Adobe Interlock Recognized as City of Santa Fe Business of the Year Finalist

Santa Fe, New Mexico – 2008 & 2009

The City of Santa Fe has recognized Adobe Interlock as a Business of the Year Finalist in both 2008 and 2009. These honors reflect the company's continued leadership in public safety and its collaboration with local and state agencies. Adobe Interlock's innovative ignition interlock solutions have played a measurable role in reducing impaired-driving incidents and improving community well-being.

"We're proud to have played a key role in reducing drunk-driving injuries and deaths through technology, education, and collaboration. This honor reflects the shared effort of our entire community."
