

Jone Rush MACCULLOCH

Author. Poet. Artist. Teacher

About Jone:

Jone Rush MacCulloch is an award winning poet, artist, and teacher. Her poems have been featured in several children's and young adult anthologies. Her debut middle grade verse novel, Tilt was published in 2026.

About The Book:

Tilt: To lean, incline, slope, or slant (source: dictionary)

Tilt. When Darrah's dad moves out.

Tilt. When Darrah and her BFF, stop talking to each other.

Tilt. When Darrah meets a boy sitting in her oak tree.

Tilt: When unexpected events upend your world.

(source: Darrah)

Friendship. Adventures. Tragedy. Hope.

Will Darrah's world ever make sense again?

What Others Have Said

- Tilt deals with tough subject matter in an appropriate, child-centered way. --Cordelia Jensen, author of Lilac and the Switchback
- Tilt is a moving story of friendship and misunderstandings, loss and finding a way again. ~ Emily Whitman, author of The Turning
- TILT is a story of broken promises, hard lessons, and forgiveness that will challenge readers' experience and kindle their empathy. --Susan Blackaby, author of Nest, Nook, and Cranny

Contact:

Email: macrush53@gmail.com

Phone: 503-290-6672

Website: jonerushmacculloch.com

Instagram: @jonerushmacculloch

Book Details:

River Oak Press (April 2026)

Cover Art by Amber Fleet

ISBN: 555-1555555555

Genre: Middle Grade, Novel in Verse

260 pages

$21.99