

HUBBARDTON!

July 12-13, 2025

How often can we say that on this day we are standing on the very ground we are following the footstep of those we try to bring to life. Well, this year at Hubbardton battlefield you be able to, and we have some new and hopefully creative ways to recreate these clashing armies.

Morning Orders

Planned are extensive camps, battlefield tours, lectures and presentations, a memorial service to honor the fallen, a narrated tactical demonstration afternoon "At the Stone Wall" and reviving the private evening tactical on Saturday and the reenactment of the battle on Sunday morning. We will also be doing a narrated tactical "Cutting off the road to Castleton" on Sunday.

Also back this year is the last man standing competition for the Carl Fuller Cup. Registration will be inside the main entrance to the park and All Participants must register upon arrival.

The Brigade of the American Revolution (BAR) will be doing an educational presentation called the People of Hubbardton.

Artillery units are welcome to attend and While there were no guns at the original battle (at least none we can prove) we plan on using the artillery for the memorial service, tactical and demonstration. However, be aware that we will not use canons during the recreation on Sunday morning.

All units and their members are reminded that this event will run from 7:00 a.m. on Saturday, July 11th through 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, July 12th. Units will not be allowed to break camp until after the afternoon tactical on Sunday without the express consent of the Command Staff and Event Organizers.

The respective commanders of this event have been appointed by the State of Vermont Division of Historic Preservation. The Vermont Division of Historic Preservation asked that we emphasize the rule that No dogs or other pets are allowed at the park.

Hubbardton event.

Remember!

This event is open to units with good standing in either one of these organizations (BB, BAR, CL, BG) and as always, we appreciate those who dress to accordance to the time and place. We are depicting the Northern Armies of 1777 and encourage other to do so too. I hope you and your unit will join us this year and be a part of another successful Battle of

We are still planning, evaluating which might change activities as we want to give you an excellent time. keep an eye out for updates.
