

2017 Keynote Speakers

Sunny Daljit - "Leading With Purpose"

Sunny sold over 100 real estate properties by age 21, has lived a monastic life in the Far East, has been a leadership coach, and has lectured and consulted across Canada, USA and England. Currently Sunny is CEO/Broker of Record of the Keller Williams office in Port Credit.

Rick Rossini - "Creating The Wow Factor in Business"

For 30 years Rick Rossini has been a professional speaker, entertainer, magician, writer, corporate communicator, consultant and producer. He has presented promotional, educational and motivational vehicles throughout the world. He has written, created, produced and performed a myriad of corporate presentations, educational venues, television, film and video programs, and theatrical productions.

Stuart Law: Negotiating Game

Stuart Law is a partner with Simpson Wigle Law LLP. He is an experienced litigator specializing in conflict resolution. Conflict can take many forms but usually arises out of relationship breakdowns in the workplace, the home, or at the boardroom table. With his background in employment law, family law, shareholder disputes and estate litigation, Stuart is able to litigate these matters effectively and decisively where required.

Larissa Ciupka – Beyond Bieber & Beyonce: Social Media in the Business World

Larissa is a marketing and communications professional who has worked for such organizations as Mary Kay Cosmetics, MAC Cosmetics, the Art Gallery of Hamilton and the Kitchener-Waterloo Art Gallery. She has also taught at Mohawk College in the Recreation and Leisure Services, Therapeutic Recreation, Concurrent Disorders and Human Services Foundations programs.

Marvin Ryder - Business Ethics

Marvin is a Professor of Marketing and Entrepreneurship at the Michael G. DeGroot School of Business, McMaster University. He has been director of the school's Small Business Consulting Service and has written more than 50 case studies illustrating marketing, entrepreneurship, and business strategy problems.

Lynda Hykin: Financial Literacy

A Canadian Author, Coach and Inspired Speaker, Lynda is the author of 'Negotiation for Women', 'The Bank of MOM is Now Closed, and most recently 'In My Mother's House, a Guide to Cleaning out your Loved One's Home'. Lynda travels across Canada speaking on issues of Wage Equality, Financial Literacy for Teens and Life after Work.

Sean O'Brien, "A CEO's Typical Day"

Sean currently serves as President of Reliance Home Comfort, where he is responsible for planning and implementing strategies to drive growth, improve operations, productivity and profitability, and foster a high performance culture. Reliance is the largest rental Heating, Ventilation, and Air Conditioner business and the largest rental Water Heater business in Canada.