty is obscured, the most vulnerable are the first victims, and the law loses its deepest meaning: to serve and protect every person. For this reason, the moral greatness of a nation is manifested, above all, in its capacity to accompany, protect and love those lives that are most fragile.”
