

THE ART OF DESIGN

SPECTRAL

Style with substance

Introducing

SPECTRAL

An exclusive material developed by VEKA Group which will revolutionise the PVCu windows and doors industry.

This innovative surface uses groundbreaking patented technology to create an ultrasmooth, ultramatt finish that has unrivalled performance benefits.

More than just a fashion fad, a matt finish is now as popular as a textured surface and is the choice for modern and stylish projects. It has been the most popular preference for architects and designers for years, but this sophisticated aesthetic is now in demand by insightful, style-conscious consumers.

Ultramatt surface technology

When developing SPECTRAL, we began by looking at you. We understand that you need original products that not only look great, but offer exceptional performance.

SPECTRAL uses next generation surface technology to create an extraordinary finish that simply cannot be matched by any other matt PVCu surface on the market.

Highly durable, SPECTRAL is extremely scratch resistant and anti fingerprint. This special surface is also resistant to UV light, extreme weather conditions and harsh chemicals.

Dirt can be wiped away with ease for a product that stays beautiful for longer than the average laminate.

SPECTRAL reflects less light than most 'flat matt' finishes, generating an ultramatt appearance that absorbs rather than reflects light. This unique interaction with light creates a denser, richer quality of colour for a unique appeal.
