

Mike Teavee

(watching TV speaking to his mother) I'm not going to school.... who needs school? Are you joking?! Or just crazy? I've got my screens and the net and the whole world in the palm of my hand, I don't got no time for school. Now, hush up.... this is the best part! Crack, Smack, Whack! WOOOO! Did you see that guy wipe out? That was so totally awesome!

(slight pause) Ma, I said Zip it! This next show is THE BOMB! Wait a minute....freeze frame....it's my cell... (MIKE picks up his cell phone) Talk to me. Hold on, got another call. (MIKE holds up another phone to his ear) Talk to me. Dude, can't you see I'm busy running an empire here?

Violet Beauregarde

(Chewing ferociously on gum, waving arms excitedly, talking in a rapid and loud manner)

I'm a gum chewer normally, but when I heard about these ticket things of Mr Wonka's, I laid off the gum and switched to candy bars in the hope of striking it lucky. Now, of course, I'm right back on gum. I just adore gum. I can't do without it. I munch it all day long except for a few minutes at mealtimes when I take it out and stick it behind my ear for safekeeping. To tell you the truth, I simply wouldn't feel comfortable if I didn't have that little wedge of gum to chew on every minute of the day, I really wouldn't. It may interest you to know that this piece of gum I'm chewing right at this moment is one I've been working on for over three months solid. That's a record, that is.

Veruca Salt

As soon as I told my father that I simply had to have one of those Golden Tickets, he went out into the town and started buying up all the Wonka candy bars he could lay his hands on. Thousands of them, he must have bought. Hundreds of thousands! Then he had them loaded onto trucks and sent directly to his own factory. He's in the peanut business, you see, and he's got about a hundred women working for him over at his joint, shelling peanuts for roasting and salting. So, he says to them, 'Okay, girls,' he says, 'from now on, you can stop shelling peanuts and start shelling the wrappers off these crazy candy bars instead!' and they did. He had every worker in the place yanking the paper off those bars of chocolate, full speed ahead, from morning 'til night. Then suddenly, on the evening of the fourth day, one of his women workers yelled, 'I've got it! A Golden Ticket!' And my father said, 'Give it to me, quick!' And she did. And he rushed it home and gave it to me.

Augustus Gloop

You see, I've always had a passion for chocolate, and when I heard about this golden ticket business, I knew it was destiny calling my name. Augustus Gloop, the connoisseur of cocoa, the master of munching, and now, the chosen one to explore the mysteries of Willy Wonka's chocolate factory.

I've heard tales of rivers of chocolate, mountains of truffles, and fields of everlasting gobstoppers. And let me tell you, my friends, I'm ready to dive right in. They say dreams come true in this place, and my dream is a chocolate-covered paradise!

(chuckles again) Some might call me greedy, but I call it knowing what I want. Why settle for less when you can have the sweetest, the richest, the most delectable treats this world has to offer? This is my moment, my golden ticket to chocolate heaven, and I won't let anything stand in the way of my indulgence.
