1. Introduction

Diary of a Black Woman LLC (“we,” “our,” or “us”) is committed to respecting your privacy and protecting the personal information you share with us. This Privacy Policy explains how we collect, use, and safeguard your data when you visit our website or engage with our content and services. By using our website, you consent to the practices outlined in this policy.

2. Information We Collect

We may collect both personal and non-personal information, including:

- Your name, email address, phone number
- Billing and shipping information for purchases or donations
- Responses to contact forms or email communications
- Technical information such as IP address, browser type, and device type
- Cookies, usage data, and website analytics

3. How We Use Your Information

We use collected information to:

- Communicate with you about our podcast, devotionals, and ministry updates
- Respond to inquiries and support requests
- Process purchases, donations, or subscriptions
- Improve website functionality and user experience
- Send newsletters and promotional materials (only with your consent)
- Meet legal, safety, and regulatory requirements

4. Sharing Your Information

We do not sell or rent your information. We may share data with:

- Secure third-party service providers (e.g., website hosts, email platforms, analytics services)

- Payment processors for transactions
- Legal authorities if required by law

All third parties are obligated to maintain data confidentiality.

5. Cookies and Tracking Technologies

We use cookies and similar technologies to:

- Recognize returning visitors
- Improve site navigation and performance
- Analyze visitor behavior

You may disable cookies in your browser, though some features may not function properly.

6. Email Communications
