HELLO ALL (The Group of 7,665+ and growing):

TRUDEAU BROKE THE LAW - WAS IT CRIMINAL?

We know that what Justin Trudeau did in the SNC-Lavalin affair was unethical, but was it criminal? The Ethics Commissioner found that Trudeau broke the law by violating the Conflict of Interest Act when he pushed for SNC-Lavalin to get a sweetheart deal to avoid bribery and corruption charges and a lengthy and revealing criminal trial.

What the RCMP needs to determine now is whether Trudeau is guilty of obstruction of justice. “The RCMP is examining this matter carefully with all available information and will take appropriate actions as required,” the RCMP said in a statement. That doesn’t tell us whether Trudeau is actually under investigation, but he should be.

“The evidence abundantly shows that Mr. Trudeau knowingly sought to influence Ms. Wilson-Raybould both directly and through the actions of his agents,” Ethics Commissioner Mario Dion wrote in his report. For people that think trying to influence the attorney general not to prosecute a company on bribery and corruption charges is no big deal, stop and think about that.

The report stated that Prime Minister Trudeau was trying to “circumvent, undermine and ultimately attempt to discredit the decision of the Director of Public Prosecutions.” That means that the Prime Minister wanted to decide whether a company would be prosecuted by how he felt about them.

We do not have a justice system that decides who should and should not be prosecuted based on who you know in the PMO, but that is what Trudeau wanted.

The Criminal Code defines obstruction of justice as someone who “wilfully attempts in any manner to obstruct, pervert or defeat the course of justice in a judicial proceeding.”

Did Justin Trudeau's actions fit within that definition? As former Ontario attorney general, and Liberal, Michael Bryant (who now heads up the Canadian Civil Liberties Association) stated: "A lot of police officers have laid a lot of obstruction of justice charges on a lot of ordinary Canadians, with a lot less evidence than this," Bryant said.

In the "olden days" in the British Parliamentary system, a Prime Minister found guilty of breaking the law for an offense such as this would have immediately resigned, as that was the honorable thing to do.

Let me guess - I bet that thought NEVER crossed our Prime Minister's mind!

OUR READERS' COMMENTS SECTION

1. From a Reader: You hit the nail on the head with your article on the CBC. They are nothing more than a left-wing propaganda machine..... all paid for by the gullible, naive and too-polite-to-complain taxpayers. However, the biggest threat to our country by far is Quebec and the Bilingualism legislation that is allowing them to gain political and financial control of this country. Just think.... you cannot be Prime Minister, hold any politically powerful or decision making role, or even work for the government unless you speak french. There are hundreds of linguistic communities in Canada, yet we give 100% of the money, power and control to only the french. Why? Why are we not respecting everyone equally? Why do we allow the french to portray this blatant discrimination as "equality" for them? Because one devious french politician (PET) put this time bomb into our constitution and told the Quebec separatists "why settle for just Quebec? With bilingualism you can have the entire country".... and they are well on their way to that reality. People need to stand up and SHOUT against this. This, by way, dwarfs any other threat to our country. Quebec needs to be kicked out of Canada. Both Quebec and Canada will be much better off for it.

2. From a Reader: I think this [SNC-Lavalin] affair raises the question of what Canada means to Quebecers. Trudeau is saying he did all this for them. He put their interests, and SNC's, and the Liberal Party, ahead of ethics and the Rule of Law, and ahead of the interests of all of Canada. Do Quebecers really believe that the commercial interests of some Quebecers are more important than having a country that is based on principles of honesty and justice? The whole world will know this. Will Quebec vote for a person who sees his job in the way Trudeau does to continue to lead our country ? If so, what kind of country is this?

3. From a Reader: Elizabeth May lives in a state of suspended infantilism. She seems the sort who lived far too many years in her parents' basement, never really growing up as did you and I, detached from reality and inventing a dreamworld in which she gets to be the queen and we mere mortals must bow to her every whim. Such is the inclination toward authoritarianism shared by so many of her ilk. I wish I could snap my fingers and as if by magic they would all go away and leave us alone. But no, we have to endure them! It's bad enough that these people are annoying and tiresome, but they are able to seize the fearsome power of the state to turn their world of make-believe into a hell on earth for the rest of us. Lord, deliver us from petty tyrants who suffer from Little God Syndrome.

4. From a Reader: Here are my thoughts about the CPC campaigning on a promise to remove the GST from health supplements, especially the ones in health food stores. A lot of people are into "healthy living" and spend a lot of money on vitamins and health supplements from health food stores, pharmacies and supermarkets. Progressives see the CPC as the party "obsessed" with tax cuts, which they see as bad unless it affects them directly. This would be a campaign promise that would be very hard to put a negative spin on. Plus it would shine a very "progressive" light on the CPC and would help soften the party's image, especially by beating the progressive left to the punch! It would look more substantial than the new LPC Pharmacare gimmick, which like most of their offerings is starting to look pretty tattered and lame. Anyway, just thought I'd share that in case it might be a viable addition to the CPC'S campaign.

ACTION ALBERTA - WHO WE ARE

We are a group of deeply concerned, unpaid Alberta resident volunteers. Our work is intended to educate, inform and motivate all Canadians to be visible and vocal regarding the unequal, unfair and discriminatory treatment of Alberta by our Federal Government. Alberta's energy sector is the most important driver of the Canadian economy and its health directly impacts the standard of living of every Canadian. Unfortunately, that is not happening under our current Federal government!

Please share this email with your contacts so we can turn this unfair, inequitable, unjustifiable travesty around for the good of all Canadians. If you would like to submit information or articles, please send them to me.

Thank you for ALL of your support and interest!
