

On the B Side

(Flip Me Over)

Background: This idea came from a Facebook meme making fun of flat-earthers. The meme had a cartoon picture of a flat earth-like a disc facing up towards the sun with all continents one side and illuminated. The joke said, how can the earth be flat if some continents experience day while the others night. I commented, jokingly of course, that perhaps the flat earth was like a record with some continents on the other side and every now and then someone flipped it over like a record. A lady commented under me, “well then, I must be living on the B side!” Hmmm. Living on the B Side. That should be the title of a song. It is now.
