DAY WITH THE
DRAGON'S TALE
1967

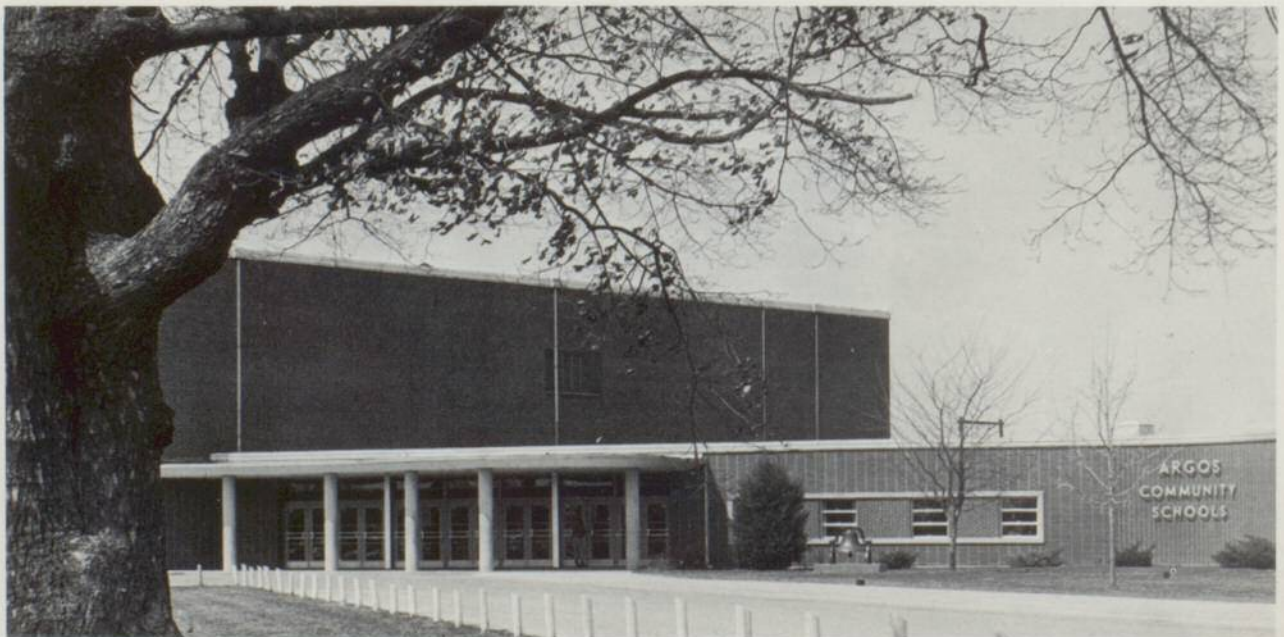

*Argos High School
Argos, Indiana*

Dawn Breaks on Draggin' Students

As early as 7:30, one might find an eager student at the school doors. At the same time, many are bouncing along on a school bus, while others, still in pajamas, are sleepily sipping orange juice. A few may have that economics test or some unfinished homework in mind as they drink their breakfast. However, probably most have other thoughts as they put on finishing touches for the school day.

Students Begin Daily Run at Starting Bell

The bell rings and a dozen doors fly open letting students make a mad rush to their lockers. Scholars-come-lately trudge through the snow, and unfortunate bus riders slide along the icy sidewalks halfheartedly trying to remember what they left at home. Meanwhile, the girls in the busy hair-combing, make-up slapping complex add finishing touches to their facades. At 8:14, students who were absent the day before gather in Mr. Gould's office for admit slips. All of this is the insanely hectic world of AHS students in the daily part of their lives from 8:00 to 8:15 a.m.

Morning Brings Housekeeping and Horns . .

You're sure this is the spot?

Mirror, mirror on the wall . . .

Study you're in smile hall.

Academics and Acting

Tutoring two tooters to toot.

Aunt Jemima?

Morning classes begin with the 8:15 bell at A.H.S. Amid the shuffle, reminders that the bell DID ring are heard. When the racket finally subsides, education gets underway with such novel classes as Wood-shedding (monotonous sectional practice in band) and Household Tasks in Ten Easy Lessons, a popular subject with first year home economics students. Ferocious growls from neglected tummies and stifled yawns of night owls sometimes prove to be the highlights of morning study halls. Mr. Rager's English classes did a little "playing" around, too.

Sweatshirts Go Home; Classes Go On

Judging from the dignified seniors in physics class, it might appear that morning classes are all fun and games. However, the fun ended when an organized by unsanctioned senior activity resulted in a trip home to return to school in approved attire. Muttered threats of possible uprisings didn't reach the grade school and junior high students who maintained a usual busy day. During the confusion even the underclassmen such as those in the first year typing class were able to continue normal activities.

Mr. Menser had a year's pass to the library.

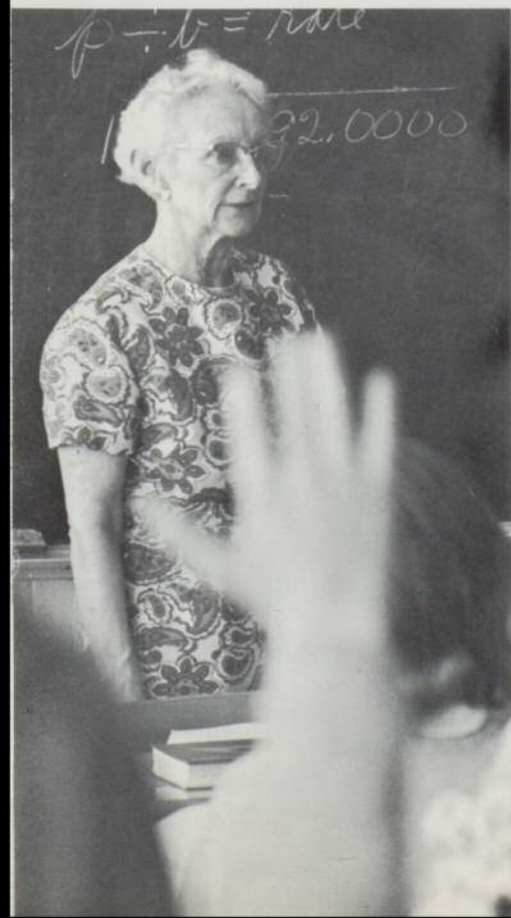

Mrs. Voreis awards a smile of approval.

What would they do without erasable typing paper?

And you think Edison had troubles!

NORMALLY, pies are round, but . . .

Students Cheerfully Complain About Cafeteria Fare; Faculty, for Once, Is Silent.

From the first sound of the 11:00 lunch bell to the last echoing ring at 12:42, the cafeteria spells action. The spectacle of a sudden mad dash for the chow line can be topped only by a quick glance into this feeding compound. Young eyes grow wide on hot dog days and noses wrinkle at the sight of that awful green stuff--spinach, broccoli? Weight-watchers, human garbage disposals, and even a few teachers, all take their chances on cafeteria fare. Meanwhile, let us not forget the soap and water slingers, laboring loyally to the last tray. In spite of constant complaints, noon hour still seems to be a jolly time for all.

Gentlemen refuel for the second half.

There are smiles . . .

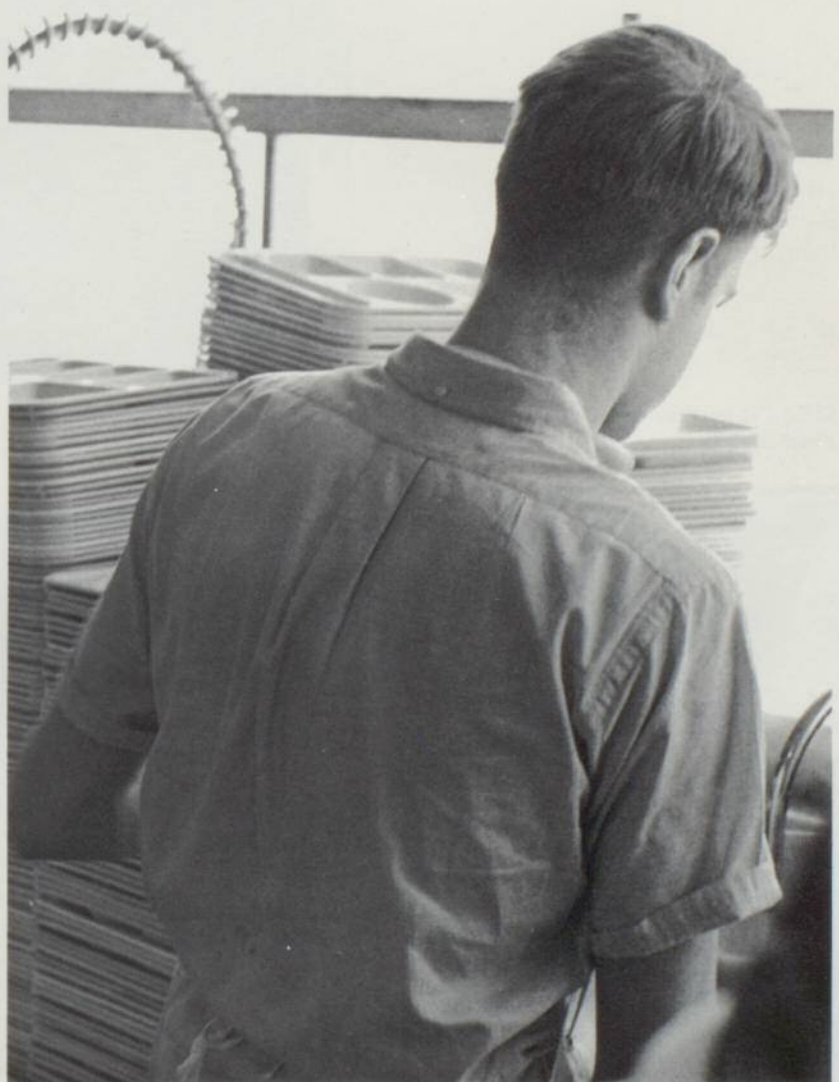

Mrs. Evelyn Hughes, Mrs. Mary Hooker, Mrs. Mildred Baker, Mrs. Violet Arick.

Eat now--diet later.

And Daniel Boone thought he needed elbow room!

Backbone of the basketball team and kitchen.

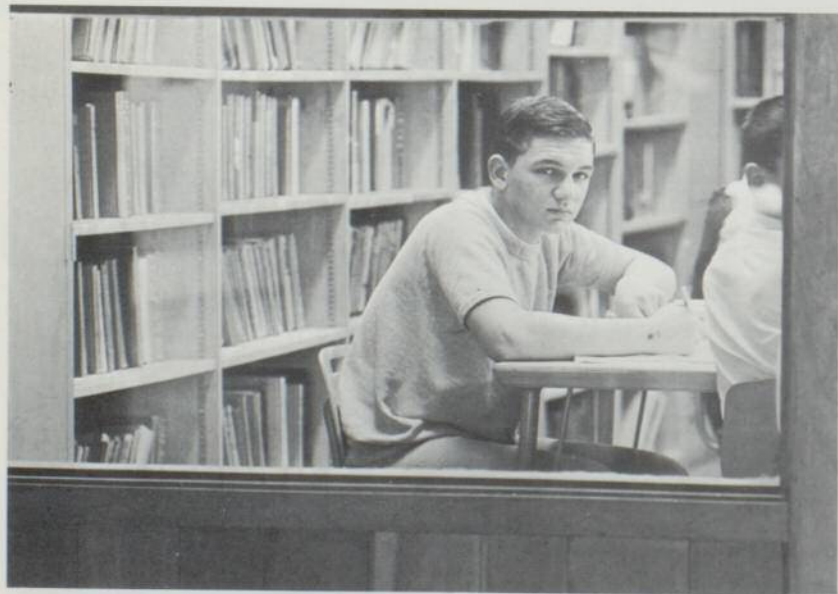

In the spring, every young girl's fancy turns from thoughts of school to dreams about vacation.

*Short Noon Hour Results
in Standing
Time Only*

Could it be that upperclassmen's noon hour stunts are more interesting than study hall.

Principal caught in act of stealing a child's lunch.

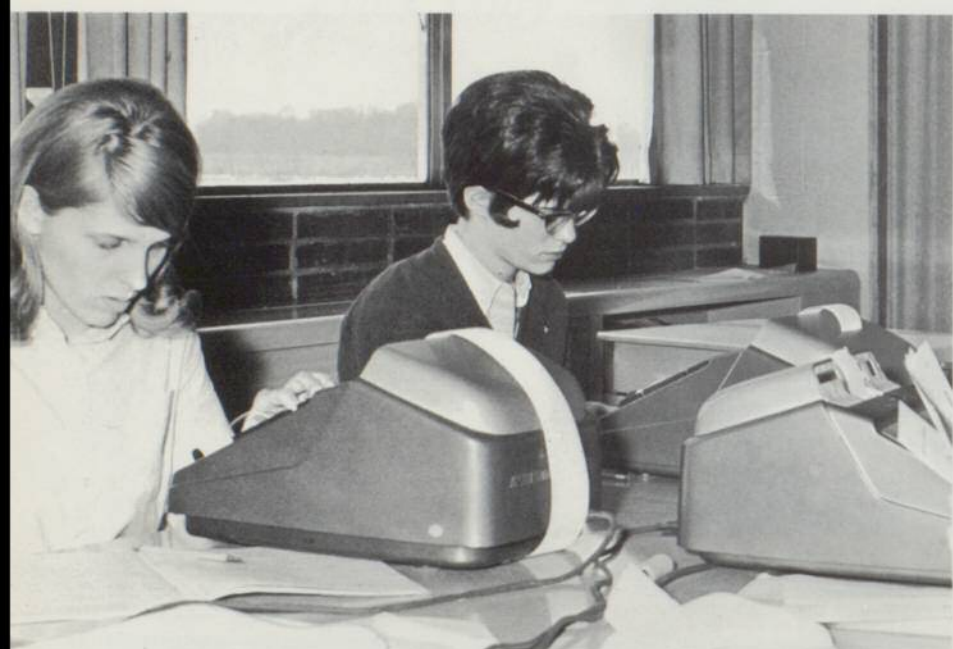

After one semester, juniors confiscated trophy case from seniors.

Where have all the young girls gone?

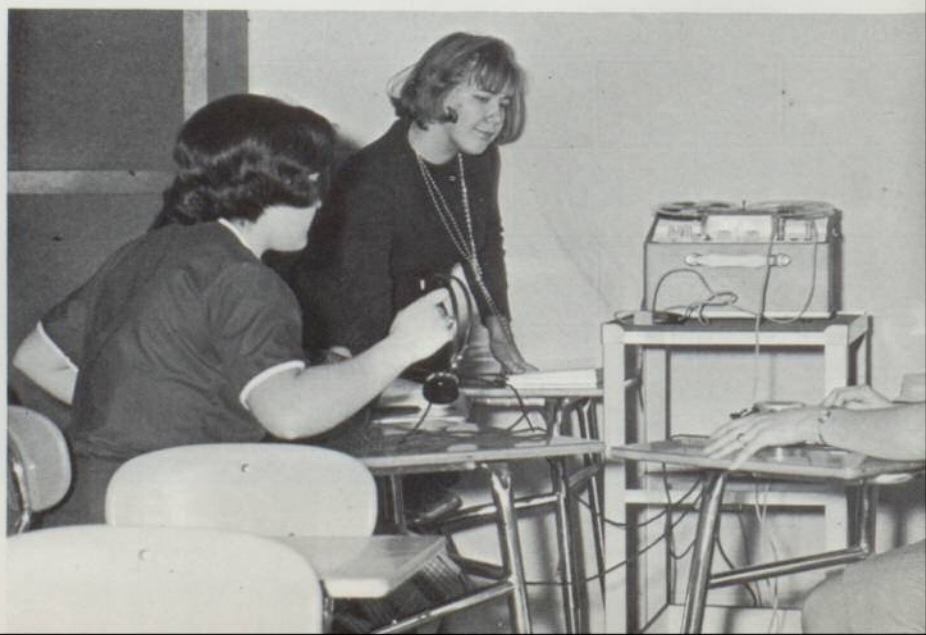

Fractured fingers and figures torment senior bookkeepers.

There's a world of knowledge at our fingertips.

Miss Mahoney thinks they're listening to Spanish.

The Afternoon Wears On . . . and On . . . and On . . .

Swingin' biology class teaches a lesson in fatigue.

Half-pint coffee break.

Even witches smile at Halloween parties!

Never thought school could be this good!

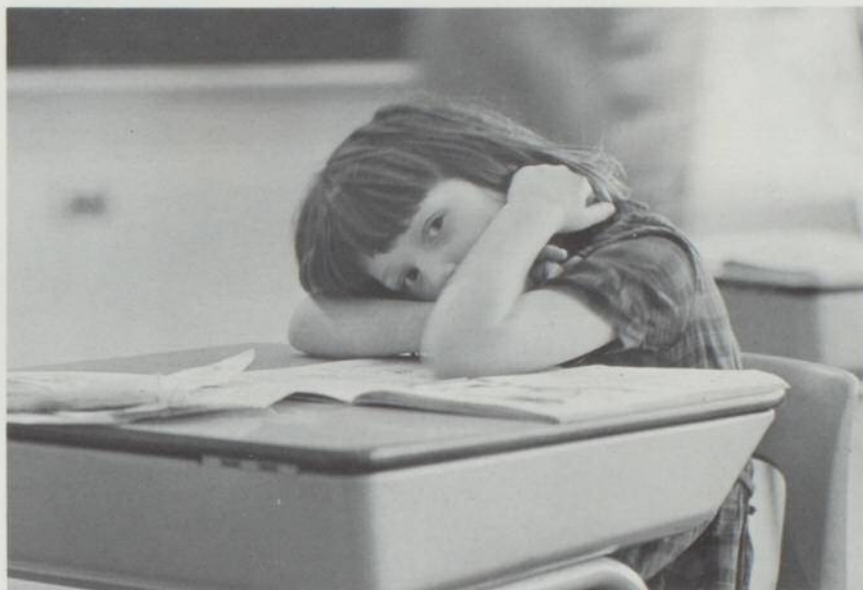

Wintertime-- fun time?

And Seniors Think They're Busy!

Who-o-o-o?

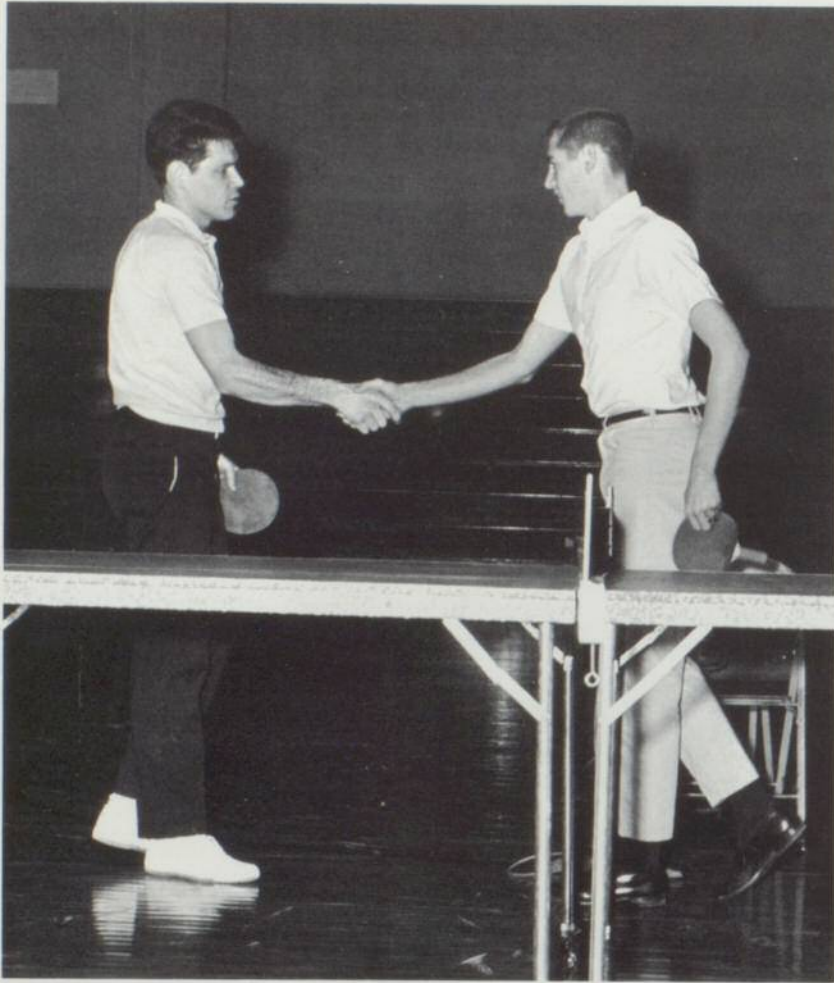

But I'm so tired!

Getting a head start as bookworms.

Next time I'll bring the ping-pong ball.

Hello Dolly

Students Willingly Cash in Class Time for Convocations

Student convocations took on a new life this year, with the help of the speech class. Their original skit at Thanksgiving satirized an ungrateful family, while at Christmas the commercialization of the Batman program and of the Christmas season were emphasized. During the year many well-known, interesting personalities presented programs varying from a performance by a Negro tenor to a demonstration by champion ping pong players to a world hitch-hiker's illustrated lecture. CMA also played host to county students for two cultural events.

I'll take this one sitting down.

That man Fatman?

A taste of culture.

Snow fails to impede 3:30 rush.

Underclassmen are engrossed inspecting their mug shots.

After School Hours Find Elementary Motivatin'; High School—Contemplatin'

fong, Chancey Dennie.

Vyron Staton: most valuable baseball player.

Brian Bell (right): most valuable in cross-country.

Kenn VanDerWeele (not shown) was most valuable in soccer.

Slugging, Running, and Kicking for Sport!

The soccer B-Team had only one goal scored against them.

Have you ever wondered what to do on those lazy summer evenings? Well, a trip around the west end of the gym during baseball season would have shown the Dragon batmen staging a last ditch battle to salvage a 4 to 9 record. A hazy fall evening would have brought the moans and groans of cross-country men complaining about practice each night. Seeing the soccer team battle to a 4 to 2 season would have been both a blood-curdling and entertaining experience. All three sports have many young challengers surging through the ranks, and there are predictions for a better season next year.

Cross-country was handicapped by lack of experienced seniors.

An exhausting 10 to 10 slate.

Perfect form shown by Steve Waechter.

Don Thompson scores.

Coach Menser fires up the boys.

Practice pays off for freshmen in four-way tourney.

Future Dragons Look Strong

Exciting afternoon games resulted as the younger Dragons found the formula for success: practice, spirit, and good coaching. The junior high will be adding height and skill to future high school teams. A scrappy freshman championship team will be filling vacancies on the B-team next year.

Arm to arm combat?

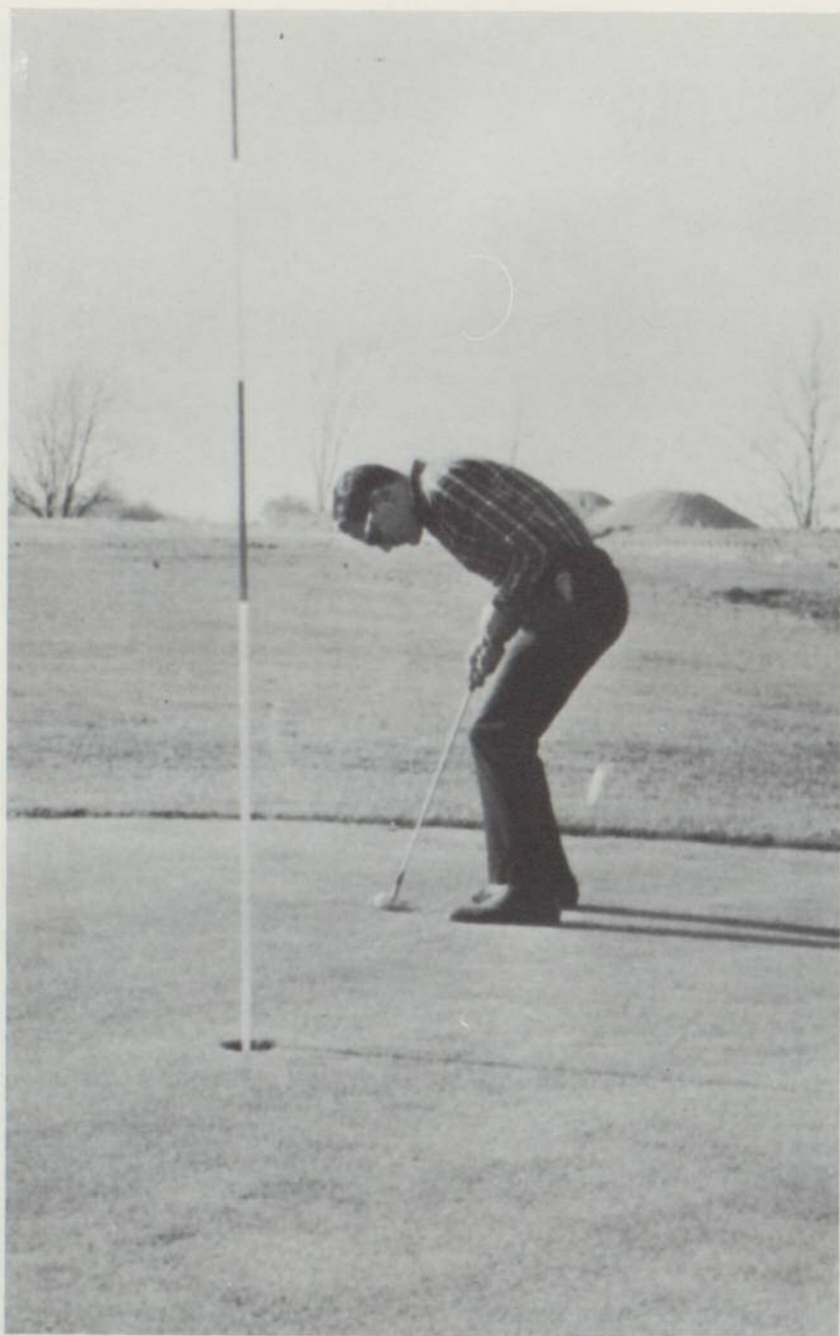

We've got spirit.

Steve's specialty.

Seniors clubman Dick Howton relaxes to put one in.

The Argos golf team ravaged the area leaving many larger schools astounded and little schools eager for revenge. The squad is losing only two of its five top men, and the prospects for a good next year are optimistic.

The track team was handicapped by lack of seniors and experience. The boys still ran to many victories and two records were broken. In the two mile run, freshman Harold Potter reduced the time from 11:51 to 11:20.3 while he and his teammates set the freshman 880 relay at 1:45 from 1:49.

Dennis Clark named most valuable golfer as squad annexes a 12-3 record.

*Golf Team

Cocah Menser predicts many records to fall in the near future.

Sweeping Range of Activities*

Rhonda winds up.

Libby flies for another point.

Jerry positions for the strike.

Steve easily swats the ball over the net.

Brenda bowls a strike.

The after school activities provided excitement for those involved. The Future Farmers of America meeting activities included such little known games as broom ball. Whether in intramurals or Girls Athletic Association, winning a game was an important factor. It took teamwork in the group competitive sports of volleyball, and the self-competitiveness in bowling proved a great personal challenge.

FFA boys play broom ball.

Sunshine Girls Dance with Sweethearts and Ente

Wade and Marilyn

St. Pat brought along a big crowd for the Sweetheart Dance.

Tired feet?

The Triton Chamber Singers directed by Mr. Donald Dowdy entertained at the Ideal Ladies Party.

tain Ideal Ladies

Don't smile--see if we care!

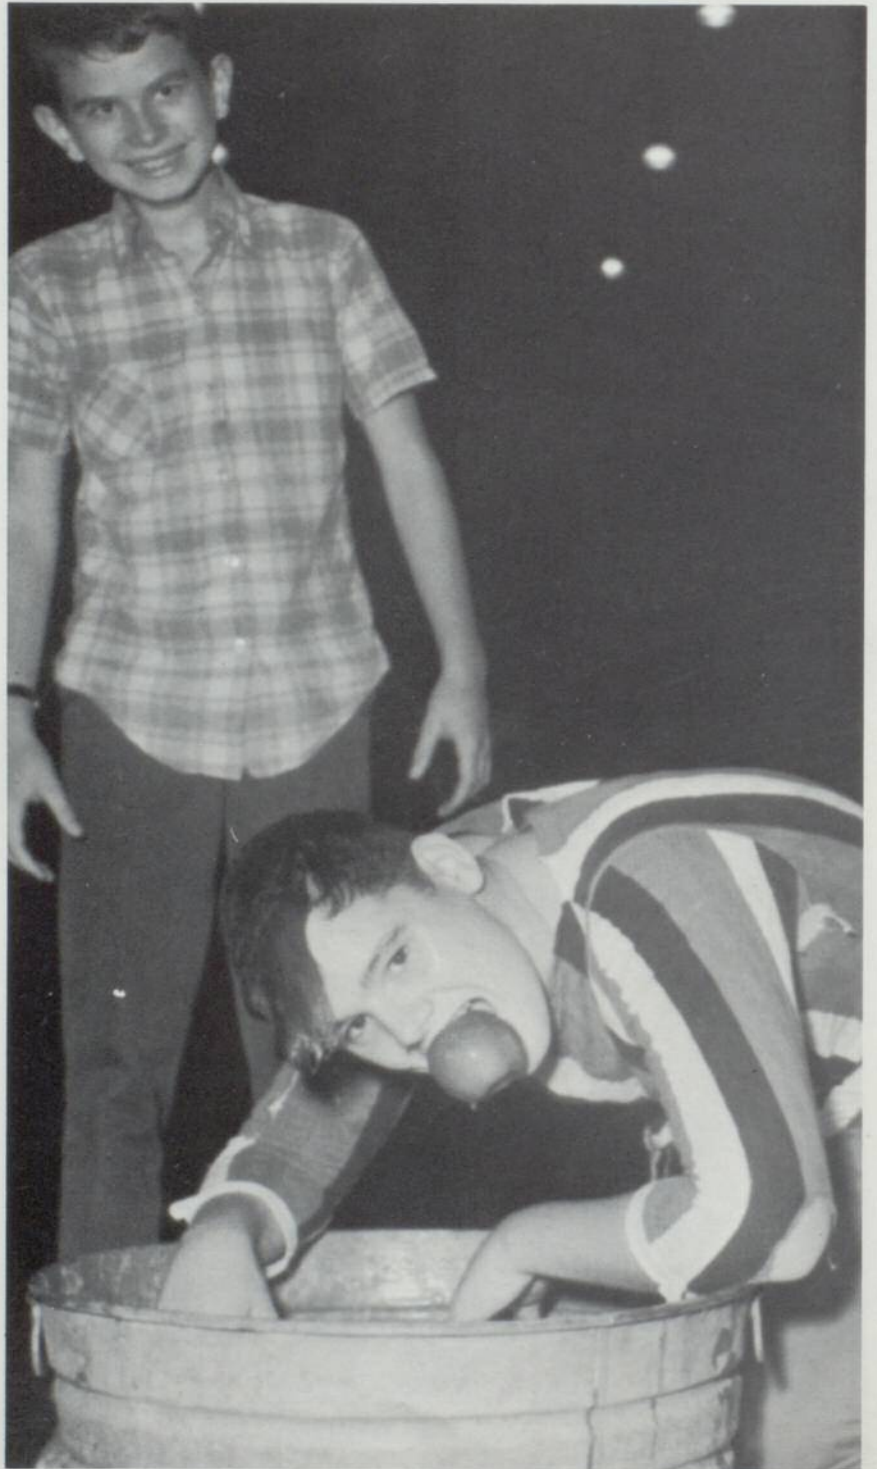

The Quartet's specialty was "Coney Island Baby".

October Brings Dancing and Dunking

Right: Lee, for once, is speechless.

Eighth graders come to Halloween party in all shapes and forms.

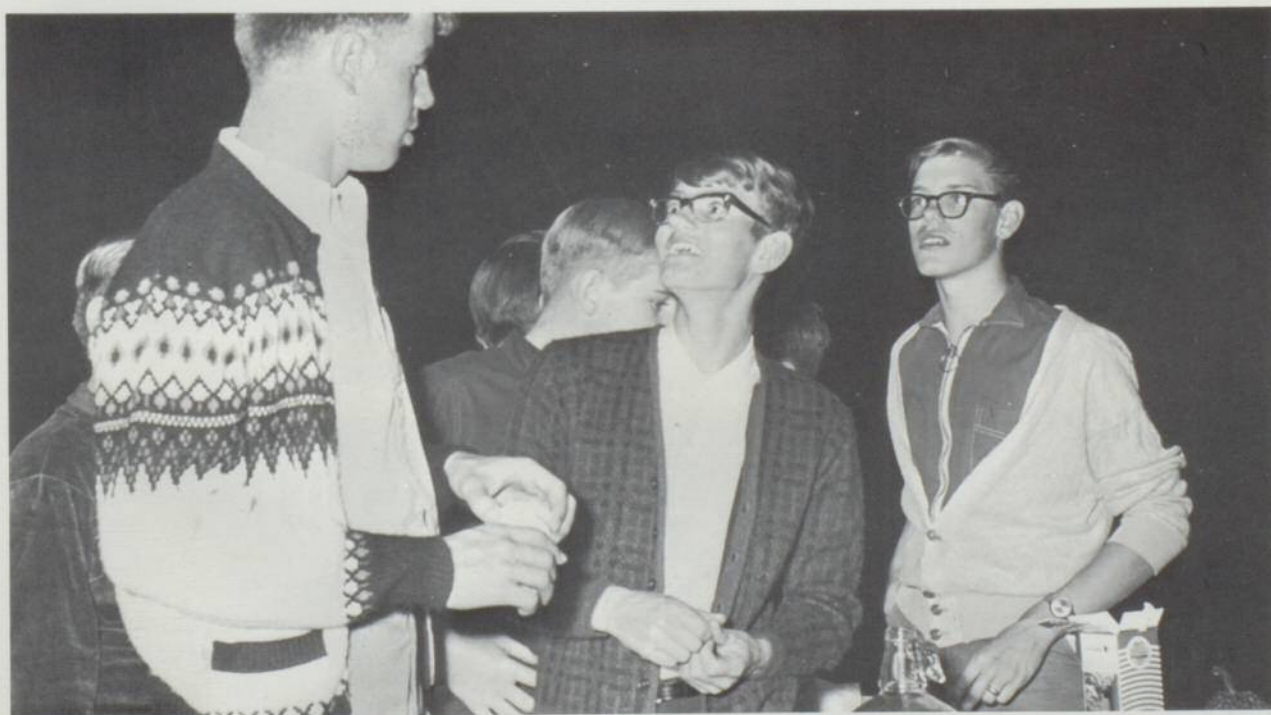

A few Argos students revive the lost art of dancing.

Beware of athlete's foot.

Honest, Keith, did you get that high on cider?

Evenings Bring Entertainment

Bob Bowell and FTA play went over with a bang.

The Dads waltzed with their daughters.

School activities in the evening almost outnumber those during the school day. The FTA chapter entertained Plymouth FTA members with folk-singing and a play at a Christmas party. Leah Warner gave a tissue paper-welcome at the Dad's Party before the fathers were taught how to keep up with their daughters. Mr. Jim Monehen also gave a few pointers to the Sunshine girls. Visitors to PTO Open House in November observed various exhibits and demonstrations.

Drug Activities

Eager learners observed a biological demonstration.

Teresa Monehen taught Dads how to blow their noses.

Mr. Hal Menser and son explained seventh grade Egyptian exhibits.

Grace was stuck with the label of scholarship.

Mike Heckaman thanked Mr. Martin for his Chapter Farmer Award.

Merl Hayn was selected for the Star Farmer Award.

Evenings Also Bring Rewards

As proof that school evenings really are busy, the National Honor Society induction ceremony and the FFA meeting in which the sweetheart was chosen were on the same night. At a later date, the FFA members honored their parents with a banquet and themselves with awards. The chapter sweetheart, Judy Smith, was crowned that night and later won district sweetheart.

In a candlelight ceremony held in the library, eight new members were inducted into the National Honor Society. The new members received NHS pins and membership cards and congratulations from all who were present.

"Don't tell Mama" pleaded Judy Smith during her talent act.

Mrs. Schultz pinned on Renée's NHS pin.

Bonnie Thomp- son Crowned Homecoming Queen

Enthusiasm mounting throughout the week of November 23 was climaxed when Bonnie Thompson was crowned the 1966 Homecoming Queen by Student Council President Dianne Weidner.

Queen Bonnie was presented a dozen red roses and an engraved trophy. The first and second runners-up received lovely orchid corsages, and members of the court were given charms commemorating the occasion.

The Queen and her court cheered the mighty Dragons on as they victoriously defeated Westville, 57-54.

Queen Bonnie reigned over the Argos-Westville game.

Second runner-up, Linda Patton;
first runner-up, Sue Martens.

Would you believe . . . wallflowers?

Homecoming candidates: Ruth Snyder, Marilyn Eley, Marilyn Martens, Peggy Becker, and Linda Roberts. Escorts: Tim Grolich, David Kaufman, Barry Hindman, John Bernero, and Steve Wagner.

Students danced to the music of the Highwaymen.

Dianne Weidner crowned the Queen.

Happiness is being in the Queen's court.

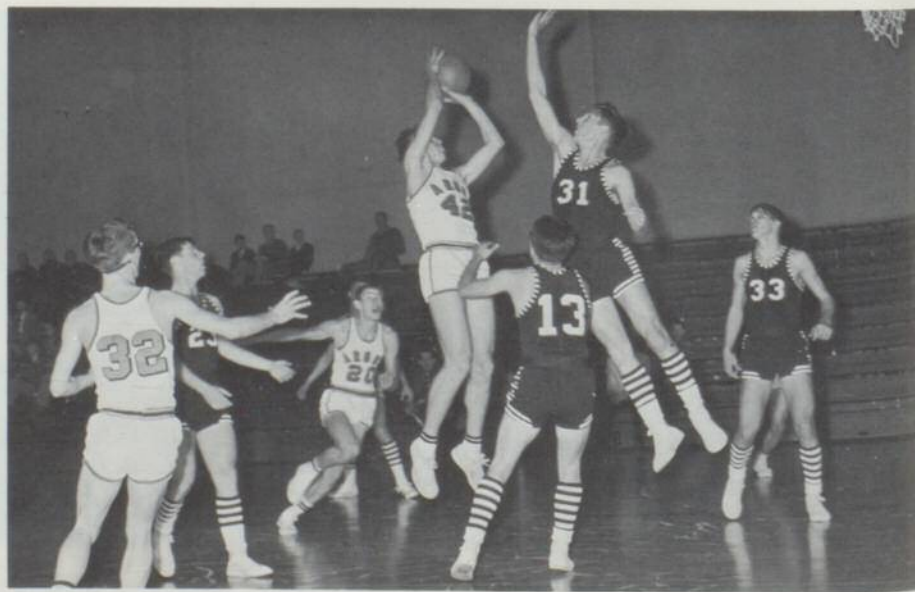

Keith clears the boards.

The Dragons harried a tough CMA team for three quarters.

Dragons Try Harder; Still Are Not Number Two

An eager, fast but inexperienced Varsity team fought to a 5-17 record.

The pep block and newly formed Little Rascals kept spirits high in tense moments such as those at the Bi-County Tourney where the Dragons staged a fourth quarter comeback by pushing their score within two points of North Liberty's. Keith Hardesty's balanced playing earned a position for him on the all-county team.

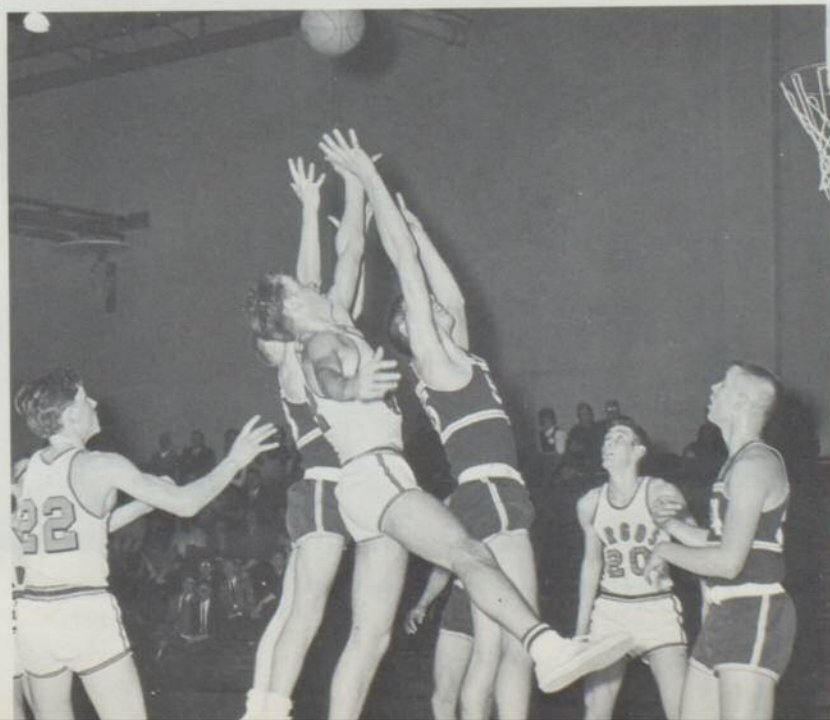

With most of the Dragons back next year, they should be contenders for the county title.

The Dragons kept Jackson jumping.

Greg lays up two.

Kenn sets and scores.

B-Team Establishes 8—12 Slate

The reserve varsity's season was marked by Argos freshmen and sophomores taking on juniors from other schools, yet they still won many games and were squeezed out in a few others. The team did a fine job and many individuals exhibited their talents on the floor. The prospects for a strong squad next year appears good as there are many strong freshmen moving up the ranks while sophomore veterans will be replacing lost varsity men.

Sophomores and . . . . . freshmen only made up the team.

Robert Voreis (33): Dragon Award Winner.

Bill Beam (31) led the team in rebounds.

Mike Hechaman (25): Dragon Award Winner and best free throw percentage.

Seniors Are Burned; Juniors, Well Done

"Hoody" has become a watch word with the Juniors since their highly successful production of "If Mother Only Knew."

The play was given on the gym floor in the semi-round. Ron Quimby, Allen Zentz, and Marion Trump canvassed the town for props while Keiko Wolfe and Claudette Shoemaker were responsible for painting and setting them up. Moral support in the way of prompters was given by Judy Smiley and Mary Tucker.

Although cast and crew breathed a little easier after it was over, all are anxiously awaiting the next big production in the fall of 1967.

Sally practices for future nursing career; junior gentlemen observe.

Tim and Cheryl keep a vigil over ailing Steve.

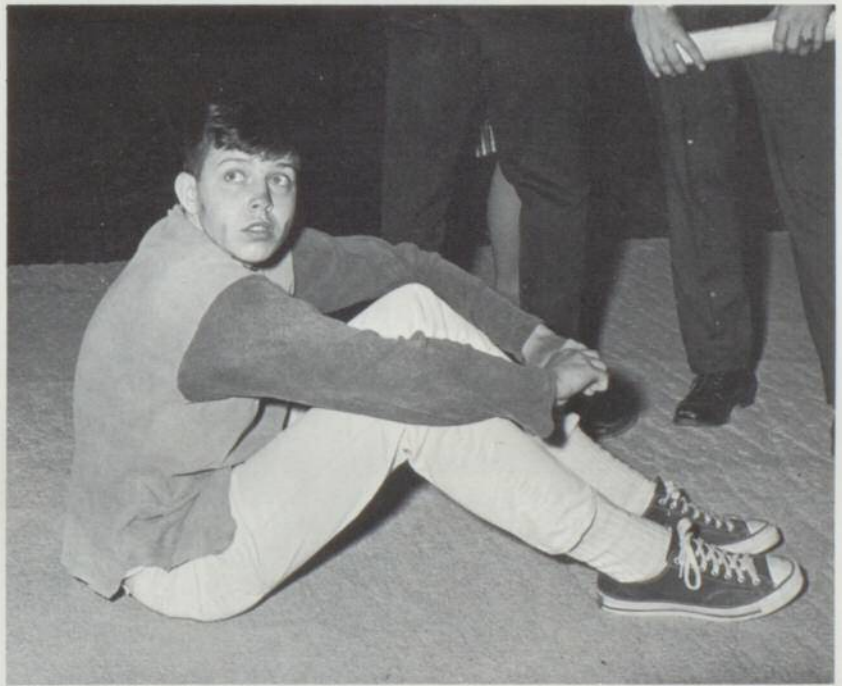

Leah, as Aunt Mary, anxiously awaits an entrance.

If you can believe your eyes--it's Gorgeous Goldenrod Grolich!

Claudette checks out Terry's make-up job.

Hoody!

Oriental Twilight Lasts Til Break of Dawn

Original creations of art carried out the theme of "Oriental Twilight." A bridge and reflection pool provided the setting for prom pictures while murals of Japanese scenes drawn by Keiko Wolf and Mr. Miller lined the wall. Girls dressed as geishas served punch and fortune cookies. The junior class hosts showed their ingenuity by using the lobby for dancing and the gym floor for a tea house setting.

Sherry Sherwood sang "Suki Yaki", a Japanese lullaby.

Juniors made many of their own decorations.

Sayonara to grapefruit juice.

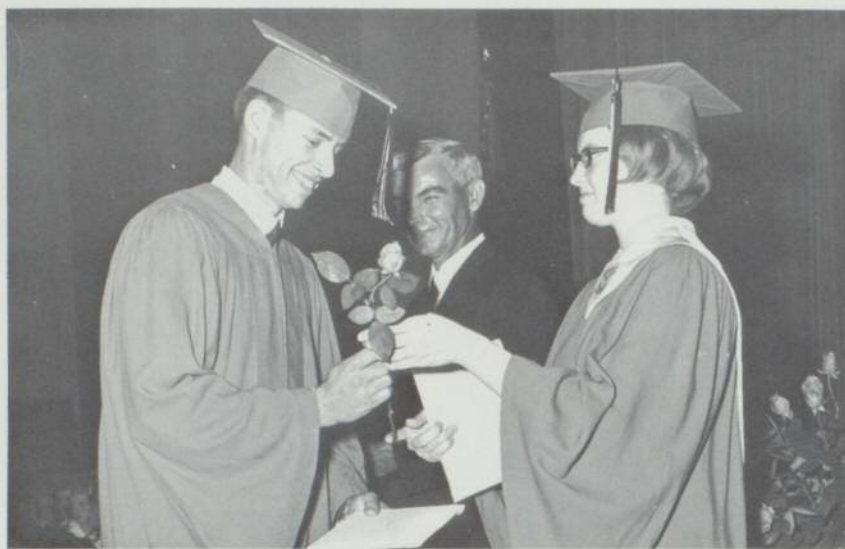

Don Amell Combo provided music for dancing.

Fifty-four Seniors Receive Diplomas Amid Tears and Cheers, Sighs and Good-byes.

Valedictorian Mary Berkheiser, one of five student speakers, illustrated the importance of wisdom in our society.

Why the big smile, Jim?

Bonnie Thompson, Salutatorian of the class of '67, showed how knowledge can be used to combat ignorance.

Liz finds the long-awaited moment too much to bear.

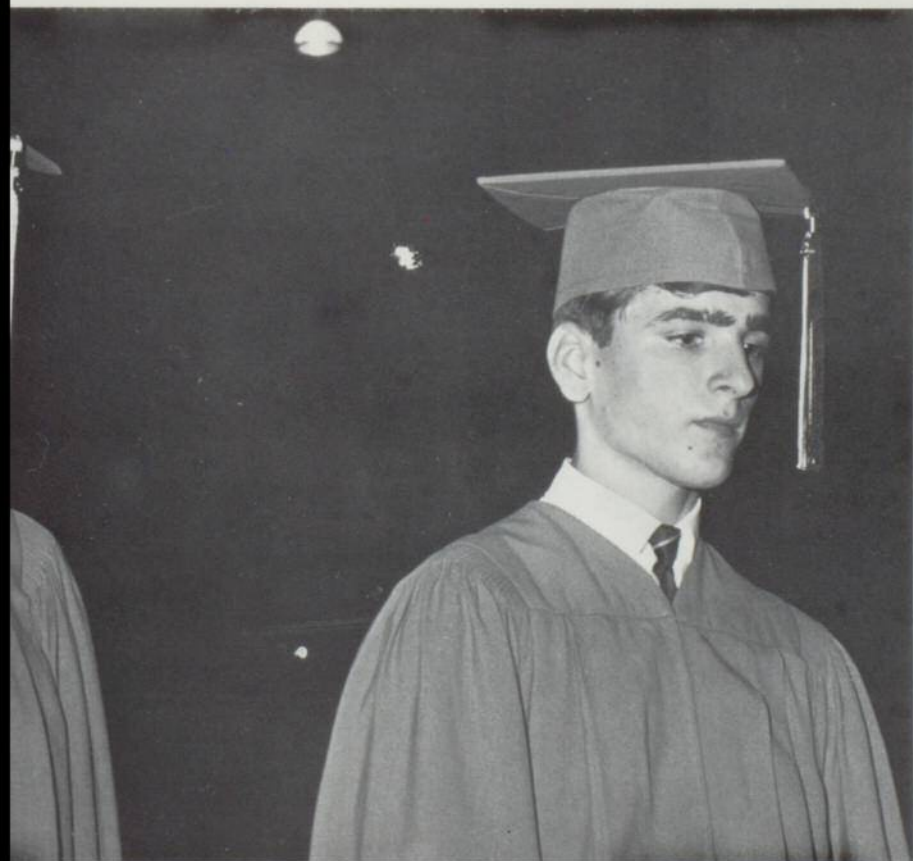

An embrace of true friendship.

Tom puts on finishing touches.

Superintendent Gerald Hess and Principal Merle Gould congratulate graduates.

Reminiscences overwhelm Judy.

The epitome of solemnity.
