HOW TO BOOK

Families or co-travellers must register themselves, even if travelling with their theatre school, you do this by following the booking link below.

Deposit payments will be due via transfer, once we have confirmed receipt of the information and this has been reviewed by our travel department.

Whilst families are welcome to bring younger siblings, performers participating in the events must be aged 9+ at the time of travel.

Workshops and events are suitable for those of mixed abilities and reasonable adjustments maybe made, where required, but must be flagged in advance so we can ensure implementation.

Note to Principals: When booking, parents are required to list their theatre school, if this is how you have been referred, we will be able to keep the principal up to date with booking numbers.

When the term “Families sharing” is referred to, this can be family, friends or co-travellers.

BOOKING

In order to proceed to bookings you are required to complete the form below.

When completing you will need the travel details of each passenger.

Please also note the bank details for payments is included in the form.

OUR TEAM IN NYC

Perform Now have been very lucky to collaborate with our New York contact, including Broadway performers, industry professionals and workshop facilitators, all of whom; are very excited to meet all your young performers and share their experience and knowledge.

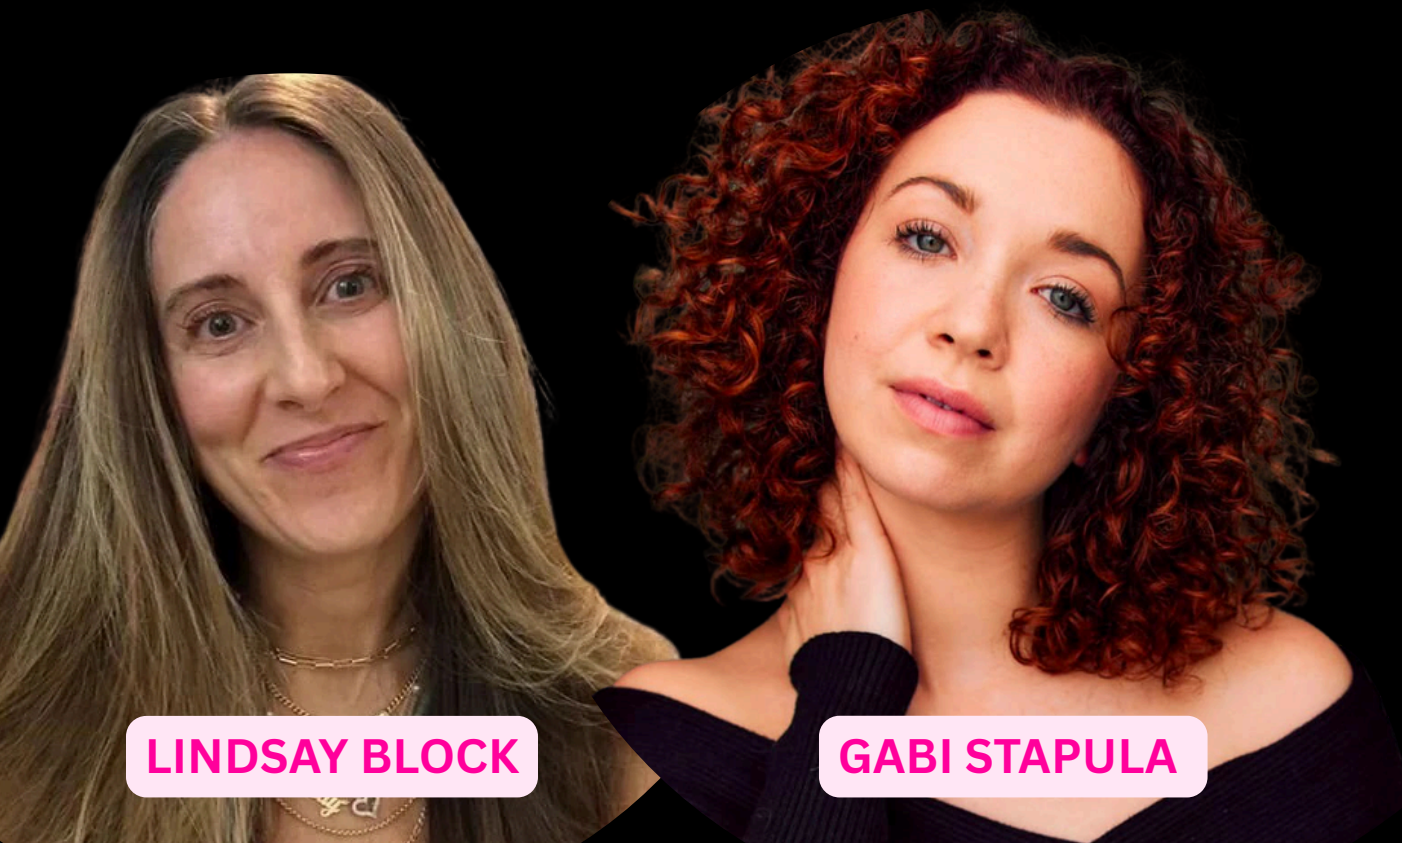

Our UK based team will be meeting and accompanying you along the way but when we are in the big apple we will be guided by Broadway performer and strong supporter of young talent development Gabi Stapula – Broadway Dance Captain, Choreographer and Producer.

All of our NYC masterclasses and entertainment will be produced by Glos Haus.

Gabi and her co-founder Lindsay Block will certainly add that showbiz Broadway sparkle to the experience.

WORKSHOP AND PERFORMANCE TEAM

Workshop leaders & creatives have extensive industry experience including productions such as: Chicago, Wicked, Shmigadoon, The Outsiders, 42nd Street and many more
