People or Possessions

Which is more important: people or possessions? With the current climate, it sometimes feels like possessions outweigh people. We, seemingly, put more time and energy into things than cultivating relationships with the people that mean the most to us. Does that mean we shouldn't strive to attain things/possessions? No. It just means we should prioritize what means the most. If your life would end tomorrow, would you be more concerned about the car in the garage or the person you wish you could see one more time? Let's not wait until the end. Let's cherish the ones we love now.

Have a blessed week!

Until next time,

Enjoy the beauty of our world!
