He is an accomplished, young Indigenous business leader in mining. Kody previously advanced from an underground miner to a Strategy role at Canada’s largest diversified miner. He is also Vice-Chair of the Tahltan Nation Development Corporation, where he has helped lead the company through major strategic and operational changes by enhancing governance and management structures.

Kody has driven value for Indigenous communities and mining companies while building lasting, sustainable relationships. He brings a collaborative approach to decision-making, aligning the values of rights holders and stakeholders toward common goals.

As Lead, Business Planning at Teck Resources Limited’s (“Teck”) Copper Growth group, Kody advanced Teck's development assets through effective business planning, efficient capital allocation, and strong governance frameworks. Prior to Teck, he worked as a Mining Analyst for Agentis Capital, in Investor Relations with Skeena Resources Ltd. and as Employment Director for the Tahltan Central Government. Kody holds a Bachelor of Commerce (Hons) from the University of British Columbia.

Kody is a proud citizen of the Tahltan Nation, the northern Indigenous neighbors to the Nisga’a Nation, the founding First Nation of Nations Royalty. The Tahltan have a rich mining history, from obsidian mining at Mt. Edziza to active operations and contracting throughout their territory. Advanced projects and mines on Tahltan territory include Brucejack and KSM, which overlap with Nisga’a, the Red Chris and Silvertip mines, the Eskay Creek, Snip, Shaft Creek, and Galore Creek deposits, along with many other historic mines, deposits, and prospects in the Golden Triangle of British Columbia.

Growing up in the mining industry, Kody worked at Imperial Metal’s Ruddock Creek exploration camp and as an underground miner at Newmont’s Brucejack mine. He is passionate about responsible resource development that benefits communities and shareholders, helping Indigenous groups work toward self-sufficiency while providing the world with much-needed minerals.

Robert McLeod, Interim CEO of Nations, stated: “I am thrilled to welcome Kody to Nations Royalty. He is one of the most impressive young mining and Indigenous leaders in the industry. Kody’s background in Indigenous leadership, mining and capital markets is ideal for his role as Vice President of Corporate Development.
