From the Editor's Desk

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the sixth edition of the GI4QC Forum's Quarterly Update.

This issue marks a moment of pride and reflection as the GI4QC Forum completes three inspiring years since its incorporation on 1 August 2022. In this short time, we have evolved from a concept into a living movement — now running 11 structured programmes dedicated to our mission of harmonizing ancient wisdom with modern science. We are deeply grateful to our members, patrons, and well-wishers whose continued participation has transformed this vision into a growing community of seekers, thinkers, and innovators.

The world today finds itself navigating a complex landscape. Trade rivalries have hardened into tariff wars, and sanctions have become subtle instruments of control — a new form of colonialism wrapped in the language of equality and cooperation. The once-cherished dream of a “Global Village” feels distant under the rising tide of ultra-nationalism.

Yet, in these uncertain times, humanity must rediscover leadership grounded in patience, understanding, and collective wisdom. The challenge before us is not merely to ask where the world is heading, but to recognize our own potential to be catalyst for meaningful change.

This October brings a season of spiritual and cultural renewal. Navaratri, Dussehra, and Deepavali remind us that the true battle of life is within — conquering ignorance, fear, and ego. Beyond their sacred meanings, these festivals also sustain the ‘Festival Economy’ — empowering local artisans, reviving traditional crafts, and strengthening social harmony.

In invoking Sri Lakshmi for prosperity, Sri Saraswati for wisdom, and Sri Rama for righteous governance, let us also remember that the real light of Deepavali shines through enlightened living, self-discipline, and collective upliftment.

Over the past year, GI4QC Forum has conducted twelve insightful webinars, each blending research, reflection, and realization. Sessions on Niti Shastra for the New Age, The Science of Intention and Attention, and modern Remote Viewing vs. the visualization of Kurukshetra war by Sanjaya at Hastinapur invited participants to rethink the boundaries of perception, ethics, and knowledge.

We continue to explore profound questions: Are science and spirituality truly separate? Is consciousness measurable, or is it the very foundation of measurement itself?

Our discussions reveal that Sanskrit, with its algorithmic logic, anticipates modern programming languages — making it a natural fit for self-learning AI systems. Likewise, Vimana Shastra's principles of aerodynamics and propulsion resonate strikingly with modern aerospace design. These parallels remind us that the quest for truth — whether through meditation or mathematics — arises from the same human curiosity.

Through our website, periodicals, and knowledge programmes, GI4QC Forum continues to share ideas that bridge scientific inquiry with spiritual insight. With over 200 active members, the Forum now stands at the threshold of quantum growth — a stage demanding not only intellectual participation but also moral and material support.

We invite members, associates, patrons, well-wishers and corporate partners to contribute financially to sustain this vision. Your support will enable us to:

- Fund original research and publications
- Extend quantum literacy to students and educators
- Organize global symposiums and collaborative projects
- Preserve and translate classical knowledge for modern study

Your contribution is not just a donation; it is an investment in the future of conscious innovation.

At its core, GI4QC Forum stands for integration — of mind and matter, of ancient and modern wisdom, of inner and outer evolution. In an era of division and distraction, we must rekindle the light of unity, reason, and compassion.

We invite scholars, scientists, environmentalists, educators, and faith leaders to walk this path with us — to help revive ancient wisdom as a living force for a balanced and peaceful world.

With warm regards,

Anil Prasad Samantaray

Spirituo-Scientific Worldview: From the Shadows to the Spotlight

Challenges in the path of introducing school students to Spirituo-Scientific Worldview

The discussion resumed from one of the unanswered questions of the first episode – “What should be the focus group for the mass awareness campaign?”

The panelists discussed the challenges to introduce school going children to this domain of knowledge. The key challenges listed out were designing a standardized course structure, maintaining distance from any religious connotation, making it useful for employment opportunities and, of course, delivering it through scores of educational boards and all the schools in the country.

Alternate approaches to circumvent the above-mentioned challenges were put forward by the panelists and the audience. Everyone agreed that mass awareness campaign cannot be the sole responsibility of the educational institutions. The parents have to pitch in too and a consistent ecosystem has to be created.

It was felt that a viable option can be to reach out to children through specially curated digital content/workshops/camps. The objective would be to expose children to experiential knowledge of the timeless wisdom and thus ignite curiosity around spirituo-scientific worldview - the central theme of our ancient knowledge repositories.

The underlying assumption was that once the curiosity is ignited, the children can be steered to various IKS subjects based on their interest. At this stage, the educational institutions should handhold them and lead them to authentic resources. This approach demands that even the elders in the society have to be included in the mass awareness campaign.

So that brought us to another question - how to generate acceptance of this worldview amongst people who have been educated by a system wherein scientific worldview and spiritual worldview were considered contradictory to each other. In other words, a need was felt to identify the best "positioning" for spirituo-scientific worldview for its widespread acceptance by everyone who interacts with children.

We hope we will gain more clarity as we continue the deliberations in the next episode.

The Intention Vs Attention Game – A mathematical framework for observing consciousness dynamics

In this webinar Kavan Ganapathy K P explored the distinct yet interdependent roles of intention and attention within the domains of consciousness research. In psi research, intention is regarded as a directed mental force capable of producing measurable effects on physical systems and biological targets, while attention serves as the focusing mechanism that stabilizes and amplifies this influence. Building upon the Informational psi theory the Intention-Attention-Entropy model, defines a formal Psi Probability Function (ψ) as an emergent field expression dependent on three operator vectors: Intention (I), Attention (A), and Entropy (E). Drawing from empirical results in remote viewing, Bengston Healing, and the Global Consciousness Project, he showed how Ψ manifests probabilistic coherence in systems through conscious modulation, offering a mathematically and conceptually rigorous proposal for psi emergence.

Indian Knowledge: Insights & Applications - Niti for New Age

In this webinar we discussed another aspect of Indian Knowledge - Niti (नीति); and deliberated on its applicability in the current times. There is a general misconception that Niti relates to governance, strategy, business ethics and politics. Instead, Niti refers to the wisdom or code of conduct or guidelines that can help us navigate through the challenges of life in an effective manner.

When we use the term Nitishastra, we are not referring to a set of guidelines that exist in a certain ancient text. In fact, there are many Nitishastra in Indic Knowledge Repositories. You can pick and choose as per your swabhav, the context or the situation and your objective. Each Nitishastra has its own unique 'character'.

Our ancestors recognised that the best way to gain wisdom is through experience. However, it's not necessary that it has to be your own experience. You can also acquire wisdom through the experiences of others. And stories are the best way to narrate experiences of others as they leave a lasting impression. That's why you find that our ancient texts have a sizeable collection of stories - Ramayana, Mahabharat, Panchatantra, Hitopadesha, Puranas, Upanishads, Vetala Panchavimshati.... the list goes on and on.

And each of these texts is, in fact, a great source to expose you to human nature and behaviour in different contexts. These stories help you appreciate the choices available and what guiding principles could be used to select one and what can be the repercussions. In other words, each of these texts is a good source to understand Niti and they are as relevant today as they were centuries ago. They help us build our capabilities to navigate through the challenges of life and manage conflicts (both inner and outer).

 - In one of our recent works, we have used quantum formalism to model abstract space of perception/decision and attempted to connect it with physical space dynamics. The waves in quantum formalism are not “real” physical waves. Physical space deals with determinate outcomes and attributes, but abstract Hilbert space in QM accommodates superposition, i.e., two outcomes can exist simultaneously.

 - In celebration of 2025 as the International Year of Quantum Science and Technology, we have prepared a set of 5 lessons of 75 mts each, ready to be delivered to groups of 50-70 students of std 9 (any syllabus, state/ central/ international). If you can arrange locations anywhere in India where these students are sitting in front of big screens, with good internet facility accessible, we will arrange for these lessons on QSTC. Please do not insist on every student of std 9, as many may not like to attend. This learning does not fetch them any marks. Only extra- learning advantage. Only about 15-20% will join, and that is fine for us.

 - Please help us in academic karma by answering the questions given in the google form after going through the introduction etc. Topic - "Sanskrit-Shaastriya Paradigms as a Methodology for Global IR: Epistemic Sites for Non-Eurocentric Theorizing". We believe that classical Sanskrit texts, far from being mere historical artifacts, can be re-examined as crucial epistemic sites—foundational sources for a new, non-dualistic IR methodology. By treating texts like the Mahabharata, Arthashastra, and Panchatantra as primary data and theoretical frameworks, this research will demonstrate their capacity to challenge established Western paradigms and offer a more comprehensive toolkit for analyzing contemporary world affairs.

 - As a pioneer of the Self Help process of social and economic empowerment, Manavodaya is credited with introduction of new values and methods in tackling poverty and social injustice among the poorest segments of rural populations. The Self Help Groups spread rapidly in India with direct support of the banks and the government. However, the values that created the spark among people for holistic change were lost in the process. Appeal for Donations

GI4QC Forum has completed 3 years since its formal registration. A small group of volunteers from diverse backgrounds came together in February 2021 with a common vision to explore “Mind & Matter correlation”. They discussed, debated, carried out scientific investigation and also decided to carry out the venture in a formal way. Hence, GI4QC Forum was formalized as a platform to take forward these activities in perpetuity and was registered as a Section-8 company, a Non-Profit entity, on 01 August 2022. The Vision and Mission of the Forum are available in public domain at www.gi4qc.org. Details of various projects, activities, publications undertaken, in-progress and planned for the future are continually updated on our website and published in Quarterly Updates. The Forum also publishes half yearly journal, “International Journal on Eternal Wisdom and Contemporary Science” (gi4qc.org/archive). GI4QC Forum has moved from its humble beginning with steady pace and is ready for future growth.

The Forum is self-financed and has sustained with contribution from core team members and few well-wishers. GI4QC Forum, as a Section-8 company, is governed by Board of Directors and its balance-sheet is duly audited by authorized auditor/s as per company statute. The Forum has, over the years, expanded its domain and ventured into related fields after due diligence. At this juncture, the Board has come to the conclusion that the finance of the company needs to be strengthened. Hence it has been decided to solicit donation from members, associates and well-wishers. We appeal to all those who believe in the vision of the Forum to donate liberally for the cause. The donation shall be eligible for tax deduction under section 80G* and 80GGA*. The donations can be directly paid to the following bank account of GI4QC Forum:

"We may not have it all together, but together we have it all"

We welcome everybody who got associated with GI4QC Forum in this Quarter. We are all on our own individual journeys...exploring ourselves and this universe...finding our own answers and exploring how we can lead a fulfilling life.

GI4QC Forum is a 'meta network' wherein we share our journeys/experiences, understand the progress made by each other, ask questions, clarify our doubts, gain a working knowledge of underlying concepts of each other's field of interest, try to discern a pattern out of the disparate data points, and together attempt to bring that one change that we would like to see in this world – a paradigm shift towards a comprehensive spirituoscience framework.

In this Forum you will find many individuals who have been working with this vision – ranging from those who have just begun their journey to those who have spent tireless decades to bring to ‘spotlight’ the comprehensive spirituoscience domain of knowledge.
