

Kalahari Red Goat Society of Australia

KALAHARI RED GOAT SOCIETY OF AUSTRALIA Code of Ethics

KRGSA requests that all members sign, subscribe to and uphold our code of ethics, constitution and abide by the registration rules as well as promote high standards among breeders in the quest for the preservation, advancement and improvement of the Kalahari Red goat.

Registered members must support and promote all KRGSA events and related marketing activities.

Registered members must pay all fees in a timely manner to KRGSA.

Registered members must comply with all regulations from the KRGSA constitution and ethics to remain a member.

It is highly encouraged that all KRGSA members support the Society in having their fullblood goats DNA parental certified for future genetic assurance & marketability.

Any embryo transfer work where progeny is to be registered the owner is to provide proof of work carried out by their embryologist.

KRGSA encourages all members to keep EBV data, health and breeding records and to keep vaccinations up to date securing the health of their goats.

KRGSA encourages breeding of ethical means by ensuring does are not put to a buck, or any embryo transfer procedures completed before a minimum of 10mths of age.

Registered fullblood Kalahari Red goats with KRGSA DNA certification will have access to member tags displaying KRGSA branding.

Registered members must thoughtfully select the appropriate stud buck and doe with an emphasis on improved conformation, temperament and the overall qualities in line with the Kalahari Red goat breed as per the breed standard

Registered members must not knowingly misrepresent the characteristics of the breed, nor falsely advertise or mislead any person regarding the performance, registration, quality or health of the goat.

Registered members must not slander or otherwise malign any other KRGSA members or their goats. Any complaint from a member must be taken to the board. Behavior considered unseemly, against KRGSA ethics and bringing the society into disrepute shall be dealt with on an individual basis.

By becoming a member of KRGSA Inc and making membership payment to our bank account, it shall be deemed that you have accepted KRGSA Code of Ethics, Constitution, Rules, Recommendations and Breed Standard.
