I wanted a new look in my home but I was not ready to spend a lot of money. To be honest, I didn't really care what my place looked like but I wanted it to look better than it did for my guests. Rachel knew exactly what I needed without going over my budget. Now we are beginning our next phase and she is doing a full remodel.

I have an equestrian riding program and when we moved I just didn't have the time to organize and declutter. I called Divine Design to see if they helped with organizing and indeed not only did they help us get everything organized, they went above and beyond to make it functional. They definitely think about the purpose for the intended area.

I hired Rachel for her knowledge and expertise, we were working with a limited budget, and she suggested the changes that would have the biggest impact without breaking the bank. At the end of the day, the property showed so much better with her staging. I will definitely be using her and her team on our future listings.
