Testimonials

"It is evident that the writers have a clear understanding of current language learning theory and have applied this extremely well – the overall structure of each unit and order of activities, the amount of practice provided for new vocab items and the way grammar is presented are just a few good examples. So we are quite confident that the content will do what it says on the tin."

Robert Lightburn (Japan)

"Having worked with Net Languages courses both in our own training centres and with numerous corporate clients, I can honestly say that they are the most efficient, adaptable and enjoyable net-based language courses on offer at the moment."

Pascal Gosteau
CCI Valenciennes, France

"I would strongly recommend this course to any person or company seeking an Internet English training solution. I have seen several courses, but nothing rivals this in terms of contents and structure. I was very impressed."
