

Mold/lint/debris on office furniture

I found the following lint/mold-looking debris stuck in the creases of the mattress in or guest room where I spend all day working. Some of it appears (by eye) to be largely blue-ish. Some appears largely yellow-ish, but I mixed them together when I sampled them. (quarter included for scale; digital magnification at 1000x); this looks eerily similar to the debris that seems to be coming out of my skin

