

THE DANGERS OF

BLEACH

BLEACH IS ONE OF THE MOST CORROSIVE & DEADLY CHEMICALS AND YET IT IS SOLD AT EVERY SUPERMARKET & DRUGSTORE IN THE NATION AND UNDER MOST KITCHEN SINKS!

1

Dangerous for Children

Bleach is particularly harmful to infants, and young children because their immune systems cannot fight off the harsh chemicals they may touch while crawling and playing on the floor or breathe in the air. The toxic fumes from bleach also put children at greater risk to develop asthma in their childhood.

2

Bad for Your Health

Bleach is extremely harmful to your external body and deadly to your internal organs. Serious side effects of using bleach can include respiratory problems, skin burns, damage to the nervous system, asthma flares, extreme headaches, migraines, and vomiting. The most serious hazard of bleach to our bodies is that when mixed with ammonia, vinegar, or any other acid type cleaning material, it can cause extremely dangerous, toxic fumes that can be deadly.

3

Dangerous for Pets

The products you use to clean your floors or wash your bedding can be picked up on your pets' paws or fur. Since cats and dogs often lick themselves, they will likely ingest the harmful chemicals which can cause numerous short and long-term health problems. Also, using bleach creates dangerous vapours that can cause lung irritation, toxicosis and even death in birds and other pets.

4

Harmful Effects on the Environment

Bleach is a known contributor to water pollution. When bleach makes its way into our water system, it reacts with other minerals and elements to create a host of dangerous toxins that can take many years to dissipate. The by-products of bleach can contribute to endocrine disorders, low sperm count, testicular and breast cancer and other serious health problems for humans, wildlife and marine animals too!
