

5 Day Devotional

Day 1: Your Heart Is a Field

Devotional

God is not distant or silent. He is actively speaking into your life right now, planting seeds of truth, hope, and direction into every corner of who you are. Your finances, your relationships, your fears, your dreams. Every area of your life is ground He wants to work with.

Jesus told the Parable of the Sower not just as a story about unbelievers hearing the gospel for the first time. He told it for every follower of Christ, in every season of life. Whether you are brand new to faith or have been walking with God for decades, He is always trying to grow something new in you.

Think about that for a moment. The God of the universe has not given up on any part of your life. He sees the areas that feel dry, the places that feel stuck, and He is still sowing. Still speaking. Still working.

Your job is not to be perfect ground. Your job is to be willing ground. The field does not tend itself, but the good news is that you are not tending it alone. He is right there with you, ready to help you grow in ways you have not yet imagined.

Bible Verse

"The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy; I have come that they may have life, and have it to the full." - John 10:10

Reflection Question

When you think about the different areas of your life, which one do you sense God has been trying to speak into lately, and have you been truly listening?

Quote

"Your heart or my heart, it's like a large field with a lot of ground. A lot of ground that covers a lot of different areas."

Prayer

Lord, open my eyes to see every area of my life as ground You want to work in. Help me to be willing and ready to receive what You are planting. Amen.
