Tracee 00:00

Hey, everyone, this is Tracy here, Ron can't be with us today. But this is our q&a with Francis and Ryan, who are the developers of the amazing CAC map. And let me just also add that this map is optional, because some people, you know, aren't ready to play this far. And I also want to say that, that you can have a CAC without putting it on the map, it just helps all of us. If we have like, we're looking for gaps, like places that are missing a CAC. So then we can have benefactors go and jump over there. So with that said, I have a lot of questions. We have 79, we're not gonna be able to probably get through all of them. But I will just go ahead and read the question and then turn it over to you guys to answer sound good. That's fine. Okay. So the first question is the CAC map currently located on the quantum computer. So the information as entered is already on a secure server, similar to an even better than the HTTPS.

R

Ryan/Francis 01:10

I'll take this one but currently know it we don't have, I don't know anybody that does have access to the quantum computing system. If anybody is able to open that up to me, then I'd be happy to move it over there. But currently, everything that goes into the database is encrypted. It's it's exceeds HIPAA and PCI compliance standards. And, yeah, we're working on getting the SSL certificate so that many of you will not see that annoying morning in your browser. But yeah, as far as, as of right now, we're not on the quantum computing system. And, you know, I'm looking forward to moving that over as soon as we can, probably after RV. So that would be my guess. But that's hopefully that answers the question.

T

Tracee 01:59

Yep. That is good. Second question from this person is we have only listed one CAC per LWS member. Now that the basic location information has been entered, may we quickly move to CAC map 2.0, please. So we can list in more than one city area or region. And in more than one country, perhaps at a date for those projects starts on tickets online, we're not ready to move on to the next phase, which is where we open up to more than one CAC. The reason for that is that we're still getting new members coming on board. And we'd like to get a better picture of things as they happen. And if and when it does happen, I think Ron will be the person to make that decision as to you know how we open it up? Exactly.

R

Ryan/Francis 02:27

T

Tracee 02:57

Yes. And you guys don't want to spread yourself too thin. You know, I mean, at the beginning of this, it's going to be this whole new concept of stepping into a new reality and just practice closer to home. And once you get that well oiled machine going, then you know, you can expand from there without boundaries. Okay, next question. Will the local community have access to CAC locations? I think that once once the once the RV has happened, and, you know, CAC has actually gone live and started to go live. That's the point at which the local communities would actually we would actually probably see that the CAC site being being sort of opened up to locations. But once again, that is something that that Ron will actually decide. And he will decide exactly when and how that will happen. I hope that answers that question.

R

Ryan/Francis 03:28

T

Tracee 04:08

Yeah, and I think that it also will be up to the person who sets it up. So the managing director will be the one who's going to start promoting it into the local community. And Ron's not going to probably have a say in that because you guys after the RV, you're sovereign like you are. It's your money, it's your projects. Everything is now on your shoulders. So I would think that that would be up to you. Okay, next question. Can the CAC be registered under a business name and as a nonprofit organization?

R

Ryan/Francis 04:47

I believe you can use whatever name you want to register when you register your individual profile. By clicking the Register button, you can use your alias and then when you create a CAC, it's just a title So it can be whatever you prefer for right now. And as we, like we said, as after RV happens, we'll expand upon the functionality of this and provide an interface for you to add employees apply for grants and different things like that. So all of that will be managed in this information system. Cool.

T

Tracee 05:20

THAT'S AWESOME. Okay, can a single CAC be established between two benefit state agencies?

THAT'S AWESOME. OKAY, CAN A SINGLE CAC BE ESTABLISHED BETWEEN TWO BENEFACTORS WORKING TOGETHER IN THIS PART OF THE PROGRAM?

R

Ryan/Francis 05:29

Yeah, this is, and this is something we're looking into in the future. But right now, it's one CAC, one person like Tracee said at the beginning, this is really just to get us started to kind of say, Okay, here's a step in the right direction to get our, our collective consciousness in the how do I say this already happening phase instead of when will it happen? So, so to, I guess, the best answer that is yes, eventually, like I said, we'll open this up to where you can have a partner and and it will be create an additional user, create and assign a role to that user, and then you have a whole, you have a whole community within your CAC. But for right now, it's just let's get this get some points on the map. So we can see where densely populated CAC's will be versus where we might need to have some more, you know, it's mostly an informational tool at this point. So hopefully, that that helps answer that.

T

Tracee 06:27

Yes, and here's the crazy thing, you guys is there somebody in my town, and I don't even know who the person is. So of course, I would like to work together and collaborate because many hands make light work. Just remember that this is not a competition. Many hands make light work, let's just partner together joined together. So we can, you know, get this thing going. But you guys like like Ryan just said, this map is not like this hard set firm map, this is just for us to get an idea of where we are like our little footprint. Okay, how do we gain access to the CAC maps I don't recall joining anywhere with LW's to have a password?

R

Ryan/Francis 07:14

Well, the user needs to go on into a web browser and enter the web address, which is a CAC's dot solutions. And if you entered the wrong address, it will take you to a GoDaddy page. So you know you've got the wrong address in that case. And typically, that happens when you enter CAC dot solutions. So once they get onto that web page, they then have to register and create an account. And once they've done that, then they can create their own CAC's. As as possible. Well, I don't want to see. So I think that answers that one.

T

Tracee 08:07

I have additional sites in mind in a neighboring town. And in a neighboring state, the forum only allows me to register my town in the neighboring sites, their rule, which is my focus. Okay, I just want to say that we've pretty much answered that right now you guys are just one, that's it. But that's not going to be the limit for sure. It's just that at the moment, and we'll set a date when you guys can answer or to add more. But for now, it's just that are we to be establishing CAC at this moment in time? Now, the answer to that is no. Because, you know, really everything that we're doing at this point in time is just preparing. And that is, you know, doing doing the groundwork to actually, you know, trying to find, you know, managing directors etc plan what's going to go into your, your CAC. And so the and also plan the location of where you're going to have your CAC, so that you're not actually establishing it right now. I think that will happen once the RV happens, and you get your funding. Right.

Ryan/Francis 08:43

T Tracee 09:21

And like we said earlier, you want to set it up close to home, so that you can have ease of access, like how are you going to say so I'm in California, how am I going to say, Oh, well I really want to start one in the Caribbean because I want to go visit there. Well, it's a lot easier to do it right near you. And so you guys just don't worry you'll be able to go where you want to go as soon as you are ready. But most of these things like we don't have money right now. So how are we going to establish the CAC but what I will add to that is people have put their home addresses in it. And or they've said, Well, I don't have an address. I don't know where I'm going to do this. So just speculate, I picked a building in my town that I thought would make a great option. And so I use that address. So please don't use your home address. Okay, would we be using our own computers for this startup?

R Ryan/Francis 10:22

I would think that after the RV, we can have as many computers as you want. But yeah, well, actually that I mean, that's my guess is you would probably have to go buy your own supplies, but I don't think that would be a problem.

T Tracee 10:35

Yes. Is there an actual starting date for signing out member businesses?

R Ryan/Francis 10:44

When with we're not at that point is yet so you know, the actual starting date, you know, would be would happen once the CAC is actually live and accepting members of the public. So at that point, you would actually have something you would go into your your CAC, you would edit the location to reflect the correct address, and then you would then have you would change the status to active in which case it would, it would go green. And that means you're live and you're actually starting to sign businesses up?

T Tracee 11:29

Yes, it seemed like an address was required. So I put in the address of the place for sale that I'd like to buy. Good idea. When I tried to remove it. I couldn't get back in the site didn't recognize my email and password. I'll answer this. I think I already emailed you. But please you guys, if this happens, and you get locked out, just go to Password Reset under the login tab. Questions for Ryan and Francis. What are your computer and technical credentials? What companies have you worked for in the past? How did you discover LWS? are you humanitarians? Did the White Hats, military alliance or TLS? send you to Ron, what are the names of the computer software protocols you would implement that would link CAC solutions to the QC and the RSS platform?

R

Ryan/Francis 12:18

Sounds like a job interview? That's right. Do you want to go first? Francis? Oh, yes. Well, I've actually worked. I've been in the IT business for about a good 25 plus years. And I've worked for companies like IBM and Oracle. And I worked as a as a technical consultant for them. And in my last role, I actually looked after the IT infrastructure for a manufacturing company. So how did I discover LWS? Well, I think, just like everybody else, you know, you just get get led to it. And I can't even remember how I got to it. But somehow through telegram and Facebook or emails, I just managed to stumble across it. And and yes, Mr. Humanitarian? I guess I am, because I don't know how to answer that question. You know, what, what? What qualifies you to be a humanitarian? I don't really know. I guess we're all here for a reason. If we if we're in Ron's group. And I would say that, that, if that's the criteria that then yes. Did the White Hats military or RTLs send you to run? Know, what? What are the names of the computer software protocols you would implement that would link CAC solutions to the QC and the RSS platform? We don't know. Well, actually, we have no idea what what the actual software protocols would be, basically, because we haven't even even gotten that far with with the connection to the alliance, as far as that is concerned. But maybe Ryan can actually answer a little bit more if he if he knows. So over to you want. Cool. So what are my computer and technical credentials? So basically, when it comes to software, engineering, I pretty much done everything. websites, mobile app, IoT, and now a lot of machine learning that I've been doing at my current job. I'm currently working on a on a mobile application that interfaces appliances with phones and smartwatches and things like that. It all kind of started with tinkering and just, you know, having that engineering background I guess from college So what companies have I worked for in the past? I've worked for medical companies, government contractors, when I first started out about 15 years ago cannabis companies, again, more medical companies now I work for appliance manufacturing company. So kind of all over the place. How did I discover LWS. So I was part of a, another group that had talked about the Golden Age and doing good for humanity. However, after listening to a few calls, everything, it just didn't feel right. It was more about basically, it sounded like a cabal 2.0, just with different people involved. So I, I had to share these feelings with another member of that group who I think extremely highly of her she has one of the purest hearts I've ever I've ever encountered. And we just didn't did it didn't resonate with us. And she had mentioned the LWS organization. And before that I had kind of started to saying, you know, we don't need and I had said to her, we don't need an organization, we can do this, you know, with limited funding, even going out and being the reason that somebody smiles every day is kind of a humanitarian act. So, you know, we kind of have a few things in my community that you know, we try to we try to do, but it's tough, it is tough without the funding and having to work in nine to five, I'm actually at work right now. So it's, it is tough. But that's that's kind of how I came across this. She She introduced me to it. And then am I humanitarian? Yes, I believe without, without a doubt in my heart that this is why I'm here in this lifetime. So the white hats military alliance with TLS, send you to Ron No. This was strictly a lead by my heart type of a thing. So one of the names of the computer software protocol, oh, this is what Francis said I could. So yeah, we really don't know what the quantum computer quantum computing platform is going to require. My guess based on my technical skills is that it's going to be something to do with Blockchain of which I have tinkered around with. And, you know, as soon as we get the go ahead on Hey, this is how we're going to implement this into RSS platforms and things like that, then we will go ahead and do that. And we may be even tasked with building the RSS platform. So once we get to go ahead and r&b happens, then I fully intend to hire a software engineering team and build out these systems that are accustomed for everything we want to do. So I think I covered everything. Yep. That's all the questions.

 Tracee 17:53

I would like to have a CAC and Centerton, Arkansas, how do I go about submitting my request? Well, once you're at that website, what is the tab they go to register?

 Ryan/Francis 18:05

Yes, that's right. They need to register first, and then create an account and then login. And then they will have the click on the button that says Create a CAC. And it's a spring straightforward after that.

 Tracee 18:23

I am in New Zealand and it won't let me open it any ideas?

 Ryan/Francis 18:31

Brantas didn't you solve a similar issue for somebody who was using a specialized router? Yes, yes, I did. Well, there could be two reasons why this particular person is having issues. One is that if they click on the link upstairs, you know, it'll it might come take them to a page that says it's not secure. And the reason for that is because we haven't actually installed something called an SSL certificate. So that's why some web browsers will complain about that. And that's, that's nothing to worry about. You can just bypass that and just go straight ahead. Or you can wait until you know we've installed the SSL certificate. The other reason that people are not getting onto the website, we have one particular person's was using a pocket router from Huawei. And if anybody knows about Huawei, they're actually owned by the Chinese Communist Party, and it's a spying device and it redirects your pages on to somewhere else. And so if you're using something like that, you may have some issues basically, but those are the only two reasons that I could see why somebody would not get on to the website.

 Tracee 20:01

Okay, next question. Can we just divide up the town and surrounding area between us and utilize the same CAC office? Yes, you can. I have many potential directors in adjoining state. Can I add these potential CAC directors to my team? Even though my office is an iOS city? Yes, you can. Yeah. I'm just trying to go through these quickly because you guys are not going to have enough time to answer every single one of them. I'm very confused regards to the CAC. I have watched a bit short video, and I'm still very unclear as to whether I need to create a CAC near where I live. Or if I get on that map and somehow choose a location already created by someone else near me. No, you want to create a CSV near where you live. And if there's others in your area, then you can team up with them later. We have a group of 12, or more humanitarians that meet together for support learning because we love hanging out. Together, we live in New Zealand. See, this is where I have to wrap these things. Hold on, let me see if I can figure this out. Because you guys know how to wrap it. Yeah, if you go into home, we have a group of CAC, or a group of 12, or more humanitarians that meet together learning and hanging out we live in New Zealand and a group of provincial cities that are close in proximity to each other. Can we work collaboratively in one or two buildings to start with, and utilize our combined skills rather than each setting up individual CAC's? Yes, you can do that you can start that way. And then later on, as you guys get a really good oiled machine, you can spread out a little if you choose. I placed my first AC on the map in deep southern Georgia and understand the importance of getting my first one up and functioning. However, I have a son and daughter in law that are interested in becoming assistant managing directors in Savannah, Georgia. Is it possible to list it as my number two CAC I also have someone lined up to start my third in Lawrence, Kansas? If not possible? Is there a projected timeline as to when these could be listed? Currently, there isn't one in either city?

Ryan/Francis 22:21

I think they answered this question earlier than we run. And that is that we will lift the restriction of one CAC per person at some stage, but that will depend on when one feels that we're ready for it. Okay.

T

Tracee 22:40

That was a quick answer. So let me just read this whole thing. I was very surprised I went onto the map and someone had already selected a location in my city within a couple miles of my house. That happened to me too, by the way, so don't sweat it, it doesn't matter. I selected another convenient location, but it put me in a different city after sleeping on it. I went back into the map and edited my previously selected location. My thinking was I didn't want to infringe on someone living in that city who possibly had not gone onto the map yet. Since none of us know whether or not we will be vetted as benefactors or if locations are being selected by individuals actually residing within a city or they're reserving a location based on where they desire to have their CAC, should there be multiple CAC's within a city? If so, should they then be coordinated and offer the same services? Or do you think once a benefactor has pinned to CAC, city location, and another benefactor wants the same city, it would be possible to set up a waiting list? Some studies are very large, some small some divided by geographical features. Okay, that's enough. What do you think?

R

Ryan/Francis 23:47

Go ahead, Brian.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 23:48

I was just thinking, you know, as we both have said that there will be the option for multiple

I was just thinking, you know, as we both have said that there will be the option for multiple CAC is coming down the line. But I just think, personally, the more the merrier. And if you see somebody close to you, like I just like Tracy, as mentioned, I've seen people near me that, you know, it's amazing, you know, you look at the map, and you see how much help there is out there. So I think that if there is somebody close to you, collaboration would be the next next best thing, because I think, as you pointed out, Tracee that, you know, your hometown, you know, close to you. So doing that will be easier and get your feet wet. You know, running an operation like this, it's going to take, you know, a lot of skills that people don't even realize they're going to need yet. So that will help. And then you'll have the people around you that, you know, even though and you're going to run into this, I'm sure. Even though you're you're humanitarians and out there helping people, they're still going to complain about things. And so you're gonna run into having to deal with that. So it's, I just think that collaboration would be the best option. As far as that goes instead of you know, Well, somebody here already, I need to go somewhere else. And you can but I would say collaborate with them and, and figure things. That's the beauty of all this, there's really anything you want to do, you know. So it's, it's very exciting.

 Tracee 25:13

And you know, I'd be cool is if there was a way to send a message to somebody in your town, so that you can collaborate because like, I have no idea who the person is in my town. If you if you have a CAC and Morgan Hill, California, please contact Tracee. But, but when that'd be a way that would not be helpful. So that way, if the person does want to release their their information, then they have that option. So I would like to eat message that person say, Hey, I'm here to let's meet up and talk, you know, I mean, and just to have somebody that's a friend on this journey together is wonderful.

 Tracee Gluhaich 25:54

Well, that's an interesting point that, you know, we have been implementing slash slowly testing an instant message system that we don't quite have a timeline for, because I have about three hours a week to work on this project. So it's, it's slowly coming along. But yeah, there will be the ability probably, I would say it's about a month off around that timeframe, where you'll be able to instant message people back and forth to kind of start collaborating.

 Tracee 26:29

Yes. And if the RV happens within the next month, before Ryan actually gets to do that, then he'll be able to quit his job and have more than three hours. party with you, Ryan?

 Ryan/Francis 26:43

Just to add to that, I mean, we have been discussing that. And we might have been able to do it a bit earlier, but we didn't anticipate that so many people would have problems with trying to get access to the map, etc, and have some of these questions and issues with it. So when we're trying to deal with that first, and then we'll look at the collaboration at a later point.

T

Tracee 27:10

Okay, um, next question. Thank you for your dedication. I put my CAC into the map that the latitude and longitude, latitude and longitude is wrong. I've tried to edit but it's not possible to edit these details. Can you have them with us?

T

Tracee Gluhaich 27:27

I can take this. This is probably going to cover a lot of people's questions. The map issue, so I guess I'll back up one option. We chose map box because it's free. And it's not Google. And we all know about Google Plus Google charges, it would have cost us a lot of money to do this with Google. And we don't feel appropriate asking for donations to do this. So we went with matte box, which is an alternative that is free, up until a certain point which we won't reach that point. The problem is that it appears it's having problem with heavy datasets. And we have, I think 1600 CAC's. And it is very strange that that it's randomly choosing CAC's to to omit from the map. And I've actually I have a question into their support. So hopefully I hear back this week on what are the best practices to mitigate that. So don't worry, you're everybody that says that has reached out that has said my thing, my CAC has disappeared, it's still in the database, it's not going anywhere. It's just the map is being very finicky. On which one, it's showing which ones it's omitting and showing. And as far as updating your latitude and longitude manually. That's definitely an option we can look into right now currently, when you type your address in, it's sent to map box, and they geocode it and return latitude and longitude that stored in the database. And that's what is plotting the point on the map. So if you see things are not plotting correctly, then it's the map box API. And like I said, we have we have support questions into them. So as soon as we hear from that, we'll be able to fix that and get everybody plotted on the map. So apologies for that. But we didn't want to go with Google. And I don't think anybody here would have wanted to use a Google product.

T

Tracee 29:21

Correct. Actually, however, with that said, I'm curious as to because of Trump's executive orders, I can't remember if it's 1-381A or 1384A wonder who actually owns Google right now. Like if the white hats have absorbed all of those traders assets, you know what I mean? True.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 29:45

So that's a good point. The other aspect of that is we would be charged and I think it would have been about $100 for the last month that we would have had to have asked for donations for or one of us would have had to pay.

T

Tracee 29:57

Yeah, so it's good. Look, it's good for now. Okay. I think we're close anyway. So, okay, well there become a way when we have our money where we can edit our CAC contact details, like a phone or website. Absolutely, yeah, they already have that ability right now. Because there's a box, a text box that where they can temporarily add that kind of information for now, but that may be something that we will look into when we when we get closer to the RV. Post RV Stobie. Radha okay. Good to see how it will look on the world map, I see that the name of the city is not disclosed. Now. The street address is shown and on Mapquest anyone can find the city by looking at the map, many of our email addresses have an indication of our names, how much of our personal information are we willing to disclose or have to disclose? Cuz that's up to you?

R

Ryan/Francis 30:15

T

Tracee 30:40

T

Tracee Gluhaich 31:03

Yeah, it really is. We, like I said, the data that's in the database is encrypted. But yeah, it's whatever you want. I mean, you can use a fake name. And an alias title for your CAC, you can guess what you can do is if we decide to open up filling out latitude and longitude, manually, then I can program it to where you don't need to enter an address, you can just enter the coordinates and we can go that way. But yeah, it's really I mean, we're going to kind of gauge that on feedback and, and make decisions from there. So.

T

Tracee 31:44

Right. And, like, like we said earlier, everybody has their own choice, but your email address is not shown on the map. It's only used when we register so that they have a way to contact you if necessary, like I can't even see anybody's email addresses. So as for now, your privacy is still you know, 100% there. Okay, are these potential CAC centers equivalent or potential sites for redemption centers? No. Nothing to do with redemption centers? Will the map be used for benefactors to contact each other? I guess once we have the messaging system in place than that, then the answer to that would be yes. Would you concur? I concur. Okay. Great. Wrap Text.

R

Ryan/Francis 32:22

T

Tracee Gluhaich 32:39

Let's movie. Catch me if you can have a doctor's seen. Do you concur doctor?

T

Tracee 32:45

Is that a good movie?

T Tracee Gluhaich 32:49

It's a great movie.

R Ryan/Francis 32:50

It's a good movie. Yes.

T Tracee 32:51

Okay. My husband and I are looking for good movies Catch Me If You Can.

R Ryan/Francis 32:57

Okay, Caprio is in it.

T Tracee 32:59

As I live in a small seaside town with other towns and villages close by I've been anticipating residents from one or two nearby villages to come to my local CAC to ask for help I plan to establish my local CAC first, but as there is a nearby village of massive problems of evictions and homelessness, I'd like to put up a poster in their village saying that a CAC similar to the one in next town will be coming soon and for them to perhaps drop into my local area to pick up a grant form for urgent relief. My question is could we possibly be allowed to have one or two more proposed Tacs on the map providing they are in a neighboring village or town perhaps they could be colored differently on the map to show that although advertise now they will be functional after the main one. Otherwise I'm thinking of naming my CSD differently to incorporate the neighboring village until they have their own just one CAC at the moment. And later on, they'll have a chance to to place more CAC's as necessary.

R Ryan/Francis 33:50

T Tracee 34:00

And go ahead and put up your poster make up a name that is you know more generic for the general area you can always change the name later. But I like your idea about the poster. I think that's really cool because we can reach out as long as possible and instead of giving them an urgent relief grant just sign them up for the RSS that will help them a ton okay I registered and placed a pin on the map but I am unable to log back in the site is not recognizing my email address and I'm not sure what to do. I think I emailed them back and said to reset your password using the login page okay, I just want to confirm with my husband and I both been benefactors is our planning to open our first CAC together the CAC is under My Account and our thinking is that he doesn't duplicate the same location. Is that correct? Yes, that is correct. Okay, I filled out the information for the CAC we are setting up in St Martin in the Caribbean when it first was entered, it was pinned in the correct place on the island of St. Maarten. It was the correct longitude and latitude. I saw that I made a spelling error went back into the system and fix the spelling error, then it changed the longitude longitude to somewhere else in the US. And he helped her ideas there.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 35:21

Sounds like a Mapbox went into the system fix the spelling. Yeah, if you don't change the address, any parts of the address, then it doesn't. It's not programmed to recalculate latitude longitude. So just changing a spelling error unless it was in your address, then that was not recalculated. So it's just not box being finicky. And I have no idea as to why it's choosing the ones that it's choosing to display and not display. So hopefully this week, we'll have more light shed on that.

T

Tracee 35:55

So do you think it would be good to just start over completely? Because here's another question that same in Belgium. Well, they're in New York, but they they want to edit something and then all of a sudden it relocated it to Belgium.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 36:17

Probably to go ahead and delete that one and then create a new one. That's a that's an always an option.

T

Tracee 36:25

Okay. So for my heading to New York.

R

Ryan/Francis 36:30

Sorry, I'm just curious about that. Did they put down a country that has been the USA? Because at the moment, it looks like they've just entered Huntington, New York 11743. If they didn't enter the USA as a country, that could could be the reason why it's, you know, Mapbox shouldn't have done that period. But it could be the reason why they suddenly found it in Belgium. We'd have to know a few more details about what it what exactly they've entered. Before we can we can get to the bottom of it.

T

Tracee 37:08

Tracee 37:00

So do you? Do you want them to message you, Francis? Or do you want them to start over?

R

Ryan/Francis 37:17

It's probably better if they started over.

T

Tracee 37:20

Okay, next question. I think it's a fantastic idea. But at the same time, it leaves all the people on they're very much open to someone that might not be of good caliber identifying us before the actual RV, I think blocking off the actual address for now is maybe a good idea until it is safe to open up the full address area only should be good enough for now, I think that brings us to the question of do you want to not enter an address and go find your own latitude and longitude and put that in there? There's that option. And then again, you know, it is blocked out to people that only are registered. And those people are only in the LWS group. So yeah, I understand the desire to be protected. But this I think we've taken excellent measures to keep this data safe and secure. As far as other people finding out your location it, there's a lot of other things out there that are already. That's already very doable without going on any map. Not to scare anybody, but this is 2022. So you'd be surprised at what is already known about you just walking up the street. So

T

T

Tracee 38:42

Oh, yeah. Yes. Crazy.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 38:45

That's kind of my, you know, we can again, I think, Francis, maybe this and to your latitude, longitude, and no address might be a series consideration here, we'll see what these remaining questions look like, kind of go from there.

R

Ryan/Francis 39:01

Yeah, we'll Yes, I think we're looking into that. Let's see what the other questions come up with,

T

Tracee 39:06

and maybe as an option, because I don't have any interest in entering latitude and longitude, because that means I would have to figure that out.

R

Ryan/Francis 39:15

Exactly. Yes. And lots of questions asked me, How do I how do I do the laundry.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 39:22

And that's usually the trade off with convenience versus security. Because if we want to make things, you know, I for you know what, what I'm building here at work is a is an app that controls your smoker or grill. And we're logging so much data to make the experience more streamlined, but at the same time. Now we know a lot about you. So it's just the trade off.

T

Tracee 39:45

Yeah, that's funny. We have a trigger. My son uses it on his phone. I have no idea how to do that. Okay, next question. All answers. So they're trying to log in and they say that they hit actually, I don't think I can answer is one SonicWALL virtual office is what they're getting, do you think they should just clear their cache and cookies are so that that is actually they they went to HTTPS, colon slash slash C ACs. It's just for no HTTP and what you're hitting is. So I will say my brother is a. He's a server administrator. And he's, he's taking care of the server pieces. So that's his extremely hardcore lockdown firewall that he has. So that's what you're hitting that Sonic wall, just take away the ES from HTTPS and you'll be fine.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 40:07

T

Tracee 40:39

Is he also a member? No. Okay. So he's just helping us out?

T

Tracee Gluhaich 40:46

Yeah, he's just doing a good deed.

T

Tracee 40:48

That's sweet. Okay, so it's free. That's awesome. Okay, so and then we will send out all the links with this training so that people have it. Okay, I'm here in Thailand, and I want to be put on the map. But I need to know if and how to do it. I need a proper map that shows everyone on it and everything, can it be sent? Or should we go to look or add it up somehow? I think we'd all like to have a copy of this map. I would also like to know who else is in Thailand on this program. So we don't get mixed up across each other's paths. I think knowing each other would be quite a positive step. Also, would it be okay for Tracee to show her photo on the q&a, so we can see both Ron and Tracee together? It'd be nice to see faces connected to voices. Tracee is very sharp and good, or very good and sharp. Thank you. Okay, so anyway, I think this person might have missed the initial video. Don't you feel like that? Yes. So because we've had you guys, we've had like about 200 people joining each day. And so the newer people, like saw probably the email I sent out about this. And the questions and some people are like, Well, what's that? So anyway? I think we've already well, we'll put that video out again with this. Is that a good idea?

R

Ryan/Francis 42:27

Yes, that's right. Yeah.

T

Tracee 42:28

When registering the CAC map, it's asking for a zip code address. Well, my e ir code is my home address. I don't want my home address known on the CAC map. Yeah, we don't want you to put your home address either pick a building that looks like a suitable location. When I enter my email and password, it says it doesn't recognize my email, please. You need to register your email. You need to sign up for this. So you're not going to be able to log in until you've actually registered. And then you can go back and log in later. When I try to log on to the site, my Kaspersky Internet Security warns me that the site is unprotected, blah, blah, blah.

R

Ryan/Francis 43:18

Okay, I think that's the SSL certificate. Yeah.

T

Tracee 43:23

Don't worry about it, you guys. They just know I mean, if they've encrypted it for HIPAA standards or beyond that, then you're safe. I am proposing to CAC center entered an alias name but need an address. I cannot obtain property address without funds. Yes, you can just make it up. You can change it later. Okay, at some point, would it be possible for you to post contact information for other CAC directors in a specific area? We've kind of talked about that. Right. Like we can help message people message each other to collaborate?

R

Ryan/Francis 43:57

Yes, that's right. Yeah.

T

Tracee 44:00

Okay. Sorry, you guys. These are I downloaded them right before we got going on. We talked about that already. We talked about that. Kindly check GPS capability for the country of Bhutan.

I know that having a satellite phone will get you a 20 year prison term the border with Tibet is disputed by the Chinese, my chosen see see would be then boo Bhutan.

 Ryan/Francis 44:33

I think I think this person may be referring to is you know, the the actual, you know, zip codes or perhaps even the latitude and longitude coordinates basically. And maybe he's trying to get somebody to put put a pen by him because maybe he's it's worrying about you know, insecurity Yeah, that's probably sounds like, yeah. Okay. Should it be best to worry about the CAC, once you've proven that one watt has been vetted, and received the proof of available funds, or shown friends that through funding and project directors will jump on board easily and instantly? You can do that if you want. I'm not I mean, we have what 1800 People that have already filled it out, and nobody has funds yet. We want to picture our new reality, we want to create our new reality instead of living in fear and lack that, oh, it may not happen. Exactly. We don't you can use this as like I said, I kind of have a very small CAC here, that is somewhat in operation, I live in an elderly community and do what I can. So it's like a, like I said, and Tracy just mentioned this, like, we have to, I believe, personally, that the more we look at things as already done, and how would we be thinking and feeling if this was already done? That's when this RV will happen? So that's just my personal view. So yeah, I think that, you know, we can set these things up and, and do them now and be thinking of, okay, how am I going to organize everything? You know, who am I looking at in terms of hiring and things like that. So it's just my two cents. But that's a very good point, because a lot of people have actually commented in the chat as well, and said that, you know, just by looking at the map that's starting to feel the reality of all of this, you know, it's starting to sink in. So I think that would be a good, good thing to get people to do to put in a CAC, somewhere near where they live.

 Tracee 45:04

 Ryan/Francis 45:41

 Tracee 47:01

Yep. Okay, my current IP addresses in New Zealand. And as as they tried to register my CAC, for Zimbabwe, it is not showing up, does it mean I have to be in that location in order to have to appear on the map?

 Ryan/Francis 47:17

No. We don't know where you're at, whenever we, when you're interacting, we don't keep track of that stuff. So it doesn't know. It's just, it's just Mapbox being finicky. And like I said, before, we're working on getting to the bottom of that. So it's probably something very simple and very stupid that, you know, we're giving it a lot of data. And this is something that their team hasn't thought of. We'll just get our answer from them and go from there.

T Tracee 47:50

Okay, is there an edit option, I would like to change my address?

R Ryan/Francis 47:56

Yes, there. If you go to the top right hand corner, and where it says my account, once you have logged in, there is a something you can select that is my CAC's. And once you click on that, you can it then lists your CAC, and you can edit it and change it to reflect anything that you'd like to have changed.

T Tracee 48:25

Could the map use zip codes instead of a physical address?

R Ryan/Francis 48:35

The accuracy of that? Yeah.

T Tracee 48:40

Okay. Yeah, because the zip code, oh my gosh, do you guys even know what a zip code is in the States? It links you to DC it means that you live in DC and you temporarily reside where you're residing just to earn your income. It's ridiculous because people have no idea about that. Yeah, I didn't know that. That's interesting to know. Yeah. So like for me because I'm a State National I just write zip exempt on everything. So I tried registering the CAC in the Caribbean islands of Trinidad and Tobago this system does not recognize the address and places the pin in Chile

R Ryan/Francis 49:26

we had something similar happened somewhere else didn't we? I think this is a map box issue once again.

T Tracee 49:37

Okay. Can we will work out the bugs.

R

Ryan/Francis 49:40

Yeah, send us basically probably an email with Here's my address. Can you please put this on the map because then I can see the full debugging flow for everything and we might be able to solve a few issues in one

T

Tracee 49:53

Okay, message me your email addresses and then I can put them in the email for that. That way, I'll say if if this is your case, then you can email or do you want to just tell them right now? Maybe easier just to say if you're having a problem with your pin then sure, yeah, we can figure that out. Yeah. Okay.

R

Ryan/Francis 50:12

T

Tracee 50:19

Well, all this is across the world be the same project for the community in your area using the same template, or are they different? Or according to the most needed projects?

R

Ryan/Francis 50:34

I think it would be unique to everybody, you know, everybody would have their own unique CAC. Oh, yeah, every every area is going to need to have different needs. Is it possible for those who want to be able to be contacted have that option? It would be nice to contact others near me if they were open to it. We talked about that. I don't know my LWSpassword and can't find where to change. theirs. Okay. We've said that before.

T

Tracee 50:43

R

Ryan/Francis 51:07

Yes, they need to register first. I'm still attached. Monitor bubble show my CAC disappeared from the map. That sounds like another glitch. Possibly.

T

Tracee 51:22

Yep. Okay, um, yeah, if you guys are having problems with each, you know, getting everything to show up, please start over 100% just do everything start over. See if that doesn't help. And then if it doesn't, you can email either Ryan or Francis. I don't know if you guys have a preference. Do you want to go Francis first? And if he can't handle it, send it to Ryan?

R

Ryan/Francis 51:51

If he Yeah, well, I think can we? Do we have a Francis? Can we set up like an info or a contact at to just have all these emails in there that we can both as we have some time dig into and get to them? Yes, you know, that's an excellent idea. I'm I can set up a an email address, like contact at or Matt questions or something like that at Frank's energy, wellbeing, calm. And that way we can use that address for all of the questions that come up regarding the map. Okay. Does that sound good to you? Tracee?

T

Tracee 52:37

Sounds beautiful. That sounds lovely. Thank you for the great idea. Okay.

R

Ryan/Francis 52:46

We'll decide on the name and then we'll I'll message you and let you know the address. Okay.

T

Tracee 52:50

Awesome. Thank you. Okay, two more? Well, beneficiaries have access to the map via a link on the revenue sharing dot solutions site.

R

Ryan/Francis 53:06

Possibly a week, I guess? That's actually that is a great idea, it would would kind of make sense. Because once once they've got the, once again, it just depends on how long sees this, as well. But the he thinks it would be it would make sense to have it that way.

T

Tracee 53:28

It makes sense to me. You know, in their, like little back office area. You know, because what if what if like you have somebody living in California, and then they're moving to New York, and they're going to get a job there. And, you know, perhaps they would want to contact their local CAC so they can find a job that would be aligned with loved ones society, or you know, with the managing director. Yeah. Okay, so that's to be determined, but I'm gonna give it a yes vote. I'll talk to Ron about it. Okay, last question. And thank you guys so much. You're so patient with me. First, thank you to everyone for the great map, would it be possible to also have a table that gives a tally for each country versus trying to count the markers, or even better if it is possible to tally for each country as well as a breakdown for each state and province within the country?

R

Ryan/Francis 54:28

That rhymes to do list is getting a bit bigger now.

T

Tracee Gluhaich 54:31

Yeah, the problem with that is so here's an example. I enter my country is USA, somebody else are interested as US somebody else interested as United States, somebody else interested his United States of America. That's four different instances of United States that we have to kind of combine so it will require some data scrubbing, but yeah, reporting and making that information. and available is, like Francis said is on the to do list. So it's just probably towards the bottom of it because we want to get these Mapbox issues sorted out so that everybody can see their CAC and, and have a better idea. And another option, just remember this. So when you This is also something we could do and will gather feedback on. But when you view your own CAC, you see another map, and right now it only plots your CAC on that map that that is always working right now, the unless, of course, somebody has an instance where it isn't, but if that's the case, then we need to know. But we can also run a query of like a 50 or 100 mile radius around your specific CAC and show you the ones around you. If that would be people would be interested in that. So we can talk about that too. So I just want to throw that out there.

T

Tracee 55:56

Thank you, I actually don't see it's a problem, I live in a small town and I can you just open the map, you know, it can get bigger and bigger by expanding it. I don't remember if you guys have a plus feature, I just use my fingers. But I mean, I think it's so adequate for where we are, that it doesn't really matter how many are in a country because a bigger country or a bigger state is going to need more, it's more just like looking at the gaps. Like I noticed Alaska doesn't have one. So, but I still want to reiterate you guys, there's a few things here. Number one, I want to thank Francis and Ryan, just it's It's unbelievable the amount of work that went into this, and these guys are volunteering, and they are busy professionals already. So the fact that they even did this is just enormous. But please you guys, just be patient with yourselves, setting up your initial CAC, I know everybody just wants to go and explode everywhere. But we just aren't ready to do that we don't have proof of concept in your local area yet. So allow yourself the grace and patience to just get your feet wet, experience what you're experiencing, and then you'll be able to do even better outside of your local area.

R

I think for me, it's just, you know, I used to look at this and his Oh, when this happens when this happens, you know, and it's always that feeling of waiting, which as we all know, will just produce events that solidify that feeling of waiting. So I think if we look at this as, like you mentioned, you know, gratitude that were there and kind of look at the map is like a step in that direction of here's all the CAC s. And, you know, hopefully that's helping everybody that was one of the main goals is to get everybody to shift that consciousness of When Will this happen to this has happened. And let's get in let's, let's get to that area. So that's really all I have to add. Yeah, and I'd like to say that, you know, first of all, this isn't really a race, I know that some people have been very, very anxious to get, you know, the CAC plotted on on the map, you know, and there's, there's plenty of room for that. And there's time for that too. And one of the most important things that seems to have happened, but by us limiting the number of CFCs to one, I know, we've gotten a lot of criticism for that. But it's a really important step for us to take because, and I've had some some feedback from the from I've seen some feedback from the chat as well, that people have actually it's made people stop and think, you know, and realize that actually, they can't do as many CAC CAC s as they initially planned, you know, and it's better for them to actually start slowly, you know, start slowly with the one and then move on to the to the other areas. Because, you know, in reality, it's really easy to put a pin on a map. It's that simple. But the reality have people actually step back and consider, you know, if, perhaps if, even if they're planning a CAC in another country, you know, there's still laws that they need to familiarize themselves with, they're still people that they need to, to get on board in and teams as well of people. So it's a huge undertaking. And so, you know, and in the meantime, if they put a pin on that map, in a particular country and didn't get around to it, maybe two or three years later, you know, somebody else might have thought, well, I'd like to go in there, but Oh, somebody else. There's already a person in there, so I won't bother so I'll go elsewhere. So that's the kind of reason why we've actually gone Low with us to get Pete You know, just to give people an opportunity to think really carefully about how and where they're gonna, you know, sort of implement that their CAC's well said, Okay, you guys, that's a wrap. Thank you so much both of you for not only developing that but taking time out of your busy day to help with these Q and A's and answer their questions and concerns and then even taking the next step further, and helping the people who are having a hard time with getting their pen in the proper place. And again, a reminder you guys every single CAC is proposed, please make sure that you turn yours to gray until after the RV and we have funding for Okay, thank you guys. Thank you. Have a great rest of your day.

R

Ryan/Francis 1:00:45

T

Tracee 1:00:50

You too. You guys talk soon.
