Our story, 35 years of fishing passion

In early 90s of the last century 3 young kids living in Egypt surrounded by Mediterranean, Red Sea and Nile were charmed by the idea of casting hook and bait from the shore and waiting to see what trophy the sea will surprise them with, they were addicted to the magical moment were the rod bends without knowing the identity of the striking fish or the timing of that strike. the three young teens taught by the oldies fishermen their first lesson, if you start with great quality hook you will end up with great fish. The friends were completely taken by the beauty and perfection of the Japanese hooks
In 2018 they decided to get back to the roots, the original magic tool that made all this possible, they decided to make a perfect national hook as beautiful and perfect as the Japanese hook.

The factory technology is to locally produce the commercial and the sport fishing hook with the highest Japanese production standards. Setting such high quality standards as the main goal to achieve has to go through several production procedures and quality control stations all across the production stages.

From strictly superior quality high carbon steel wires to using state-of-the-art production machinery to on going quality control all over the entire production stages.
Using the best machines to sharpen the hook ensures the high hooking rate.
Using the best material ensures the long life of the sharpened tip.
The high hardness of the hook ensures the best spring action of the hook and low wearability.
EFT acquired the most advanced quality control laboratory in the world of fishing hook production. The Quality Control process insure consistent quality across the entire production starting from the correct forming process ending up with the appropriate electroplating procedures which will ensure the highest corrosion resistance in the tough commercial fishing conditions. Checking on the hardness, tensile strength, toughness and electroplating quality will insure consistent quality.
