

Woodshed

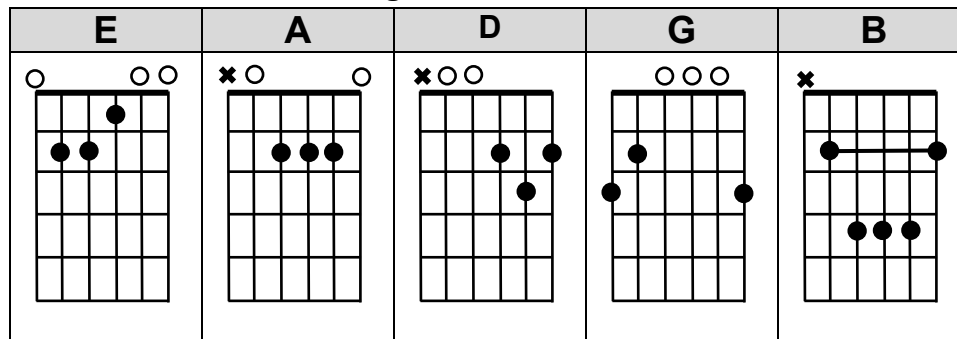

Background: This was the first song I'd written in over 25 years and it jump started a creative boom. It came to me from nowhere and was mostly written in about 10 minutes. It's meant to be a hard rocking song with a bit of southern rock flair in a Black Crowes kind of way but with a bit more guitar crunch like AC/DC. It's a simple but fun song that needs to be played with a band, and loud.
