PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a student nurse at the University of Mary, with a background in human and animal care teams. I have a solid technical background in human phlebotomy and hands-on veterinary knowledge to add to my nursing field. I excel in promoting health and comfort through high-quality care and empathy, with a varied knowledge base for patients and families. I strive to bring the same level of compassion, connection, and kindness to human medicine that I developed in veterinary care. I aim to enhance my nursing skills to be proficient and empathetic to all in my care.
