JOBRE’S DENALI

Red-Eyed White SR Buck (Proven)

Denali is a great little buck. He’s very typey with a great head and ears. He’s full to the table. If I could strengthen anything about him, it would be to add a little more fullness to his shoulder. As a junior, he won BOSB at the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo (over 90 youth entries) under Misty Polasik. As we were taking pictures, she asked me what his name was & I told her that they only get names if they stay & he didn’t have a name yet. She stated, “Well, I think he definitely deserves a name.” So, I asked her to name him, and she picked Denali. I was not planning to offer him for the GFA or sell him, but I think he’s a great fit for the Trio. He may carry broken, but the only litter he’s sired was with another broken, and I got all broken and REW.
Denali has won BOSB – Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo, BOSB – TRBA State Show A, BOG – TRBA State Show C, and BOSG – TRBA State Show B.

B&B’S PRIMROSE

Opal SR Doe (Proven)

B&B’s Primrose is a very showy, upright doe with a short, compact body. She has good wool texture and density, and has dark nails. If I had to fault her, I’d say that she could use more width overall and a bit longer wool. She is proven and two of her babies look very promising. She was a very good mother. Her dam is the full sister to B&B’s Zephyr, the 2025 ARBA Convention Open Best of Breed. Primrose was the 8th place agouti JR doe at the 2025 ARBA Convention and also the 4th place agouti SR doe at the 2026 NJWRC Nationals. I am keeping Primrose’s full sister.

AFB’S SASHA

Black Otter SR Doe (Proven)

AFB’s Sasha is a beautiful proven black otter SR doe who has produced very nicely for us. We were not planning to sell or donate her, but I decided that since we have her sister and 2 daughters along with both of her parents, I was willing to donate her to the JW Trio to let her help someone else. Sasha has a beautiful dark black coat that is very easy care. She has a very nice topline, excellent head mount, jet black nails and full hindquarters. If I could change anything, I would like her head to be a bit bolder and her ears to be thicker. She has been a very good mom for us and would have been bred this next month if we weren’t donating her. Her son AFB’s Sebastian (blue otter buck) is my mom’s GFA rabbit this year. Her sire Winston has multiple BIS/RIS and was also Open Best White Wool at the 2023 ARBA Convention.

BYERS’ PACO

Red-Eyed White SR Buck (Proven)

Byers’ Paco has GC 1 leg. What I like about Paco is that he is short and compact. He has a nice taper from front to back. His ear length of 2 ¼” makes him look very balanced. Paco is out of Byer’s Rocket who is a broken blue buck and Byers’ Pillow who is a REW doe. If there is anything that I would like to change about Paco is maybe a bit wider in the front.

Ear #: LR
Weight: 3# 3oz
Ear Length: 2 ¾”

B&B’S LOW RIDER

Red-Eyed White SR Buck (not proven)

B&B’s Low Rider has very good overall type, great width and great bone. He has excellent density, texture and length of wool. He has a bold eye and excellent substance and structure of ears. If I had to fault him, I’d say that he could use a bit shorter ears and is a bit long through the midsection. He was the 4th place self JR buck at the 2026 NJWRC Nationals. His sire was the 2025 ARBA Convention Open BOB Jersey Wooly, won Best White Wool and Best Overall Wool. His dam was first place broken junior doe at the 2023 ARBA Convention, as well as winning Best Colored Wool at the 2025 NJWRC National. I am keeping his full sister and brother

SS KRISS KROSS

Broken Black Otter SR Buck (Proven)

For my first submission to the GFA, let me introduce, SS Kriss Kross. He has served all purposes of being our best broken in the barn by producing 60+ showable kits from 16 litters with more on the way! Some of his younger offspring will be in the JR classes at convention. His sire was BOG @ ‘25 JW Spring Nationals as a junior. He’s our best eared proven buck available and he passes on great broken patterns to his offspring. He’ll match up wonderfully if you have lighter marked does in your barn where you are wanting to add brighter color with fuller patterns. Super bold head with a round topline and great bone. To be picky, he could have a shorter midsection and deeper chest to hold up his huge head. Wish he had more density in his first Sr coat, thus it’s unsure how this new one will grow out. He does carry the self gene and what we know is he’s (ataB-C-D-E). You’ll enjoy putting your hands on him in Reno as he’s hard muscled and has an abundance of guard hairs. We know it’s time to pass on these genetics to that lucky bidder.

TM’S SL

Broken Seal SR Doe (not proven)

Treble Maker Rabbitry is offering for your consideration TM’s SL, a broken seal doe. This young doe is ready to go home with you and start making babies. FYI, she was lifting as we were taking her photos, LOL. SL comes from a long line of easy breeders who are excellent Mothers. She can be used in both a non-extension color program or a broken one. Again, she comes from a long line of animals that exhibit very good broken modifiers in their patterns. SL at this time, is the typical California girl, and is still wearing her Summer clothes in the Fall. Hopefully, by convention, she will have at least put on a hoodie and maybe a pair of sweats. Her sire has good wool and excellent clean sable point color. Her dam has beautiful wool, one of the best coats I’ve ever produced. The wool that SL has right now leads me to believe that she will follow her parents in wool quality. I like how upright this doe is, definitely not a table hugger. She’s got a good topline and is compact. I would like her to have more muscling which causes her pin bones to be more prominent. Paired with the right buck, I believe this nicely linebred doe will be an asset to someone’s rabbitry.

WENDOVER’S TRAIN BACK TO BOSTON

Broken Blue Otter SR Doe (not proven)

I’m on a song theme with my names this year. Boston is a super cute young broken SR doe. She does have a smaller frame, I wish she was a little more bulky, but I’ve never had an issue with rabbits like that in my breeding program. I had fully intended on keeping her & her sister. She is super short, round & deep. She is very striking on the show table. I would like to see a little more width to go with the depth of body that she has, but that’s pretty in line with a lot of my rabbits. Her ears are nice & short & very well placed. They could be a bit more open. I do wish she had a little more mass to her head, but it does balance with her frame. Pretty decent width but could use more fullness of cheek. I think she is still growing & could fill in. She has wonderful texture to her coat & a nice deep blue color. Boston does have 2 BOSB legs. I can try to find them in my emails & send them to the winning bidder.
I plan to breed Boston before convention to my chestnut buck W333. He is one of my 2 main herd bucks & has produced some really nice babies this year. He was 1st agouti junior buck at Nationals in Kansas & top 5 at convention last year. He never seems to have a prime coat at the right time. He has multiple legs for BOB & BOSB. He excels in the areas where I feel that Boston could use improvement & they would be an excellent pair. He has very nice width, a very nice broad head & a lot of length to his coat. I have included his pic; he is not in coat at all right now.

JOBRE’S NATASHA

Chinchilla Sr Doe

Natasha is a really nice chin doe. I debated between her and the seal buck for my donation, and since he has blown his coat, I decided to substitute Natasha for the GFA. She is currently molting as well, but not as bad. She has good type and is full to the table with a nice head and ears. She also has a nice chin color. If I had to fault her, I would say she could use a slightly stronger shoulder. She is a full sister to my GFA trio donation (REW buck-Denali). She also has that really sweet Jersey Wooly personality and is not a spice doe.

BOLING BABIES SMOKE

SmokePearlSRDoe (Proven)

Boling Babies Smoke is a hard one to let go of, but I wanted to put something very nice in the GFA this year. Smoke has a massive body and a very pretty head. She is a proven mom who can still jump right back onto the show table if you want to show her. Smoke was the Youth 1st Place Shaded SR doe at the 2025 NJWRC Nationals in Kansas.

WILD MEADOWS ARMANI

Black Tortoise Shell SR Buck (not proven)

Armani is a very young senior that we have been growing. His mom decided to give him a haircut before weaning, so Armani has never been shown. He is just coming into an adult coat and was on track to becoming a show buck. Armani is smaller in stature, but very solidly built. He has a very nice topline, and he is short, deep, and compact. He has a very nice head blossoming and has really nice texture of wool coming in. He does come from a slower maturing line, so we expect him to really pop between 12-18 months. Where I wish Armani was a little better...over his pin bones. He could be fleshed out better over them.

AFB’S SOLYA

Broken Siamese Sable SR Doe (Proven)

Solya is a beautiful broken Siamese sable brood doe with a big chunky head. She has a very easy-care coat with beautiful drape, great texture, and a lovely pattern. She is wide and full to the table. If I could change anything, I would love her midsection to be a bit shorter, but that is to be expected as she is a brood doe. I would also love for her ears to be a bit shorter and more rounded on the tips. She is molting right now, so she is slightly out of condition over her topline. Once she finishes molting, she will fill right back out again. This girl has a big personality and LOVES to eat, so please do not free-feed her except when on a litter. She is proven and was a great mom, raising all 6 of her kits in her first litter, born in May 2026. We are growing out her entire litter and are very excited about them so far.

AFB’S SEBASTIAN

Blue Otter SR Buck (not proven yet)

Sebastian is a very showy buck who has earned 3 legs. He has a beautiful chunky buck head and open, well-furred ears. His deep blue coat is very easy to care for and has lovely drape. If I could change anything, I would love a bit more texture to his coat. He has a very nice topline and is full and smooth to the table. We are buck hoarders, so Sebastian finally made it into the breeding rotation last month. Hopefully, he will have his first 2 litters before convention, with 3 more litters due at the beginning of November. His sire, Wyatt, was Open BOG Broken out of 102 brokens at the 2024 ARBA Convention, and Wyatt also won an Open Best in Show at the ripe age of 4 this past February.
February.
