

STOP Mosquito

CASE STUDY

Challenge

Mr R, parent of a new-born baby, stays in a low-rise condo unit with a construction site nearby (with ongoing construction). He has installed DIY mosquito screens on his windows but did not do so for his yard area opening as it is quite a large area to cover and has non-proportionate angles. Mosquitoes enter from his yard area daily. Customising a set of sliding frame insect screen is possible but the cost expensive is rather high and the odd angles may require significant customisation.

Customer's Goals

- Prevent mosquitoes entering from his yard area.
- Allows for high wind & light flow.
- Be reasonably priced and with low to no maintenance.

How STOP Mosquito helped?

We carried out an on-site survey for Mr R and found our customised screen to be suitable for his odd-shaped yard area opening.

We made measurements of Mr R's yard area opening and custom made a STOP Mosquito Screen that fits according to the proportions required. Given that the area may experience some weather, we installed the screens using the Japanese brand Oyama Velcro which are meant to be durable for outdoor usage.

We installed our screen and shared with Mr R that he vacuum the screen and wipe it with wet towel once a while will do.

Results

Two weeks later, we followed up with Mr R for his feedback:

- "No more mosquitoes entering from the yard area"
- "Don't notice the screen much."
- "Not much to maintain really"
- "I will refer you my friends if they need screens"
