I have developed substantial experience in music pedagogy and academic instruction, working with students at varying stages of technical and musical development. I have also cultivated professional expertise in music production, integrating contemporary approaches to sound, recording, and musical analysis into my broader artistic and educational practice.

VISION

To be a leading voice in classical violin and oriental performance and music education that bridges the rich tradition of Arabic musical heritage with the global classical world.

MISSION

To deliver exceptional musical experiences through performance and a world-class studio environment – nurturing the next generation of musicians while honoring the depth and diversity of our musical roots.

personal
SKILLS

A disciplined and detail-oriented musician with strong communication and teamwork skills developed through years of performance, rehearsal, and studio work. I work well under pressure, adapt quickly to different environments, and maintain a professional and organized approach in both individual and collaborative settings. My background in music has strengthened my creativity, critical listening, time management, and ability to deliver high-quality work consistently.

EXPERIENCE

I have experience as a violin performer, music instructor, and studio manager, working in both live performance and recording environments. Throughout my career, I have collaborated with musicians, artists, and production teams in concerts, rehearsals, and studio sessions while maintaining a professional and organized workflow. In addition to performing, I have provided violin instruction for students of different skill levels and assisted in recording, production coordination, and client communication within studio settings.
