

Day 5: Seed Left in the Bag Does Nothing

Devotional

Here is a beautiful truth to close out this week. Everything God has grown in you was never meant to stay in you. The healing, the lessons, the breakthroughs, the faith that carried you through hard seasons. All of it is seed. And seed left in the bag does nothing.

When you share what God has done in your life, you are sowing into someone else's field. You never know which conversation, which story, which moment of honesty might be exactly what someone else needs to believe that God can do the same for them.

This is how the Kingdom grows. Not just through polished programs or big events, but through ordinary people who have done the work on their own ground and are willing to pass on what they have received.

You have been encouraged this week to tend your field, to break up the rocks, to pull the thorns, to go deep. Now take what has grown and give it away. Be generous with your story. Be willing to speak up. The same God who sowed into your life is counting on you to sow into someone else's. Go be good ground, and then go scatter some seed.

Bible Verse

"I tell you the truth, before Abraham was born, I am!" - John 8:58

Reflection Question

Who in your life right now could benefit from hearing about something God has done in you, and what is holding you back from sharing it?

Quote

"If you read the word of God and you come to church and you hear and God deposits seed in your heart and you never sow that seed in anybody, how limited is the result of what God has given you."

Prayer

God, thank You for every seed You have planted in my life. Give me the boldness to share what You have grown in me so that others can experience Your goodness too. Amen.
