JOHN J. LOHN

JUDGE

Dear Friend,

The Juvenile Court has three main functions: to protect helpless children, to protect the public interest and to correct delinquent behavior. We handle thousands of cases every year.

Our work is rewarding and fulfilling. In addition to handling the delinquent and unruly docket, the Court protects abused and neglected children. It issues custody and child support orders for the children of unmarried parents. It oversees the operation of the Juvenile Detention Center and New Horizons Youth Shelter. The Juvenile Court touches the lives of thousands of Medina County's families.

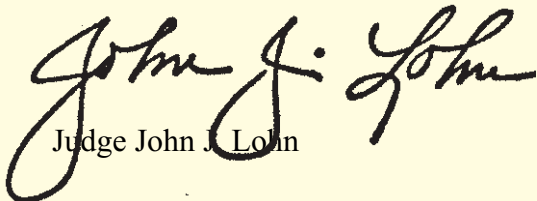

In this report you will learn about the many community-based approaches we use to correct delinquent children. We work with schools, social agencies and police departments to develop programs using local resources to combat local problems.

This report details the Court's activities for last year. The report has many facts and figures, charts and graphs, but it cannot show how hard our staff works. It cannot show you the personal commitment our people make to solve problems and help families in crisis. Our greatest resource is our people.

Good things are happening, even better days are ahead.

Thank you for your interest in the Juvenile Court.

Very Truly Yours,

Judge John J. Lohn

MEDINA COUNTY JUVENILE COURT

JUDGE JOHN J. LOHN

Judge John J. Lohn is one of four judges of the Medina County Common Pleas Court. Judge Lohn began his term in February 2003. The Medina County Juvenile Court has jurisdiction over all cases involving persons under age 18, including those categorized as delinquent, traffic offenders, unruly, abused, neglected, or dependent. In addition to serving as our County's Juvenile Court Judge, Judge Lohn is the Medina County Probate Court Judge.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR IN 2006

MENTAL HEALTH SCREENINGS: The Court will have a mental health clinician to assess children placed at our facilities or involved in Drug Court. Initial screenings are critical to the safety of the detainee, the staff and other residents. Because of high correlation between addiction and mental disorders, the mental health expert will join the Drug Court team.

MEDINA COUNTY JUVENILE COURT PROGRAMS

DRUG COURT: The mission of the Drug Court is to stop children from using alcohol and drugs. Drug Court is a coordination of efforts between alcohol and drug counseling and court services. For addicted children, Drug Court is their last and best hope for sobriety and a productive life. 29 juveniles graduated from the program in 2005.

JUVENILE TRAFFIC NIGHT COURT: Juvenile traffic offenders' hearings begin at 3:00 pm Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday each week. On the first and third Tuesdays of each month, the Court has extended hours to 8:00 pm for hearings. By hearing cases after school and work hours, it becomes more convenient for both parents to attend court with their teens. Students avoid absence from classes and extra-curricular activities by coming to Juvenile Traffic Night Court. 1145 juvenile traffic cases were filed in 2005.

CAMP INTEGRITY: Camp Integrity was developed as a means of combating the idleness and lack of supervision for court-involved youth during the critical hours of 3 pm to 9 pm. The program consists of academic study, physical activity, group discussions, life skills and social responsibility training. 96 youth completed the program in 2005.

PARENTS AND TEENS TOGETHER (PATT): The PATT Program was designed to work with the unruly youth of Medina County. The program was specifically designed to involve both the juveniles and their families, because the behavior of an unruly youth affects the entire family. Through the group process, families work through various issues of concern. Areas that are addressed include communication skills, flexibility, and perceptions. Secondly, all aspects of thinking are addressed. Those aspects include responsible vs. irresponsible thinking, control, choices, and consequences.

ID-21: This is a 21-hour intensive detention program held at the Juvenile Detention Center for Alcohol and Drug Offenses. The goals of the program are: parental intervention and detection techniques; drug and alcohol education; and, building bridges between youth and their parents. The program began in 2003. 114 juveniles completed this program in 2005.

TRUANCY PROGRAM: In 2003 a truancy plan was introduced to the Medina County schools. The goals of the plan are to encourage consistent policies throughout the County and more effective dispositions in court. Each year, the court hosts an annual truancy meeting with representatives from all eight school districts as well as the Prosecutor's Office, Job and Family Services, and the Ohio State University Extension Office. 85 truancy cases were filed for the 2004-2005 school year.

COPPER (Costs of Probation and Programming Expense Reimbursement): The parents of juveniles must pay a portion of the cost of court programming. In 2005 over $66,000.00 was collected through COPPER.

COMMUNITY SERVICE: Community Service provides work experience to juveniles. Community service work is labor which is provided to a non-profit or governmental agency. 297 youth completed the program in 2005: 140 were non-probationers and 157 were on probation. Nearly 9,700 hours were donated to benefit such agencies as Medina County Schools, Medina County Park District, Spring Grove Cemetery, Adopt a Highway and various fire departments.

MEDINA COUNTY AGENCIES AND COMMUNITY RELATIONS: The Juvenile Court has been recognized by the Ohio Department of Transportation for two years of service in the Adopt-A-Highway program and has also been recognized by the Medina County Drug Abuse Commission. The Court is involved in various boards and groups in Medina County including the Medina County Police Chief's Association, Family First Council, Youth and Senior Intersystems Community Assessment Teams, Share Cluster, Collaborative Family Treatment Program, The Tobacco Coalition and 2-1-1 Call for Help Initiative.

For more information, please go online to www.medinacountyjuvenileprobatecourt.com for details about these and other programs.

MEDINA COUNTY JUVENILE COURT TYPES OF CASES HEARD IN JUVENILE COURT

DELINQUENT CHILD: A delinquent child is one who commits any act (other than a juvenile traffic offense) that would be a crime under state, municipal, or federal law if committed by an adult, or who fails to obey an order of a juvenile court. In 2005, there were 922 delinquency cases filed in Medina County.

TRAFFIC: A juvenile who violates a traffic law, ordinance or regulation (excluding parking violations) is a juvenile traffic offender. In 2005, there were 1145 juvenile traffic cases filed.

PARENTAGE: Paternity cases determine the parentage of a child. Before Court involvement, an administrative determination must be attempted through the Child Support Enforcement Agency (CSEA), or the parents may execute an Acknowledgement that is filed with the Central Paternity Registry. It is necessary to establish the parent and child relationship in order to decide issues of parental rights and support. In 2005, there were 26 parentage cases filed.

PARENTAL RIGHTS: These cases include custody and visitation matters between parents, and in some cases other people, such as grandparents. The legal right to physical care and control of a child is determined, including the issues of the child's residence, time with each person and monetary support and health care obligations. In 2005, there were 75 custody/visitation cases filed.

GRANDPARENT POWERS OF ATTORNEY: There are two types of documents, the Power of Attorney, used when a parent is available and able to sign the power of attorney to the grandparent, and the Caretaker Authorization Affidavit, used when the caretaker grandparent is unable to locate or contact the parents. Both allow grandparents to obtain care, physical custody and control over grandchildren without changing legal custody. Both documents are in effect for one year, and if a renewal is desired, a court hearing must then be held. In 2005, 15 powers of attorney were filed, and 1 caretaker affidavit was filed.

CHILD SUPPORT: The biological or adoptive parent of a child is obligated to support the child. The Juvenile Court may establish support orders and enforce these orders. Orders include health care obligations of each parent and allocation of the tax exemption for the child. The Court enforces orders established administratively through the Child Support Enforcement Agency. In 2005, 230 support cases were filed.

DEPENDENCY, NEGLECT AND ABUSE: Children living in inappropriate environments as defined by state law may be removed from parents or other care givers. With Juvenile Court involvement, the children may be reunited with their families under supervision, placed in foster care, or placed with relatives while the conditions that caused removal are remedied. In 2005, there were 61 dependency, neglect and abuse cases filed.

UNRULY: Any child who commits a status offense (conduct that would not be a crime if committed by an adult) is an unruly child. An unruly child includes any child who does not submit to the reasonable control of the child's parents, teachers, guardian or custodian, by reason of being wayward or habitually disobedient; any child who is an habitual truant from school; any child who behaves in a manner as to injure or endanger his or her health or morals or the health or morals of others; and, any child who violates a law (other than tobacco and gun violations) applicable only to a child. In 2005, 200 unruly child cases were filed.

ADULT: Adults may fall under the jurisdiction of Juvenile Court if they commit an act that contributes to the delinquency or unruliness of a minor. Also, an adult may be charged with failing to support their child educationally. In 2005, 2 adult cases were filed in Medina County.

MEDINA COUNTY JUVENILE COURT JUVENILE DETENTION CENTER

MCJDC is a maximum-security detention facility. With approximately 26,000 square feet, the facility has thirty-30 individual detention cells, three (3) large classrooms, dining hall, medical office with examination room, gymnasium, library, and a secured outdoor recreation area.

The juvenile detention facility is reserved for the detainment of youth who have been charged with committing delinquent acts. Detention shall be used as a last resort and principally for youth who have committed serious offenses and are a risk to himself or herself or the community.

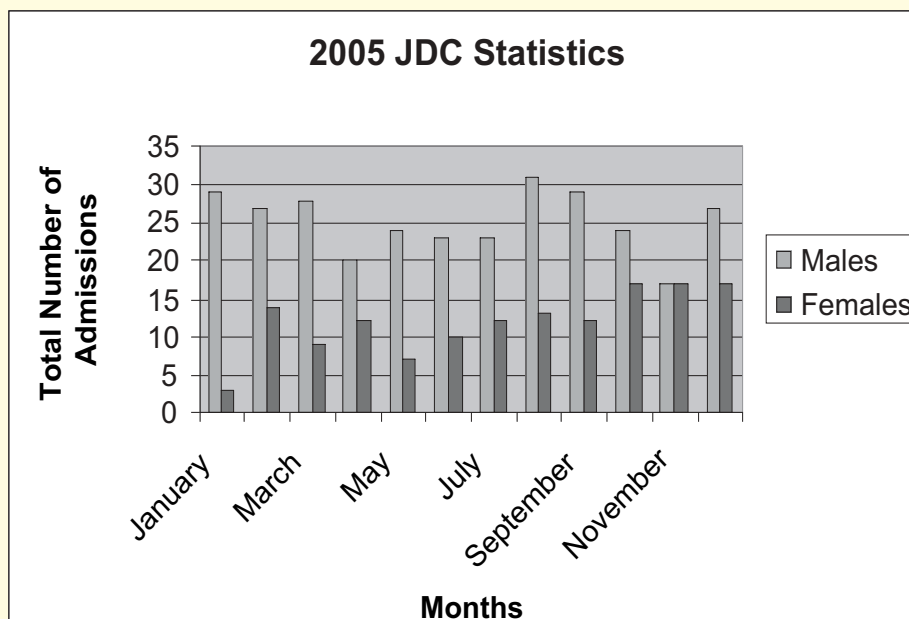

Typically, youth are awaiting adjudication and disposition, have violated the terms and conditions of their probation or parole, have violated a court order; or who are awaiting placement in another facility may be held up to ninety- 90 days.

Federal mandate prevents unruly or status type offenders from being held in detention for any longer than twenty-four (24) hours. Detention will not ordinarily be used for youth who are truant or probationers who are suspended from school. Non-felony offenders may be detained, pending a detention hearing, when law enforcement identifies a serious risk to person or property.

The Detention Center is not a treatment facility, but it is our philosophy that everyone coming in contact with our residents should do the most that they can to make a positive impact on the youth in hopes of diverting them from further trouble. While we do offer programs to the residents while they are here, the loss of personal choice and freedom cannot be offset by the activities and programming provided through the detention experience.

While at the JDC, youth are provided with programming and voluntary participation in various activities. Programming and services include but are not limited to the following:

MEDINA COUNTY JUVENILE COURT New Horizons Youth Shelter

New Horizons is a shelter care facility operated by the Medina County Juvenile Court and licensed by the Ohio Department of Jobs and Family Services. The ten bed facility has the capability of serving both males (5) and females (5). The shelter is open 365 days a year and staffed around the clock. Youth can be placed at New Horizons through four different ways: parents and/or guardians, Jobs and Family Services, juvenile court and emergency out of state placements.

There were 164 Placements in 2005: 110 parent placements, 39 court ordered placements, and 5 JFS Placements. A number of other families received out-patient services.

While placed at New Horizons, youth and their families are offered a wide variety of services. Those services include:

- EDUCATIONAL SERVICES: New Horizon's staff transport youth to and from their home schools on a daily basis. Homework time is scheduled daily and incorporated on the weekends as needed. During this structured time, residents are able to obtain help and/or guidance with their schoolwork.
- MEDICAL AND DENTAL SERVICES: a registered nurse conducts a health screening within the first 5 days of admission to New Horizons. This is used to determine whether the youth has any medical issues or concerns that need to be addressed or concerns that staff need to be made aware.
- MENTAL HEALTH SCREENING: Upon admission, all JFS and Court Placed Youth receive an initial screening to determine whether or not a youth is in need of any further counseling services or whether or not a youth is a danger to him or herself. A professional Mental Health Counselor conducts this screening.
- COUNSELING: Those who are involved with counseling will continue while placed at New Horizons.
- RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES: Activities are provided both in and out of house. Those activities can include roller skating, bowling, movies, dinners, board games, volleyball, walks in the park, etc.
- STRUCTURED ACTIVITIES: Built into the daily schedule is a structured activity time. During that time, residents have the opportunity to learn a variety of things. Those activities include but are not limited to personal hygiene, balancing a checkbook, budgeting, nutrition, laundry, stress management, peer pressure, exercising, job searching, apartment living, anti-smoking programs, tolerance, cultural diversity, relaxation activities. All materials for these activities are included in the programming.
- A REFERRAL SERVICE to the various agencies within the community.
- BEHAVIORAL SESSIONS for residents and their families.

MEDINA COUNTY JUVENILE COURT PROBATION DEPARTMENT

The purpose of probation is to hold juveniles accountable for their delinquent or unruly conduct. Juvenile law assumes children are capable of rehabilitation and correction. Probation officers investigate all aspects of the juvenile's case and make recommendations to the court as the best way to protect public safety and to achieve a permanent improvement in a child's behavior.

The juvenile probation officers have difficult jobs because of the many variables which affect a child's behavior. These variables include: the motivation and skills (or lack thereof) of the parents, the child's interaction with siblings, behavior at school and academic performance, the predominant influence of peers and the high incidence of mental health and social problems of today's teens.

The work of the probation officer is challenging and complicated but it is also rewarding. The probation department can point to hundreds of youth adults who have transcended the juvenile justice system to become outstanding people and law-abiding, productive citizens.

The probation officers have experience in both juvenile corrections and probation totaling 25 years of experience. The officers that work with the youth all have Bachelor Degrees in Criminal Justice.

MEDINA COUNTY JUVENILE COURT
The Ohio Department of Youth Service

The Ohio Department of Youth Services (DYS) is the State agency responsible for youth incarcerated by local juvenile courts. The Department operates eight facilities and contracts with one private facility. Some facilities are dedicated to particular programming needs such as substance abuse or sex offender programming.

Juvenile courts receive annual allocations from DYS for the local treatment of youthful offenders. Annual allocations are based on the number of felony adjudications a county reports in relation to the number of felony adjudications statewide; as well as another allocation based on county demographics. Medina County averages about 1% of the Statewide felony adjudications during a fiscal year of July 1 through June 30. From these allocations, deductions are made based on the Court's projection of the fiscal year commitments. After the courts actual incarceration costs are subtracted from the annual allocation, any remaining funds are paid to the Court for use in community-based programming.

Medina County Commitments

During calendar year 2005, 8 males and 1 female were committed to DYS. In January 2005, the Judge had a mandatory bindover the youth had previously been boundover by Summit County.
