

Our Community Prayer for September Friendship: A Divine Echo of Oneness

I consciously and deliberately open my mind and heart, relaxing into the allness of God. It is now and always revealing to me my unity with life, reflected in ways that I can see, hear, and relate to.

Understanding that my word is an echo of my connection with Spirit, I joyfully affirm and express my divinity.

Every encounter is an opportunity to experience connection, reminding me “friendship is an invisible thread that weaves hearts together”.

I send a blessing now to all friends, with thoughts of love and appreciation.

I am grateful for the many ways friendship enriches life.
And so it is.
