

Day 5: Step to the Other Side

Devotional

There is a moment that changes everything. It is the moment you stop letting your trial define your perspective and start letting God define it instead.

When our ears are finally open to Him, things become clear. The complaining quiets down. The fear loses its grip. Suddenly, you can see that He has been faithful all along, and that He is going to carry you through to the other side.

Gratitude is one of the most powerful tools God has given us. When we stop and look back at what He has already done, it recalibrates everything. It reminds us that the God who brought us through before is the same God standing with us now.

You are not defined by your failures or your hard seasons. God's desire to do a miracle in your life is not cancelled by the difficulty of your journey. He is speaking over you right now. Be opened. He is calling you out from behind your trial and into the fullness of what He has for you.

This is not the end of your story. It is not God's will for you to live in a fog, unable to see His glory or His power. Step to the other side. Look back at His faithfulness. Then look forward with expectation, because the best is still ahead.

Bible Verse

"He who has an ear, let him hear." - Revelation 13:9

Reflection Question

When you look back at your life, what evidence of God's faithfulness have you been overlooking that could give you courage for what is ahead?

Quote

"The day you let him open your ears, the day you hear from him, the day you let him open your eyes, that's the day that God brings purpose flying into your life."

Prayer

Lord, help me to step out from behind my trial and see You clearly again. Thank You for every time You have been faithful. Open my eyes to Your glory and fill me with expectation for what You are about to do.
