

- Social Security is not an entitlement, it's our money we gave the Federal Government.
- Give it back when we retire as promised and stop terrorizing us.

We pay Social Security. We pay it expecting a check every month when we retire at a reasonable age not an ever increasing retirement age as threatened to us early and often. If Social Security is underfunded, then why did the government borrow against it in the past years and why is the current administration giving away trillions and trillions of our money we can't afford but saying Social Security is underfunded? Quit terrorizing our retired Americans with threatened cuts and fund it as a priority ahead of Incentives for solar panels, Electric cars, etc, etc, etc.

Repeal the 1.7 Trillion dollar inflation reduction act which is actually an inflation stimulation act that could be giving away millions to China for Solar Panels and Electric car batteries until the US places a tariff on those Chinese goods guaranteeing American goods are cheaper. We can, and do make solar panels and Electric Vehicle Batteries. Establish a China import duty, and stop the incentives and let our US manufacturing gear up to reduce our carbon foot print with organic growth not inflation stimulated growth taking our Nation further into debt and punishing Americans pocketbooks with the worse inflation in decades.

We need a competitive market that does not have China Uyghur's slave labor making solar panels competing against Americans that need to eat and afford mortgages. We passed trillions of dollars of bills in the last three years, some estimate as high as our 6 Trillion dollar yearly budget. Not one permanently funding Social Security. Demand permanent funding of Social Security from all of your elected leaders as a priority ahead of any other incentives now.
