HILARIOUS NEW WORK COMES TO PORTLAND OCT. 4-6!

"Charms and delights its audiences." - Broadway World Houston

We are excited to bring our new work to Portland! "Now That You've Seen Me Naked - relationships uncovered" (PG-13) is an original sketch and musical comedy show poking fun at relationships. We will answer such important questions as:

- Are we all "mad scientists" in the laboratory of love?
- Can couples exist in the same bathroom?
- What do Prince Charming and Snow White talk about after that kiss?
- Do you know what's in your partner's nightstand?
- Is love just performance art?

With hilarious, original, memorable songs and scenes that cover everything from fairytales to the four seasons of love, you're going to want to put on your goggles and join the love experiment as they bumble their way to relationship enlightenment!

You can find us in our mad scientist laboratory at the Hill Arts (formerly St. Lawrence Theater) Oct. 4-6, 2024. Estimated run time: 90 minutes. PG-13.

Show creator Delilah Blake brings new works to vibrant Portland community

After running theaters in Houston and NYC, where original sketch and musical comedy shows were created and performed regularly by local talent, Delilah Blake is planning to do the same here in her new home, Portland, Maine.

For starters, she is bringing "Now That You've Seen Me Naked - relationships uncovered" (PG-13), a hilarious look at relationships through music and comedy, here this fall. "There was booming applause at the end of the show with people still giggling as they left the theater." - Broadway World Houston

Since relocating to Portland and loving the city and its vibrant theater scene, Delilah plans to open a venue here for her ever-evolving comedy troupe, The Lab Players. She looks forward to providing many more opportunities for performers, writers, and musicians, as well as uplifting entertainment for companies and charity benefits.
