Chess News Highlights

Plans for a new year

We have high hopes for a great year with much potential for continued growth in 2024 as we enter our sixth year of playing Chess in Scott County.

We will have our usual activities including our monthly meetings at the library, but we plan to expand further into the community with additional opportunities to spread the game at more locations.

We will have our two major tournaments - one in April and the other in November. We hope to see more local participation in those tournaments in addition to the strong statewide appeal. There may also be an opportunity to add another smaller event.

We also look to bring back our Scout Merit Badge clinic to assist Scouts in earning the Chess Merit Badge.

We will have a presence at the local city festivals through the year - Lake and Morton in the spring, Forest and Sebastopol in the fall.

We look to host another Chess Camp in the fall at the Forest library. We are also looking to add features to our website and our newsletter.

This is just the beginning - come join the fun!!

Scott County Chess Club sponsored tournament

3rd Annual Bienville Chess Classic is set

MORTON – The 3rd annual Bienville Chess Classic tournament is set for Saturday, April 20, 2024, at Roosevelt State Park in Morton. This event will feature only individuals playing rated and unrated games. Registration is open! Our first Bienville Classic in May 2022 attracted 32 players from around Mississippi and we had players come from Louisiana and Florida. The player from Florida won the grand championship after driving 17 hours to play. Last year's tournament attracted 45 players. Our combined turnout for all five tournaments held is now 251 players, including those returning and new players each time.

Before we go any further, recognition goes to our past sponsors who generously donated funds to help make our first three tournaments successful. Most of, if not all, of them have expressed an interest to continue this year and we may even have some new sponsors added. This is a tremendous benefit because their contributions help keep the registration fees and expenses as low as possible which means funds left over after all bills are paid can be carried over to the next event. We really appreciate the support from the community and the businesses who have helped make these tournaments possible.

Black History Month in Chess

The game of chess is rich throughout history of cultures and civilizations around the world participating in this great game. We honor and salute them for their contributions. We recognize African-Americans who contributed and those who still serve to keep the game going to future generations of humanity. More information is on our web site.

Dr. James McCune Smith (1813) was the first Black American to hold a medical degree, which he earned in Scotland, not being permitted to study medicine in the United States. Smith was a passionate intellectual, a vocal and active abolitionist, a pioneer in modern medicine, and a great chess enthusiast.

'Chess is like life. There are rewards for good choices, consequences for the bad choices.'

Paul Morphy, the so-called Pride and Sorrow of Chess, one of the most celebrated chess players of all time, has some African heritage. This is quite a claim for Black Americans, and all of the Black chess community, as Morphy is arguably the most ingenious chess mind to have ever lived.

Maurice Ashley is a Jamaican-American chess grandmaster, author, and commentator. In 1992, Ashley shared the United States Game/10 chess championship with Maxim Dlugy. In 1999, Ashley became the first Black chess grandmaster.

Darrian Robinson is the highest-rated African American female chess player in the U.S. Chess Federation. Her USCF rating is 2086 and she holds the title of "Candidate Master." Her career became notable in 2006 when she ranked 6th in USCF's girls under 13 ranking. She represented the U.S. in Batumi, Georgia, at the World Youth Chess Championship.

Tournament action is all around

Many chess players are content to just play casually whenever the opportunity arises. This may include accepting a spontaneous invitation from a fellow chess player or attending a local chess club. However, there is another level to the game of chess - tournaments.

Tournaments are great ways to see how much progress a player is making in learning and growing in the game by discovering how they stack up against other players. It is also an opportunity to learn from other players in seeing a variety of strategies and styles of play. Like any other competitive activity, it is good to keep a healthy attitude and perspective, but playing in tournaments can reap many rewards.

Some players enjoy just playing in a random tournament for fun and experiencing the opportunity to learn and grow. Other players are more competitive and really get into tournaments, seeking to win and advance as far as they can go. They may have aspirations for earning master, grandmaster status within the U.S. Chess Federation through their rating. It is up to each individual to determine what kind of chess life they wish to have.

In Mississippi, there are many opportunities to participate in tournaments. The Mississippi Chess Association sponsors a state tournament each fall for adults and youth. Youth may also participate in the annual scholastic tournaments. These events are precursors to representing the state on the national level at many events.

Tournaments usually include registration fees and players choose what sections they wish to participate in, based on their skill level as determined by their U.S. Chess Federation rating. Tournaments may also include team play where individual players' scores are combined and calculated for overall scores. Prizes may include cash, trophies, plaques, medals, ribbons, and certificates.

U.S. Chess Federation

The U.S. Chess Federation, now based in St. Louis, Missouri, regulates and governs the game in the United States. It sanctions tournaments and officials as well as oversees the ratings system that measures players' skills.

Chess is recognized as an essential tool that promotes inclusiveness and benefits education, rehabilitation, recreation, and friendly competition.

US Chess Goals

- Expand the educational, social, recreational and rehabilitative applications of chess.
- Increase the visibility of chess on mainstream communications channels.
- Develop the depth and breadth of our partnerships.
- Use chess to increase opportunities for under-represented segments of society.
- Continuously improve internal operations and member services.

US Chess Core Values

- Education. We promote the transformative power of chess for lifelong personal growth.
- Customer Service. We endeavor to be responsive, adaptive and proactive in providing services to our customers.
- Excellence. We strive to be the best we can be as an organization and in service to the game.
- Integrity. We honor, preserve and promote fair play.
- Inclusion. We believe everyone has a seat at the chess table.
- Love of the Game. We embrace chess as a historic and iconic game, and we celebrate its history, growth and evolution in our activities and services.

Players must join the Federation to obtain a membership number which is required when registering for rated tournaments and other rated events. Tournament directors submit results to the Federation which impacts a player's rating.

Benefits of playing Chess

- Improves concentration and memory. According to studies done at the University of Memphis, playing chess significantly improves children’s visual memory, attention span, and spatial-reasoning ability.
- Enhances reading and math skills. With its focus on problem solving and move variables, chess can improve math skills. Studies show that chess improves reading skills as well.
- Fosters logic, critical thinking, and creativity. Chess favors the “if-then” thinker. “If I move here, then my opponent may move here, here, or even here.” That’s logic and critical thinking in action! Studies also show that chess boosts creativity, most dramatically in one specific area—originality. Playing chess helps unleash your originality, since it activates the right side of the brain, the side responsible for creativity.
- Encourages and rewards hard work. Chess offers immediate feedback. Lose your focus, lose a piece. Practice and study the strategies, win more games. In chess, you control your destiny.
- Promotes brain growth. Games like chess that challenge the brain actually stimulate the growth of bodies that send out signals from the brain’s neuron cells. Communication within the brain improves and becomes faster.
- It exercises both sides of the brain. A study indicated that when chess players were asked to identify chess positions and geometric shapes, both the left and right hemispheres of the brain became highly active.
- Raises your IQ. At least one scientific study has shown that playing the game can actually raise a person’s IQ.
- Helps prevent Alzheimer’s. A study found that people over 75 who engage in brain-games like chess are less likely to develop dementia than their non-board-game-playing peers.
- Increases problem-solving skills. Chess requires fast thinking and problem-solving on the fly because your opponent is constantly changing the parameters.
- Teaches planning and foresight. One of the last parts of the brain to develop during adolescence is the area responsible for judgment, planning and self-control. Chess helps this area’s development and helps teenagers make better decisions in all areas of life.
- Optimizes memory improvement. Playing chess improves your memory, mainly because of the complex rules you have to remember, as well as the memory recall needed when trying to avoid previous mistakes or remembering a certain opponent’s playing style. Many chess players have exceptional memory performance and recall.
- Improves recovery from stroke or disability. Chess develops fine motor skills in individuals who have disability or have suffered a stroke or other physically debilitating accident. This form of rehabilitation requires the motion of chess pieces in different directions (forward, backward, diagonally forward motion, diagonally backward motion), which can help develop and fine tune a patient’s motor skills, while the mental effort required to play the game can improve cognitive and communication skills. Playing can also stimulate deep concentration and calm, helping to center and relax patients who are experiencing different degrees of anxiety.

Most of all - Chess is FUN!

'Life is full of important choices.'

'In chess, there are no losers.'

Either you win or you learn ...

sometimes both.'
