The Many Faces of AHS

Argos is people in motion . . . Students begin long before 8:15 to prepare for the day ahead, and they work long after 3:35 to finish the day. Students are increasingly aware of life as they move themselves, their school and their community. Whether giving a speech in class, racing with the tardy bell, laughing with your classmates, crying because you lost . . . or won, putting the finishing touches on the 4-H float, helping a second grader read a sentence for the first time, or flying down a trail on your cycle. Argos is people in motion.

Dragons Have First Winning Season Since '64

A loose ball flying high in the air, the shrill screams of excited fans, and a winning basket a split second before the final buzzer were a part of the AHS basketball season, as the Dragons closed the season with a 12--8 record.

The dragons did not win easily by any means; they won because they fought hard and deserved to win. When the final buzzer sounded in the John Glenn sectional game it was not a buzzer signifying defeat. The buzzer designated the fact that the Dragons had gained the spirited backing of not only the entire school but also the community. When Argos came home from their final game, they had something to be proud of-- a winning season, a season that was the pride of the basketball team, the school, and the community.

Coming Ho

me to a Dragon Victory

At the conclusion of a spirited week at AHS, lights are dimmed on halls decorated with posters, balloons, and crepe paper -- proof of faith in our great team. Later that evening, attention is turned for a moment to the gym filled with an excited crowd watching our game with Westville. Music begins as smiling escorts usher in eight lovely candidates. The music stops . . . a hush falls upon all . . . it is the moment before the announced vote of the student body. Rosemand is crowned. Her tears and laughter become the same, and excitement resumes its normal level. We are proud of our new queen, Rosemand Bailey, and her court: Janis Van Der Weele, first runnerup; Debbie Hagan, second runnerup; JoAnn Sherer; Denise Martins; Susan Umbaugh; Teri Van Der Weele; and Vickie Keller.

DAR--GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Rosemand Bailey

Mr. Gene Irwin presents senior citizenship awards to Linda Hittle and Richard Ritter.

Kim Kaufman and Dean Zentz receive 8th grade citizenship awards from Mr. Irwin.

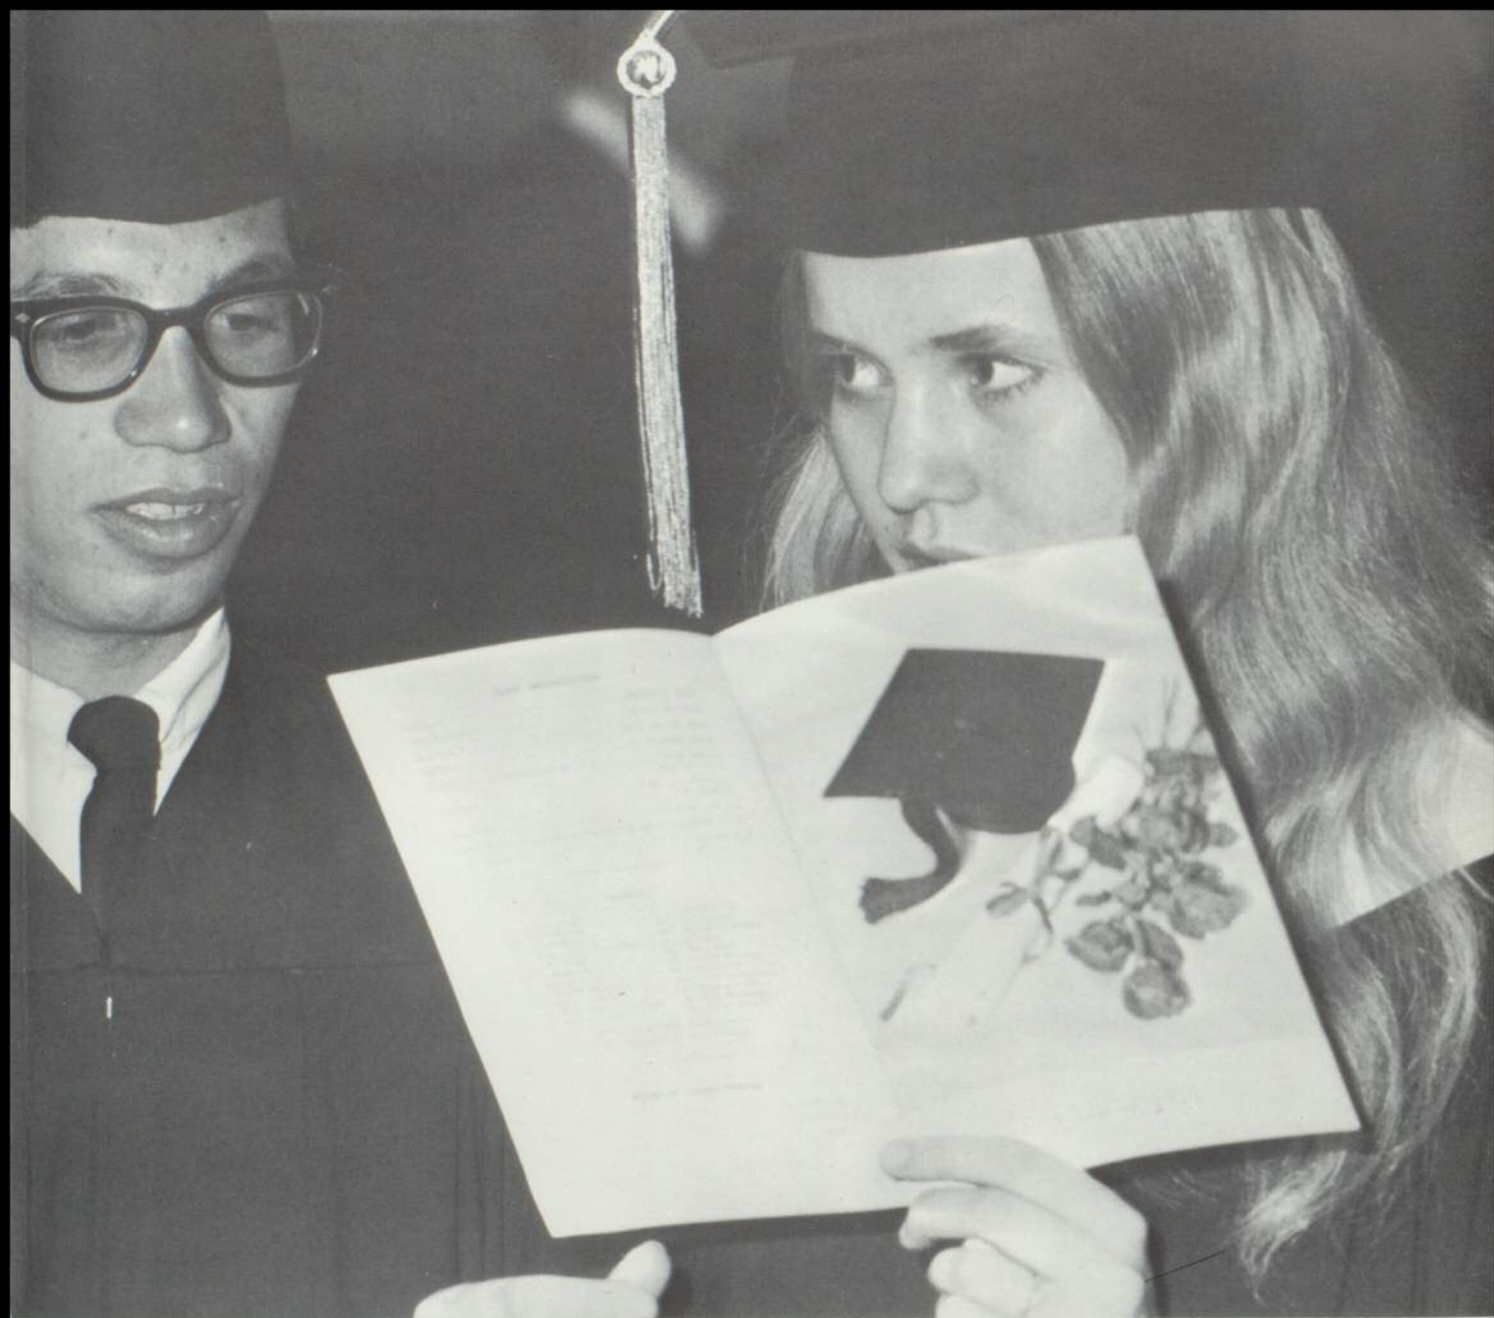

Kirk Thompson--Intramural Awards--for basketball, handball, ping pong, and badminton.

Gary Shenefield received the world history award, Janelle Wakeland received the U.S. history award, Paul Baker received the overall social studies award.

Rosemand Bailey--Dairy Award; Liz Warner--Outstanding Senior in Home Economics; Ann Stafford--Crisco Award

What do you do when a part of your life dies? As a senior, a part of your life dies when the final buzzer sounds in the last home game, when the band stops playing and the Prom ends with a final dance. A part of your life dies when you reach for your diploma and say goodbye to your classmates. It dies when you step out of the school doors and look back knowing that you can never be a part of that life again.

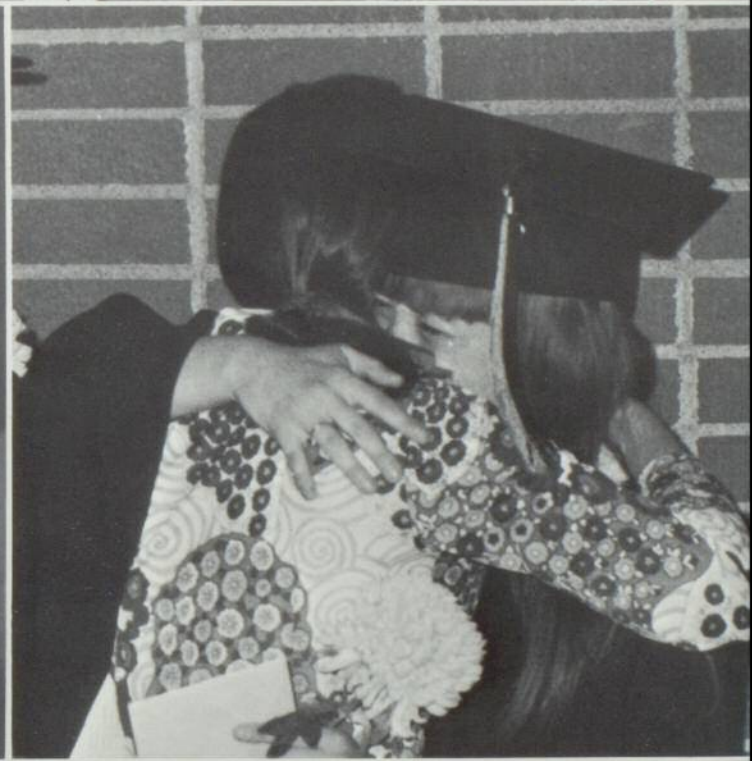

What do you do?

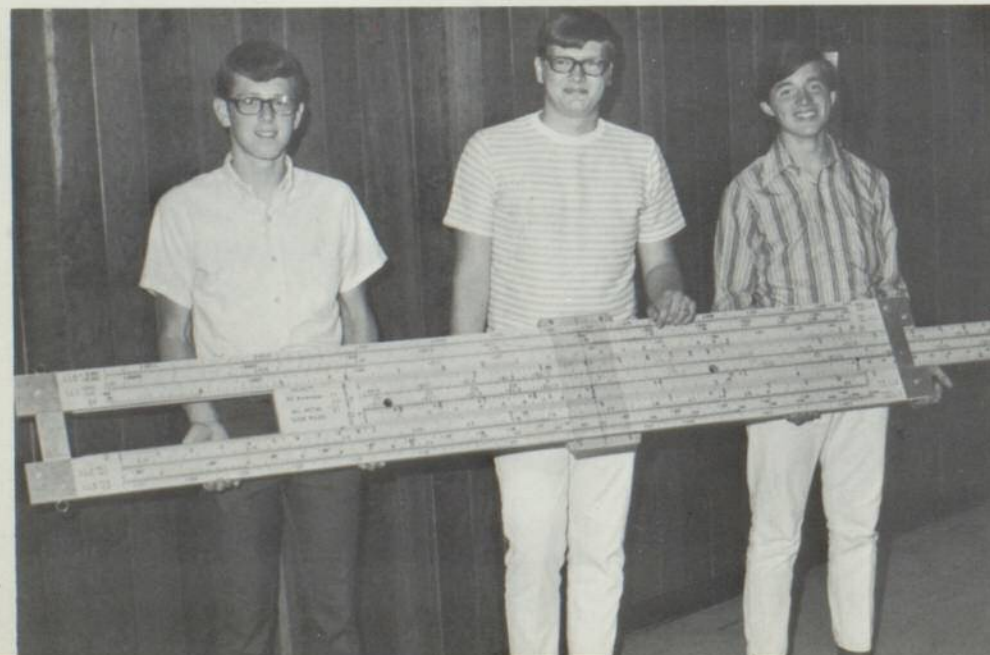

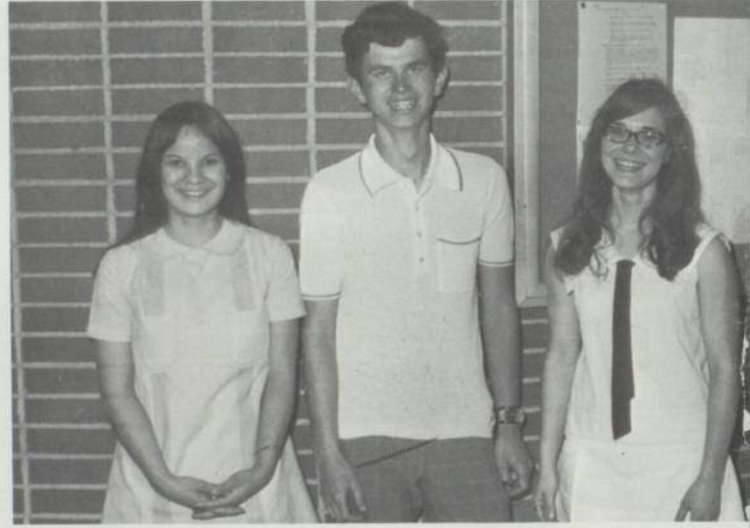

You live with the memory. The memory of a past life. You remember the basketball practices, playing Robin Hood in the first grade, your first kiss, the Prom. You even remember your first grade teacher. You remember everything. You remember because you know that you can never step into that life again.

Preserve your memories--you have nothing else left.

CLASSES

Language Arts Emphasize Total Communication

Mrs. Miller and Mr. Brunning were the two new teachers in the language arts department. Some of the highlight activities included playing French Scrabble and rewriting scenes from MacBETH into modern versions.

Learning Skills of Craftsmen

The shop class devoted a great deal of time to building benches for the lobby. Attractive lamps were constructed along with other various woodwork projects. On-the-job training was given to the auto shop students. The boys journeyed to Gates and Calhoun to work on autos every day.

Creating ellipsis in mechanical drawing involves the use of rulers, slide rules, pencils, and, of course, erasers. The advantage of mechanical drawing is that it enables students to learn to read blueprints.

Top: Jeff Patton is assembling a spoon rack in shop class.

Bottom: Larry Sheaks pauses as he examines his sketches in mechanical drawing.

Push-Buttons Boost Secretarial Proficiency

Typing business letters, office memorandums, postal cards, tables, and taking five-minute timed writings were projects of the typing classes.

The girls in office practice use their shorthand and typing skills every day in their studies. The students also learn how to use various types of adding and calculating machines and how to transcribe from a dictaphone.

Top: Jo Castleman appears to be wrapped up in her work.

Bottom: Girls in office practice seem to be engrossed in their work.

Family Living

From going steady to planning parenthood were discussed by the students in senior Family Living class. Other topics under consideration included buying a home, budgeting, and planning weddings. Several field trips were taken--to the Indianapolis Home Show, to Parkview Hospital in Plymouth, to the Argos State Exchange Bank, and Wickes Homes, Inc., (formerly known as Ritz Craft) in Argos. A lawyer, a marriage counselor, and experts on grooming and cake decorating served as guest speakers. During the last few weeks of school, the Family Living class was visited by five or six pre-schoolers once a week. Members of the class observed these children in an attempt to make generalizations about their behavioral habits.

Top: Ken Nifong and Lee Redinger are washing dishes after eating dinner that was prepared and planned by the Family Living class.

Bottom: Liz Thacker and Jill Weyrick carry on an informal discussion in class.

Local People Visit School

In an effort to explain to the public the building and curriculum of A.H.S., various guests were invited to visit the school once a month. The guests had lunch with the students and briefly observed each class.

Sherry Kendell reads a story to a class of elementary students.

Mr. Strycker speaks to a group of Argos merchants as they tour the school.

Library Starts Story Hour

Scientists Mix Compounds, Identify Matter

Taking a field trip on October 28 to Eli Lilly was the highlight for the physics class. Labs were on the agenda for the physics, chemistry, and biology classes. Filmstrips and movies were shown to better inform the science students.

Top: Weston Potter demonstrates distillation for the chemistry class.

Bottom: The growth of bacteria is being inspected by four boys of the biology class.

Phy. Ed. and Art Encourage Mental

and Physical Creativity

Grace, poise and balance were the goals of the physical education classes. Dancing was added to tumbling and relay racing sports.

The March 12 concert was highlighted by an art show. Art students from the entire school exhibited their projects.

Top: The construction of a pyramid is being demonstrated by the Freshmen P.E. class.

Bottom: Pam Weissert paints a light bulb for her exhibit in the March 12 art show.

Social Studies Sparks Interest Politics

Top: Social Studies books provide information for future voters. Top right: A frequent occurrence of government is open discussion. Bottom: Janelle Wakeland and Pam Grossman are conversing over the fundamentals of U.S. History before class.

Top Honors at Camp Promote a Winning Season

The Varsity Cheerleaders brought back a spirit stick for being one of the most spirited squads at the National Cheer-leading Camp in Iowa. They were also nominated for the Pepsi-Cola award for the best cheerleading squad. This experience helped them to earn a second place at the Bi-County tourney and to lead the team to a 12--8 season.

A chartered bus carried them to a livestock show and rodeo in Chicago. They also attended the Farm Progress Show. Dianne Roberts was chosen as the new F.F.A. Sweetheart.

Several individuals received awards at judging contests: Dan Voreis, District Swine Production; Steve Jennings, District Crop Production; Ken Nifong and Steve Jennings, State Hoosier Farmers. Ken Keyser, Tom Keb and Duane Watts attended a leadership training camp at Lake Oliver near Kendallville.

Future Homemakers

Future Homemakers of America attended the District FHA meeting at New Prairie High School in New Carlisle. The members throughout the year, enjoyed having a progressive supper, Christmas caroling at the TLC Nursing Home, and giving a tea for their mothers.

The Argos Sunshine Society started the year by initiating the freshmen in a candlelight service. For the first time, the Society this year attended district convention. Everyone who attended found it well worth the time to see the work of other organizations.

The annual candy sale was started in October. Debbie Gregory was the top seller, followed by Darcel Martins and Julie Campbell, respectively, in second and third places. Some of the money from this sale bought plaques for the water fountains purchased last year. The theme for this year's Sunshine Dance was "Candyland." The sophomores sponsored this and a good time was had by all.

In April, the Ideal Ladies party was held in the gym with entertainment provided by the Warsaw Swing Choir. Officers for the new year were initiated and refreshments were served to all.

The club toured the State House and the School for the Blind in Indianapolis during F.T.A. Week (March 21-27). A member of our chapter, Phyllis Leland, was selected as Area 3 Miss F.T.A. The F.T.A. scholarships, given to outstanding seniors, concluded the club's activities.

It was a sad song, but yet somehow a happy song--I guess it could be called a learning song. This song was played by Miss Hoggatt and Mrs. Cook at the Sixteen Banquet on May 26, 1971. It was a song dedicated to the Singin' Sixteen. It's a song for everyone. It's a song that is appropriate for an ending. I think it's more than appropriate for the ending of the 1971 Dragon's Tale.

Tad Van Der Weele

Sing your song clearly, teach us its sound . . .
let it stay in our heart for awhile
you're the world's hope for dreaming
help men want to grow,
your being alive is a nice song to know.

Every bright, new, growing flower
must be unharmed to grow and live.
So should all becoming people live together, learn to give.

Look to see each person asking for a hand to find his way-- reach out until he can believe you take his hand, begin today.

Sometimes people can't find answers
don't turn away, don't ask them why.
let them know that you're there, caring when someone's down, help them to try . . .
