The Antique Toy and Firehouse Museum was incorporated in 2000 to preserve the history of the Mid-Michigan fire service. The museum has grown to include thousands of curated items, including more than 60 pieces of firefighting apparatus.

The location of the current facility on Patterson Road in Bay City limits our visibility and prevents us from providing year-round museum hours to the public. We acquired the 1890 era fire station on Washington Street and are ready to start construction to make it safe and accessible for the public.

Join us in upgrading this station to meet modern safety and accessibility standards so we can share it with our community
