CHESS JOURNAL

Official Newsletter of the Scott County Chess Club

Come join us on first Saturdays!

Our meetings are held on the first Saturdays of each month so everyone can mark their calendars and plan ahead to join us.

The next meetings will be held in Forest on May 7 at two locations: Forest Public Library - 9 to 11 a.m. (210 S. Raleigh St.)

Foothills - 1 to 3 p.m. (1039 Highway 35 (southbound side))

Everyone at every skill level - beginner and up is welcome to attend either or both meetings!

Players may bring their own chess set and board if they have one. We will have boards and sets to use.

Chess interest meeting planned in May

Our May gathering will include an extra feature in the form of an interest meeting for more people to learn about who we are. This is the same kind of meeting we held in 2018 when we were first organizing the club. It is a means to recruit more people who may be interested in joining.

The meeting will be held at the Forest Public Library on May 7 at 9 a.m. in the community meeting room. We will provide information about chess and the club for persons who are new to the game and those who have experience and are interested in participating. Tell your friends to come check it out. If you missed the original meetings, this is a good way to find out more about our operations.

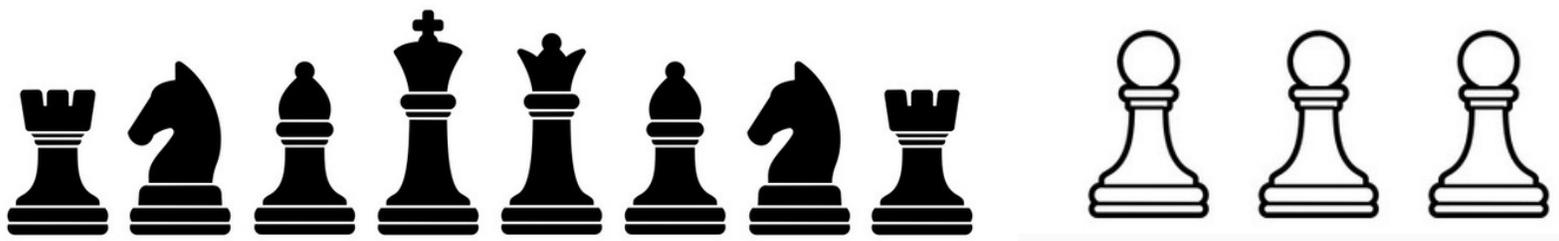

Chess on SuperTalk radio

Chess will be the subject of the day again on "Good Things with Rebecca Turner" on the SuperTalk statewide network on May 26 from 2 until 3 p.m. This will be the second time that SC Chess is featured on the show since Nov. 19.

In the first appearance, SC Chess founder Chris Baker talked with host Turner about the game and its increasing popularity during two of the show's three segments. This time, there will be a recap and developments since November, but more focus will be placed on tournament action which was not discussed before. Listen in through their web site at <https://www.supertalk.fm/shows/goodthings/>

Chess Merit Badge workshop planned for fall

The Boy Scouts of America have embraced how special the game of chess is and offer chess as a merit badge. The St. Louis Chess Club first introduced the Chess Merit Badge in 2011. It has become one of the most popular badges in the Scouts BSA merit badge catalog, with over 250,000 scouts earning the badge.

Scouts do not have to go to St. Louis, however, to earn the badge. The Scott County Chess Club wants to do its part in helping any scouts to earn the badge. We had planned to host a workshop in June, but will have to postpone until the fall. More details will be announced as they become available.

Tournament action is all around

Many chess players are content to just play casually whenever the opportunity arises. This may include accepting a spontaneous invitation from a fellow chess player or attending a local chess club. However, there is another level to the game of chess - tournaments.

Tournaments are great ways to see how much progress a player is making in learning and growing in the game by discovering how they stack up against other players. It is also an opportunity to learn from other players in seeing a variety of strategies and styles of play. Like any other competitive activity, it is good to keep a healthy attitude and perspective, but playing in tournaments can reap many rewards.

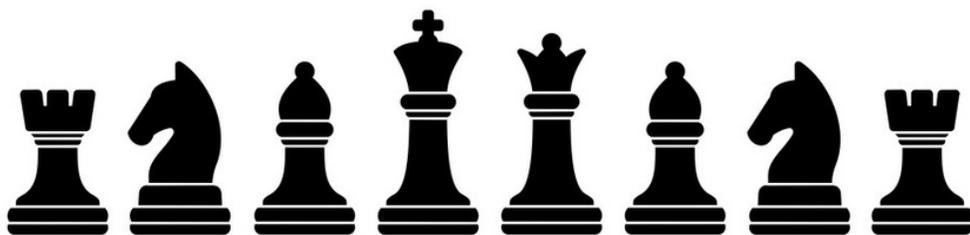

Some players enjoy just playing in a random tournament for fun and experiencing the opportunity to learn and grow. Other players are more competitive and really get into tournaments, seeking to win and advance as far as they can go. They may have aspirations for earning master, grandmaster status within the U.S. Chess Federation through their rating. It is up to each individual to determine what kind of chess life they wish to have.

In Mississippi, there are many opportunities to participate in tournaments. The Mississippi Chess Association sponsors a state tournament each fall for adults and youth. Youth may also participate in the annual scholastic tournaments. These events are precursors to representing the state on the national level at many events.

Tournaments usually include registration fees and players choose what sections they wish to participate in, based on their skill level as determined by their U.S. Chess Federation rating. Tournaments may also include team play where individual players' scores are combined and calculated for overall scores. Prizes may include cash, trophies, plaques, medals, ribbons, and certificates.

'A day
without chess probably wouldn't kill you, but why risk
it?'

Grow through chess tournaments

Clocks and notation

When getting into playing tournaments, two major differences a player will find as opposed from casual play is the use of a clock and chess notation. These are adjustments that a player needs to bring into his participation, but they are not impossible to incorporate.

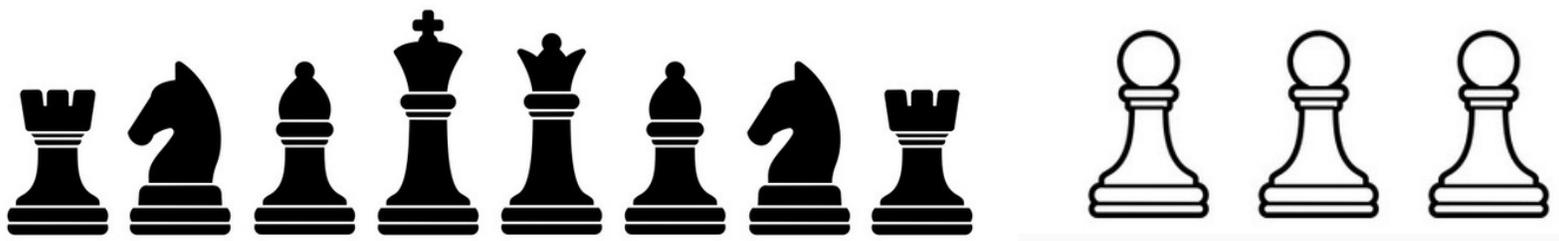

The clock simply keeps games from lasting forever and allows tournaments to run smoothly on schedule. It also teaches players the value of making decisions in a reasonable amount of time. While some traditional settings may use analog clocks for nostalgia purposes, most clocks using in modern tournaments are digital.

Notation is a means of players writing down their moves and those of their opponents using algebraic symbols and abbreviations. Notation allows players to keep track of their moves so if there is a question or dispute over the legality of a move during a tournament, a decision can be made by a tournament director. In most cases, notation is required when playing rated games.

Even more valuable, notation allows players to keep their games for purposes of reviewing them later to see what mistakes may have been made. Chess teachers use notations with students in helping them improve. Notation also allows more experienced players to make their games available to other players to help them improve. It is widely used in chess publications where games are shared.

'Life is full of important choices.'

U.S. Chess Federation

The U.S. Chess Federation regulates and governs the game in the United States. It sanctions tournaments and officials as well as oversees the ratings system that measures players' skills.

Chess is recognized as an essential tool that promotes inclusiveness and benefits education, rehabilitation, recreation, and friendly competition.

US Chess 2022 Goals

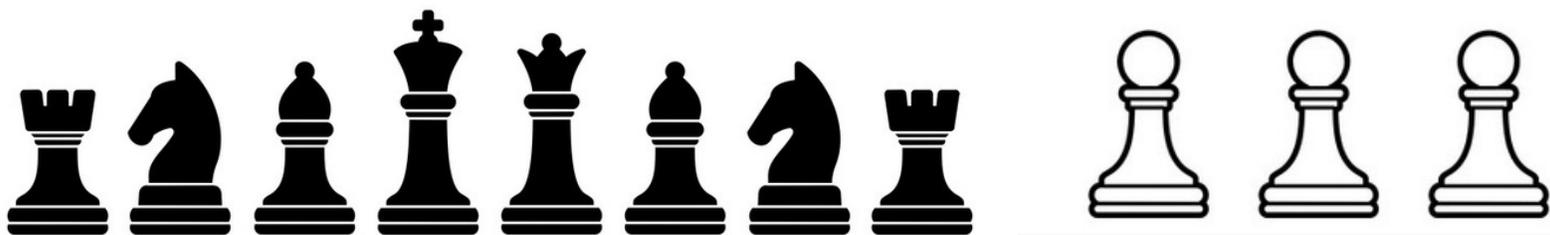

- Expand the educational, social, recreational and rehabilitative applications of chess.
- Increase the visibility of chess on mainstream communications channels.
- Develop the depth and breadth of our partnerships.
- Use chess to increase opportunities for under-represented segments of society.
- Continuously improve internal operations and member services.

US Chess Core Values

- Education. We promote the transformative power of chess for lifelong personal growth.
- Customer Service. We endeavor to be responsive, adaptive and proactive in providing services to our customers.
- Excellence. We strive to be the best we can be as an organization and in service to the game.
- Integrity. We honor, preserve and promote fair play.
- Inclusion. We believe everyone has a seat at the chess table.
- Love of the Game. We embrace chess as a historic and iconic game, and we celebrate its history, growth and evolution in our activities and services.

Players must join the Federation to obtain a membership number which is required when registering for rated tournaments and other rated events. Tournament directors submit results to the Federation which impacts a player's rating.
