

JEFFERY POSTELL

FOUNDER - CHAIRMAN

PROFILE

Jeffery Postell, Founder of Building Pathways, has worked in the construction industry since 1998. He has developed and coached at risk youth and re-entry adults to grow their potential in the construction industry. Postell was instrumental in the initial development of the Building Pathway model. His passion for helping individuals reach their full potential in the trades industry continues to grow. As a community leader, Postell has always had a focus on improving, not only the lives of people in the community but the community as a whole.

Jeffery began his career as a general trades laborer, assistant superintendent, later becoming a superintendent, assistant project manager, and project manager. This trajectory has been instrumental in his work developing Building Pathways. Through his commitment and innovative thinking, he continues to bring a fresh outlook to the field of construction, as this experience provided him the hands on training he needed to pursue his passion of helping people to reach their potential.

Postell's passion for the field and his knowledge of it have allowed him to create successful pathways for people who are looking to enter the workforce as skilled trade workers. He has also helped those who are currently working in the field to develop their personal capacity and grow their earning potential.
