

Big Changes, Bright Future: Welcome Our New Co-Directors!

As we gear up for an incredible new school year, we are thrilled to announce a dynamic shift in our leadership team. Please join us in giving a warm welcome to our new Co-Directors, Laura Liberty and Tracy-Ann Davis!

What makes this transition so special is that both Laura and Tracy-Ann have already been vital parts of our amazing teaching team. They know our students, understand our values, and have already poured so much love into our classrooms. Now, they are bringing that first-hand experience into their new leadership roles:

- Laura Liberty steps into the role of Assistant Director / Dean of Integrated Academic & Family Success. Laura will be focusing heavily on ensuring our students thrive both in the classroom and at home, strengthening the vital bridge between our school and our families.
- Tracy-Ann Davis takes on the role of Assistant Director / Head of Inclusive Athletics & Student Empowerment. Tracy-Ann is dedicated to fostering a supportive, high-energy environment where every student feels empowered to find their voice, build confidence, and participate fully in our community activities.

Why This Team is a Game-Changer

By uniting academic and family support with student empowerment and inclusive activities, Laura and Tracy-Ann form an absolute powerhouse leadership team. Their combined vision ensures that every single student will be supported holistically—academically, socially, and physically.

With this level of collaborative leadership at the helm, we are more equipped than ever to provide a safe, nurturing, and deeply enriching environment. We are incredibly lucky to have them leading the way, and we know this collaborative approach is going to make this our best school year yet!
