

Dear Friends and Partners in Ministry,

We want to take a moment to share an honest and heartfelt update with you. The reality is that Haiti is more difficult than ever. The nation remains gripped by instability, violence, and uncertainty. Yet even in these trials, God's light continues to shine through your faithful support and the ongoing work of Supply and Multiply.

Every month, your generosity helps us continue feeding and caring for the elderly residents of the Matthew 25 House. These dear souls depend on the consistent love and provision made possible through your prayers and giving. Even when roads are blocked and systems fail, God's mercy flows in, meal by meal, through this ministry.

Meanwhile, we are actively planning our next mission team to Honduras, where the doors are open and the harvest is ready. There, we will continue our work of evangelism, discipleship, and practical help.

In the United States, we remain deeply engaged in refugee care, walking alongside families from Haiti who are seeking safety and a new beginning. This includes helping with immigration paperwork, legal processes, housing adjustments, and spiritual support. These brothers and sisters are living in a time of deep uncertainty, and they need your prayers now more than ever.

Despite the hardships, Supply and Multiply is still active—still moving, still serving, still being the hands and feet of Jesus. We ask for your continued prayers: For stability and peace in Haiti, for the planning and provision of our October Honduras team, for wisdom and favor in our refugee care efforts in the U.S., and for God's continued provision.

Thank you for standing with us in faith. Thank you for loving the least, the lost, and the forgotten. Together, we are planting seeds of hope that will bear fruit for eternity.

In the Grip of His Grace,

Pastor Chris Surber

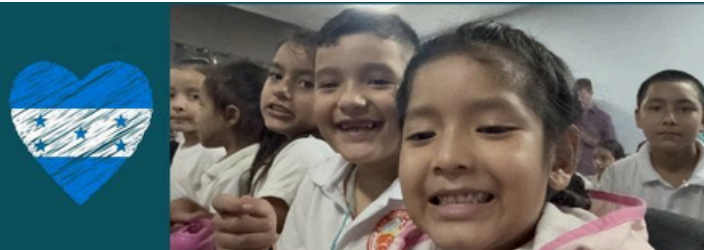

Do you have a heart to serve, a willingness to be stretched, and a desire to make a lasting impact for Christ? Join Supply and Multiply on a life-changing mission trip to San Pedro Sula, Honduras!

We are partnering with local churches, schools, and ministries in one of the most underserved regions of Honduras to bring hope, healing, and the love of Jesus to communities in need. Whether this is your first mission trip or you are a seasoned traveler, there is a place for you on the team!

This isn't just a trip. It's a chance to be transformed as you help transform lives.

Partner with us!

MORE INFO

www.supplyandmultiply.com

