This is just a quick note to let you know that there's a new blog entry posted today on the website. I had the opportunity to attend, and photograph, the 2022 Canadian National Track & Field event in Langley, BC in June. It was memorable for many reasons, not the least of which was that my great-nephew was competing for a medal in the 400 meters hurdles. It was truly learning how to photograph the hard way for me, but it was an amazing experience. I hope you have a few minutes to read it.
