Beacons of Love

Love is the eternal self-givingness of Spirit, the activity of life. It energizes the whole of humanity, creation, the earth, and the universe.

Divine love flowing through all life inspires and energizes me. I resonate with it for it is the Truth of my life.

As an expression of divine love, I am here to love and be loved. The more I experience this creative energy, the more I discover new ways of being love in action.

I am grateful for the irresistible power of love and the many ways love shines in and through me. I let go and let it be. And so it is.
