Turning Workplace Silence Into The Skill to Act

Dr Tekeisha Zimmerman

Learning and Development Leader, Leadership Coach, Keynote Speaker, Texas A&M Professor, Author, Creator of the VERSE™ & Moments of Courage™ Frameworks

Speaking Topics

CHECK THE VERSE

A hip-hop-inspired keynote for facilitators, trainers, speakers, educators, and learning professionals who want to create stronger connection and more memorable experiences. Using the VERSE™ Framework, learn how to read the room, earn attention, build connection, shape meaning, and close with impact.

THE MOMENT THAT DECIDES

Learn and take action on the four recurring leadership moments: the overdue conversation, the tough call, the untaken risk, and the courageous stand in my signature leadership course, The Moments of Courage.

SAY HIS NAME ANYWAY

A keynote for people carrying grief while holding demanding roles, and for organizations learning how to meet loss with humanity. Specifically for the grieving professional naming the realities of returning to work while the world keeps moving.

Bio

Dr. Tekeisha Zimmerman is a learning and development leader, Texas A&M professor, and keynote speaker on a mission to end workplace silence and turn skill into the courage to act. Known for her hip-hop-inspired VERSE™ Framework and her Moments of Courage™ program, Tekeisha teaches leaders, teams, and learning professionals how to move from staying quiet to speaking up, from order-taker to strategic partner, and from knowing what's right to actually doing it.

Drawing on 15+ years designing leadership and learning systems at Amazon, Expedia, UnitedHealth Group, and Citigroup, plus her own experience navigating grief while leading teams, her interactive keynotes, workshops, and coaching combine research-backed frameworks with real storytelling, because she believes the moments that matter most in a career rarely come with a script. Her forthcoming books, Check the Verse (ATD Press) and Say His Name Anyway (She Writes Press), extend that same mission to the page.
