Superintendent

Prior to 2012, the Medina County Juvenile Detention Center has detained youth from 10-17 years of age, however; last year saw a significant shift in the demographic we care for. A change in Ohio law now directs that within specified parameters, 18 to 21 year-olds are to be held in juvenile detention centers. This took effect in September.

While our average daily population was down from 2011, our total number of admissions was up slightly. 2012 saw 552 youth admitted to the detention center whereas 535 youth had been detained the previous year. During their detainment, youth are provided with programming and voluntary participation in pro-social activities. Speakers from various agencies provide education and information to our juveniles. Programming and services

Our mental health clinician began conducting a pilot Anger Management program with our youth last year. This is out of an evidence based curriculum that will be monitored for results. More than 395 hours of assessments, 122 hours of counseling, 42 hours of crisis intervention, and 37.5 hours of case management were conducted in 2012.

The detention center expanded its citizen advisory board last year from six members to 15 to better educate and involve our community, as well as to solicit a wider range of ideas on how to improve our services.

Ohio Department of Youth Services

The Ohio Department of Youth Services (DYS) is the state agency responsible for delinquents incarcerated by local juvenile courts. Juvenile courts receive annual allocations from DYS for the local treatment of youthful felony offenders.
