Is there a writer's block equivalent for video creation?

I am going to assume that it's those same mental pathways that fail when working on putting together a video. And then, don't get me started on the technical stuff...because I actually could write about that now as it turns out.

However, having worked through the challenges it is quite exciting to be able to announce the first in a series of how & why photography stories in video format now available on my YouTube channel. The objective is to keep the stories as short as possible, while describing various photography-oriented adventures, places, and techniques, and ideas. This first one explores night-photography in motorsports - a thing that I would not have guessed I'd ever take on but I am glad that I did. I hope you enjoy it - if you do, please pass the link along to others who might also appreciate it.
