Update on the Conditions in Haiti

The situation in Montrouis, Haiti, continues to be deeply challenging. Persistent political unrest, widespread gang violence, and severe economic instability have created a volatile and unsafe environment. Travel to the area has become increasingly dangerous, making it impossible for mission teams to visit and provide hands-on support. These conditions have not only disrupted our ability to engage in mission trips but have also significantly impacted the lives of those in the community.

Despite these challenges, the needs in Montrouis remain profound. Families struggle to access basic necessities such as food, clean water, and education. Many students face uncertainty regarding their future, as the rising cost of school fees and uniforms becomes insurmountable for their families. Vulnerable populations, including the elderly residents of the Matthew 25 House, are in desperate need of consistent support to meet their daily needs.

In response, we remain steadfast in our commitment to serve this community. We are focused on continuing to provide essential food supplies to the Matthew 25 House and to other families in the area who depend on this assistance. Additionally, we aim to ensure that students in Montrouis have the resources they need by covering school fees and providing uniforms, enabling them to pursue their education despite the ongoing crisis.

While the inability to travel limits our direct engagement, our work continues through dedicated local partners and your generous support. Together, we can bring hope and tangible help to those who need it most during this challenging time.

2024 Expenses

Total Expenses for 2024: $169,468.88

Financial Explanation

This year, our expenditures exceeded our income by $17,030.08. We praise God that we had financial reserves from the previous year, and we were able to cover this shortfall. We closed the year with $21,811.24 in cash assets.

Several factors contributed to the reduction in income. The global economic climate has presented challenges, and the ongoing instability in Haiti has prevented mission travel to the region. Mission teams have historically been a significant source of both income and networking opportunities for our ministry. Despite these challenges, we remain committed to our mission and are actively exploring new strategies to adapt and continue serving effectively.

Mission Teams

Short-term mission trips offer a unique opportunity to do just that. At Supply and Multiply, we are passionate about creating spaces where you can serve, learn, and share the love of Christ in life-changing ways.

What Makes Short-Term Mission Trips with Supply and Multiply Special?

Hands-On Service: Whether assisting at a medical clinic, serving meals, or providing care to older people, every moment on the mission field is an opportunity to serve others in tangible, impactful ways. You'll witness firsthand how even small acts of kindness can create ripple effects of hope and transformation.

Sharing the Gospel: Each trip is rooted in the mission to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ. By partnering with local churches and communities, we meet physical needs and encourage spiritual growth for those we serve—and for ourselves.

Personal Growth: Stepping out of your comfort zone allows you to experience God's power in incredible ways. From learning to trust Him more deeply to discovering new gifts and passions, mission trips often spark personal and spiritual growth that lasts long after you return home.

Building Relationships: You'll form meaningful connections on the mission field—with team members, local communities, and the people you serve. These relationships often become a source of mutual encouragement and long-lasting impact.

Upcoming Opportunities: We are currently planning mission trips to San Pedro Sula, Honduras, where we will continue our work in medical outreach, community evangelism, and discipleship. Additionally, we remain open to other doors that God may open, whether it's a new community in need or unexpected opportunities to serve.

Matthew 25 House

The Matthew 25 House located in Montrouis Haiti is focused on serving the vulnerable and sharing the love of Christ. Inspired by the words of Jesus in Matthew 25:31-46, the Matthew 25 House provides care for the elderly and most vulnerable in the community of Montrouis, Haiti.

Mission and Purpose

The Matthew 25 House embodies Christ's call to care for "the least of these," focusing on providing:

- *Dignity and Care: Offering shelter, meals, and medical attention to elderly individuals who often have no other means of support.
- *Spiritual Encouragement: Sharing the hope of the Gospel through prayer, Bible studies, and compassionate care, reminding residents that they are loved and valued by God.
- *Community Impact: Serving as a beacon of hope and an example of Christian love in action, fostering a spirit of generosity and service within the broader community.

Why It Matters

In Haiti, where poverty and lack of resources often leave the elderly vulnerable and overlooked, the Matthew 25 House steps in to provide critical care. The ministry addresses not only physical needs but also emotional and spiritual ones, ensuring residents feel seen, loved, and supported in their later years.
