Student Council

Seated: Barbara Jeffers, Secretary-Treasurer; Karen Shaffer, President; Jerry Gates, Vice-President. Standing: Ron Cullers, Vaughn Berkheiser, Roger Leland, Mr. Hess, Advisor; Phil Hoskins, Arthur Haas, Marge Wolf, Mr. Wysong, Advisor; Nancy Roahrig, Nancy Crown.

The Student Council has done much work toward the National Honor Society, which was initiated in the 1961-62 school year. Left to right: Libby Dorman, Daren Shaffer, Phil Hoskins, Ronnie Cullers.

During the 1961-62 school year, the student council has sponsored a clean-up day, dress-up days, homecoming exercises, dances, trips, for grade school children and has aided the principal in making and enforcing several new rules.

The purpose of the student council is to give the student body a voice in the making and administering of the rules the students are governed by.

This year it was voted that junior high students could become members of the student council, but could not vote on any issues.

National Honor Society

The Argos Chapter of the National Honor Society was named in recognition of D. R. Rohrer who was teacher, principal, and superintendent of the Argos Community for many years. Membership in the D. R. Rohrer Chapter of the National Honor Society is based on four qualities: scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The Faculty rated the students. From this rating, four chosen teachers and the principal selected the twenty-six sophomores, juniors, and seniors as members.

Mr. M. R. Robinson, sponsor of the Culver Chapter, and the Culver Honor Society members initiated the Argos students. Mr. W. O. Osborn, President of the State Exchange Bank, spoke on the application of intelligence.

The Student Council contributed a great deal to the organization of the Honor Society. Two years of work and investigation have gone into the founding of this chapter.

When Grandma Letty is voted "Grandmother of the Year," Stanley Nichols has to produce or lose his chances for his new novel. The impersonation of this great lady by Nichols complicates matters; and when the reporters suspect a scoop, they won't leave his home. Peggy, Stanley's niece, adds to this delightful comedy by her complex in which she is too normal for her intelligent boyfriend.

As we exit through the portals of our dear old Alma Mater, we are faced with mixed emotions. Regretfully we leave what for the past twelve years has been very dear to our hearts. This past being mirrored upon the screen of our memory, we can catch fleeting glimpses of the periods during which were felt the love-despair, joy-sorrow, light-darkness, victories-defeats, the success and failures. These we now realize as benefits in addition to our twelve years of accumulated scholastic knowledge, in that we are grown up in a so much broader sense. Now since we have taken inventory of the benefits of our past, we have passed through the portals and find the roads of life leading in many directions. All of these, which are clearly marked, allow us to choose the way in which we, individually, wish to travel. So we, the seniors, have now chosen our roads and plan to travel out into life with caution, determination, and the willingness to watch, listen and learn each mile of the way. So in parting voice we say to each other, "Happy traveling and may you come face to face with success at the peak of your journey."
