Fabulous Grand Canyon light and color

As promised new Grand Canyon prints are now available in the Arizona Gallery of my website. Sunset and sunrise create great opportunities as you can see, and even shooting in the middle of the day creates marvelous images as that bright harsh light displays the entire canyon, highlighting the scale, the range of color, and the detail of the formations making this an amazing place to visit and photograph. I am very excited about how these images have captured some of the awe of being there to experience those powerful views.
