Waterfall pump was operational again this week and there is water movement in the lagoon and down the streams into the main lake.

I did not see any midges this week and the population of midges tend to be lower in the hottest months.

No issues with filamentous algae in the main body of the lake of the areas but there is an increase in bottom algae floating to the surface. At this point there is not an excessive amount of bottom growth and if the amount increases, I can add lake dye to lake as the summer progresses.

Periodic treatments are now done twice a month with algaecide on the boat ramp since the summer time temperatures and conditions are here.

One dead Canadian goose removed this week. Two dead fish, bass and a white amur
